H. E. Cosby Speaks At Poultry Meeting

(Continued from Front Page) Cosby was the breeder's and hatcherymen's code. In this discussion he pointed out that while the code itself was killed by the decision of the Supreme Court with regard to the NRA, it has left its influence with regard to a spirit of fair trade and advertising in breeding and hatchery business.

Finally Mr. Cosby discussed the national flock improvement plan by which all chicks will be branded and sold according to grades and will all be tested for Pulorum disease with all tests being made by recognized experts. He pointed out that this will be of great value to the poultrymen in that they will be able to know exactly the type and quality of birds that they are producing and will no longer be subject to blind buying.

Following Mr. Cosby's discussion, Fred H. Cockell, Milwaukie, Oregon, recommended to the poultrymen that they pass a resolution expressing their appreciation to Senator Frederick Steiwer for the support that he gave the poultry industry in the recent session of Congress. R. L. Rockwell and Frank Erickson were appointed as a committee of two to draft this resolution and send it to Senator Steiwer on behalf of the Washington county poultrymen.

This was the first of a series of monthly meetings which are held at the Beaverton High school on the fourth Tuesday of each month at 8:00 p.m. Anyone interested in poultry raising and its problems is welcome to attend. Persons desiring to receive notices of each meeting should leave their name and address at the county agent's office.

tricia Dobyns and Lewis Emmons. In health the fifth grade are beginning the study of the digestive system. They have named the skeleton in their book, "Jimmy". Much interest is being shown in Jimmy, and how he is built.

The Sixth grade room is very attractively decorated for Halloween with large smiling pumpkins, black witches and cats stringing across the room.

The Second grade has an attractive "ghost and bat" border. The border was made by these small people in their art classes.

The Fourth grade has some colorful orange pumpkins which were made in the art classes. They were drawn free-hand and show that the pupils are developing a sense of shape.

A new pupil entered the Seventh grade this week. His name is Richard Hoag and he came from the Park Rose Junior high in Portland.

The Seventh grade elected the following class officers: President, George Rhine; Vice-president, Virginia Bishop; Secretary, Betty Easton; and Treasurer, Phyllis Foe.

Mothers of the first grade students will be guests at a musical being held at the grade school auditorium Friday afternoon (today) at one o'clock. The first grade pupils, led by Miss Hulet, will sing a group of songs, and the grade school glee club, directed by Miss Wirth, will sing. Piano numbers by first, second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth grade students will be enjoyed. Parents and friends are invited to attend.

The angel chorus had sung Him into the world as the Babe of Bethlehem and a Roman cross saw Him go out amid the jeers of the mob. Born poor in a manger. He made His grave in the tomb of the rich Joseph. But death could not hold Him. Up from the grave He arose to show Himself, first to His disciples. So even the doubting Thomas, who would have thrust his fingers into the nail-prints in Christ's hands and his hand into the spear-thorn side, cries out, "My Lord and my God." Seeing is believing with Thomas.

"Jesus saith unto him, Thomas, because thou hast seen me, thou hast believed: blessed are they that have not seen and yet have believed."—John 20:29. And you? Take Him now as Saviour or take Him later as Judge, for—"He (God) hath appointed a day in the which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained: whereof he hath given assurance unto all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead."—Acts 17:31. Which will you have? Christ as Saviour or Christ as Judge? Geo. N. Taylor, Beaverton, Ore. pd. adv.

Seeing Is Believing

That He might be called the Son of Man, the eternal Son of God stripped Himself of His glory and stepped down to walk with us here on earth. He took a human body and knew every blast that beats upon us here.

He came with mighty signs and wonders. The blind were made to see, angry waves were lulled; the dead were raised to life. In him, the Jews saw their long-awaited Messiah. They looked to Him to take David's throne and deliver the nation from the hated Roman yoke. He chose instead to become the world's Saviour. The kingship must wait.
