Difficulty
What is difficulty? Only a word indicating the degree of strength requisite for accomplishing particular objects; a mere notice of the necessity for exertion; a busbear to children and fools; only a mere stimulus to men.—Samuel Warren.

Carefulness
For want of a nail the shoe was lost; for want of a shoe the horse was lost; and for want of a horse the rider was lost; being overtaken and slain by the enemy, all for want of care about a horseshoe nail.—Benjamin Franklin.

Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm.—Emerson.

Intemperance
Those men who destroy a beautiful constitution of body by intemperance and an irregular life, do as manifestly kill themselves, as those who hang, or poison, or drown themselves.—Sherlock.

Knowledge
When you know a thing, to hold that you know it; and when you do not know a thing, to allow that you do not know it; this is knowledge.—Confucius.

Ignorance
It is with narrow-souled people as with narrow-necked bottles—the less they have in them the more noise they make in pouring it out.—Pope.

Forbearance
It is a noble and great thing to cover the blemishes, and to excuse the failings of a friend; to draw a curtain before his stains; and to display his perfections; to bury his weaknesses in silence, but to proclaim his virtues from the house-top.—South

VICTIMS OF FUTURE ACCIDENTS

I'm starting a new club. It's the V. F. A. A.—or Victims of Future Automobile Accidents.

Instead of going out and getting hurt haphazardly on a sunny Sunday afternoon and coming home with any old injury, we V. F. A. A. boys will try to name our injury in advance, and we may give medals to members who come nearest to calling their shots.

I'm going out for a concussion-of-the-brain ribbon. I've already made arrangements for two months in the hospital and have sent myself some flowers, and have set aside a thousand dollars for expenses. (We V. F. A. A. members have to pay ourselves our own bonus—and we pay it in advance so it will hurt more.)

The whole point is, we think it's smarter to plan our accidents than simply to have accidents as most boobies do.

All we have to do is to drive carelessly for about 20 seconds on a curve or hill or straightaway. I'm planning to have my accident by passing some cars going up a hill.

Want to join?

Here's the menu. Take your choice. Last year, according to The Travelers Insurance Company, non-fatal injuries in automobile accidents were as follows:

	Persons Injured
Fractured Skull	12,530
Fractured Spine	1,790
Other Fractures	74,319
Concussion of the Brain	14,320
Severe General Shock with Contusions and Lacerations	119,770
Shock (less severe) and Shakeup	531,800
Internal Injuries	13,430
Other Injuries (Sprains, Dislocations, Wrenches, etc.)	108,139
Total	895,280

NUTS AND DOLTS
by RAY ALLEN

Nocturne—B Sharp or B Flat

The curtain never drops on that great American tragedy known as "Death on the Highways." Night falls and the stage is darkened, but Death stalks on. Indeed, the drama quickens, for under cover of darkness the grim villain of the piece exacts his heaviest toll.

Danger looms too suddenly out of the shadows. There often isn't time to avert it. Careless pedestrians fall under speeding wheels.

Bright lights glare. Drivers crash into fixed objects and into each other.

Statistics prepared by the Travelers Insurance Company show that deaths after dark last year numbered 21,486, while deaths during the normal hours of daylight, when traffic was much heavier, numbered but 14,920.

The moral is clear: When the sun goes down, slow down.

WHISKERS

Delilah cut Samson's hair and sapped his strength. Idleness scalped their captives to take their power.

Alexander the Great, sighing for new worlds to conquer, originated the foolish idea of shaving his chin. He died young and lost an empire.

Men once had women fooled. They thought there was a god behind his hairy vegetation. Men shaved, exposed weak chins, and became a disappointment.

Before the star of man's destiny rises again, and he runs things as he should we shall have more bearded men with the courage to grow whiskers and assert their manhood.

It may be a silly notion but there's a lot of horse sense in it. Whiskers may have much to do with the collapse of civilization.

THE MAN WITHOUT SHOES

The man with worn shoes envied the man with new shoes until he passed the man with no shoes at all.

And the barefooted man envied the man with old shoes until he passed the man without feet.

And the man without feet was happy because he knew a man who was blind, and the man who was blind was happy to be alive.

And so it is that good fortune and misfortune are only so by comparison.

And so it is that men who are happy learn the meaning of philosophy and live it.
