MEXICAN DIVORCES BY MAIL IS RACKET

Thousands of schemes annually are called to the attention of the Portland Better Business Bureau, but one of the most unique rackets of recent months is that of various lawyers practicing in Southern Texas and Mexico who offer to obtain mail order Mexican divorces for residents of the United States, according to Lyle L. Janz, manager of the Better Business Bureau.

Recently, a postal fraud order was issued against an attorney practicing in this practice from Fort Worth, Texas. He had represented to his clients that for one hundred dollars he would obtain for them a divorce from these Mexican courts which would be perfectly legal in the United States, and one that would restore them to the status of single persons free to enter into a new marriage.

However, according to the findings of the postal department, these Mexican divorces obtained through the mails from courts wholly lacking in jurisdiction over the parties, do not secure divorces valid in the United States—even their validity in Mexico seems to be open to question.

The Better Business Bureau reports that those engaged in this scheme attempt to secure clients through advertising and warns Oregonians to be wary of sending money to such operators.

SHAKE WELL BEFORE READING

Washington.—Now one of the New Deal's federal bureaus is going to tell you how much gin to put into a martini or how much "sing" goes into a "Singapore Sling." Alcohol Control Administrator W. S. Alexander has called in the nation's outstanding experts on the art of mixing cocktails to determine for him the proper standard of contents for various highballs, fizzes and other mixed drinks. The resulting testimony will be published in a sort of federal "bartender's guide," to sell for five cents.

Maybe the experts will tell the bureaucrats what to do for a headache after November 3.

Canadian Farm Exports to U. S. Rise Sharply

Ottawa, Ont.—As a result of President Roosevelt's trade agreement with Canada, Canadian exports to the United States have shown marked increases during the first four months of 1936, according to the report of the department of trade and commerce. Some of the increases were as high as 300 per cent, heaviest gains being made in agricultural products and lumber.

The number of horses shipped to the United States rose to 8,700, compared with 1,900 during the corresponding period a year ago. The export value of swine increased from $3,000 to $390,000 and cattle exports increased $1,400,000. Cheese exported to the United States rose from $21,000 to $407,000 and exports of patent leather increased $37,000.

Advances in the export of lumber were marked, soft wood lumber increasing from $1,642,000 to $3,227,000. Hardwood exports showed an increase of almost 100 per cent to $307,000, and square shingles increased to $1,510,000.

The Review will do that printing for you.
