BILL PROVIDES FOR NEW T. B. HOSPITAL

Not only Multnomah County but the whole of Oregon would reap great benefits from the establishment of a tuberculosis hospital in Multnomah County, according to Mrs. Saldie Orr Dunbar, executive secretary of the Oregon Tuberculosis Association.

A bill providing for an appropriation of $200,000 for a hospital in Multnomah county was introduced in the legislature last week by Senators Homer D. Angell, C. W. Clark, Thomas P. Graham Jr., and Douglas McKay and Representatives N. Ray Alber, J. F. Hesch, Charles H. Leach, Walter Norblad and Delbert A. Norton. Letters are being mailed this week by the Oregon Tuberculosis Association to all health associations asking them to use their influence with the legislators from their districts to obtain support for the measure.

"With 134 persons on the waiting lists of the Oregon tuberculosis hospitals and 2400 cases of tuberculosis in the state, the need for more beds for treatment of tuberculosis patients may easily be seen," Mrs. Dunbar commented. "Hospital care is needed for these sufferers not only for their own good but to isolate them so that they will not give the disease to other people. The reasons for placing the hospital in Multnomah County are equally obvious when the facts concerning the Oregon tuberculosis problem are known.

"For instance, of the 134 persons on the waiting lists, 50 are from this county and at present 35 of the patients in the existing state tuberculosis hospitals are Multnomah patients. In addition 49 percent of all new applications for admittance are from Multnomah County and 50 percent of those unable to gain admittance are from there.

"A situation such as this works a hardship on the residents of all parts of Oregon. An injustice is being done to eastern Oregon for instance in that there are 15 eastern Oregon residents on the waiting list of the hospital at The Dalles while among those occupying beds there 61 are from Multnomah county. A similar situation exists at the hospital in Salem where 15 of those on the waiting list are from Marion County itself while 81 of those being treated are from Multnomah County.

"A hospital in Multnomah County not only would relieve the pressure of Multnomah County patients but would provide an institution closer to home for residents of the other northwestern Oregon counties: Clackamas, Clatsop, Columbia, Tillamook, Washington and Yamhill. These counties with Multnomah furnish 75 of the patients now on the waiting lists.

"The proposal to put a tuberculosis hospital in Multnomah County is part of an orderly plan for tuberculosis control for this state worked out 20 years ago," Mrs. Dunbar points out. "The first hospital was to be located at Salem. When this hospital had reached a 100-bed capacity another was to be built for eastern Oregon and later one for Multnomah County and northwestern Oregon.

"The first two phases of the plan have been fulfilled and in addition, in 1934, an enabling act permitting the establishing of a hospital here was passed by the legislature and was approved by the voters of the state on a referendum. The next step is to obtain an appropriation for such a hospital.

"The argument has been advanced that because of its climate, Multnomah County is not a proper place for a tuberculosis hospital but this argument has not been borne out by experience. First, under proper hospital care and treatment, tuberculosis may be cured wherever it is found, and second, authorities agree that treatment in a climate in which a patient will live after he has been discharged from the hospital is the most effective," Mrs. Dunbar concluded.

Edgar Bergen

Edgar Bergen, the ventriloquist, is really a one-man comedy team with his "dummy," called Charlie McCarthy, getting all the funny lines. Except for Frank Fay, Bergen is the only performer ever to be signed for a series on the Vallee Hour.

When Rose Bampton, the opera star, showed up for rehearsal in the Thursday night Music Hall she saw a man in corduroys and a sweater moving a piano. When he finished, he shouted out, "Anybody here seen Bampton?" Rose walked forward, said "I'm Bampton." The piano-mover took off his cap.

Bing Crosby

"Hya Rose, I'm Bing Crosby. Glad to see you." And thus two famous singers met.
