Grade School To Present Four Plays

Music Festival For Eastern Washington Co. To Be In Beaverton

TRACK IS STARTED

Thirty Children Vaccinated For Smallpox

The upper grades of the grade school will present four plays, Friday, April 23 at the high school auditorium.

On April 20, the annual Music Festival for the eastern part of Washington county will be held at Beaverton. 15 schools will meet at the auditorium to take part in the festival which promises to be one of the best ever held in this section.

Last Tuesday thirty children were given the vaccination for smallpox by the county health nurse, Miss Ingelbaker, and the county doctor. The students who turned out for track had their lungs and hearts tested at this time.

Many of the students have turned out for track and are training for the preliminary track meet which will take place the latter part of the month. Much excellent material has been found and good teams will represent Beaverton.

During the past month 186 pupils have been neither absent nor tardy.

Thirty-two new volumes have been added to the school library and equal amount is due to be added in the near future.

The first grade pupils are very interested in their "Health River." Each pupil has a boat which at times sails down the Health River. Each morning the child-fingerings, teeth and handkerchiefs are checked for cleanliness, chiefs. Last week in spelling only 4 did not earn 100.

Albert Qualls of the second grade is absent from school due to a spike which he ran into his foot.

The third grade has twenty perfect days, which entitles them to a half-holiday.

George Decker has moved to Portland where he will attend the George school.

Lorraine Nelson, whose name failed to appear with her classmates' last week earned honorable mention for the 4th six weeks period.

The geography class of the fifth grade has made an imaginary trip to Mexico where it will spend several weeks.

The seventh grade hygiene class is having a health contest with Kathryn Thompson and Carl Austin acting as captains. So far the contest stands with a score of 23-21 in favor of Carl's side.

NEW CLUB ORGANIZED AT HAZELDALE

Twelve ladies met last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. M. Mason and organized a club to be known as the Hazeldale Happy Hour. The purpose of the club is to get acquainted with new neighbors and help them in any way they can be helped. Mrs. O. W. Hesterlee was elected president, Miss Dorothy Clark, vice president; Mrs. L. C. Taylor, Secretary and treasurer; and Mrs. J. W. Imah and Mrs. O. L. Johnson on the welcoming committee. A pot-luck lunch was served. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Nellie Fraser on April 8. All ladies in the community are invited to bring their sewing and attend.

FOURTEEN PRESENT AT MCMINN CLASS

"What will happen when the Lord returns," was Mr. Garnett's theme last Saturday night, March 27, at the Canyon road Bible class, when fourteen young people were present. The latter part of the twenty-fifth chapter of Matthew was used for the theme chapter.

Any young person is wanted and welcome to attend each Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Adams spent the week-end visiting at the home of Mrs. Adams' parents at Eugene.

Senior Class To Present Comedy

Jay Gibson And Marian Metzler Have Leading Roles In Play

TO BE GIVEN APRIL 9

Play Takes Place In A Girl's School

The senior class will present a three act comedy, "Oh Professor," at the high school, April 9. This rollicking play which will afford many laughs is under the direction of Miss Gertrude Sanford.

The leading role, Michael Pemberton, a handsome young man, who poses as a professor in a girl's school is portrayed by Jay Gibson. Playing opposite him will be Marian Metzler taking the part of Miss Patty Peterson a very modern young lady. Professor Percival Courtwright, will be Elwin M. Inca. Donald Sayre will take the part of Jimmy Anderson, a wild young fellow and, later, guess who?

The faculty of the girl's school will consist of Elizabeth Beckell as Miss Fredica, a severe yet tender-hearted assistant to the dean. The dean of the school Dr. Aristotle, will be played by Monty Caverder. Much of the humor will be supplied by Curdie Gunn in the part of Jake the janitor.

The life of the play, those four lumps that are in school entirely for the fun; Dorothy Lundquist as Fluff, Barbara Scott as the chubby Bertha, Amie Thynge the spirited Jenn and Dorothy De Haan as Belle.

The vivacious Mademoiselle Fifi is played by Martha Lehmann.

The play has especially good dialogue and is uproariously funny in many parts.

The Ravages Of War

For What? Painted by Elbert M. Jackson as a Contribution to the EMERGENCY PEACE CAMPAIGN

UNION SERVICES IN INTEREST OF PEACE

Must the United States go to war?

A general war in Europe and Asia before the fall of 1938 is an alarming possibility.

Can the American people keep the United States from becoming involved?

Who is your responsibility in the present emergency?

The local co-operating churches and committee for the Emergency Peace Campaign have secured Harry W. Stone as speaker for Sunday evening at 8 p.m. in the local Bethel Congregational church.

Mr. Stone is a former chairman of the Portland School Board, a retired Y.M.C.A. Secretary and has recently visited Europe twice to make a careful study of war and peace conditions.

Mr. Stone is chairman of the Emergency Peace Campaign for four states and comes to us very highly recommended as a public speaker and especially for his ability to discuss these urgent questions.

Every public spirited person should hear his message.

Paris Exposition Building New Landmark

THIS symmetrical building in the modern classic manner is the new Museum of Modern Arts which is being built on the Quai de Tokyo in Paris for the Paris 1937 International Exposition. The site of the building was occupied in the 18th century by a house built by Louis XV for Mme. Pompadour. That famous lady planted in the garden of her residence a cedar tree which has since figured in literature and history. When the original house was destroyed to make way for another the architects carefully preserved the tree in planning the new structure. The second structure was lately occupied by the Polish Embassy which recently moved to make way for the building of the Museum. The designers of the new building, like their prototypes of the

National Airport Leased To Company

Airplane Crop Dusting And Seeding Companies Is Leasor

E. L. LUDWIG, PRES.

Company Has Been In Operation Since 1929

The National airport located just north of the Berthold Addition in Beaverton has been leased for a term of years to the Airplane Crop Dusting and Seeding Co. The company consists of Edgar L. Ludwig, president; Leslie M. Boyd, Vice-president and R. F. Hollister Secretary, all of Portland.

This company has been operating since 1929 and has operated in many and widely separated sections of the Northwest and along the Pacific Coast. They chose Portland as their headquarters, according to Mr. Ludwig, because that city contains the principal market for the chemicals used in their operations.

A considerable part of the week already performed has comprised dusting fields of peas that have been planted for canneries. They also seed alfalfa and spray clover and alfalfa fields to inoculate them with the tubercle forming bacteria. This work can be carried on over a large area from their headquarters which they are establishing at the airport. Work has already been done as far north as Bellingham, Washington, as far south as Klamath Falls and to the east they have gone as far as the irrigated sections lying around Ontario and Western Idaho.

For a number of years the company had their headquarters and shops for their planes four or five miles out on East Gilsan St. Mr. Ludwig is not unknown here, having been active in Klamath work. He has addressed the local club on different occasions and been a visitor here numberless times.

According to his statement, his company will practice the "most modern, economical and efficient methods of application of chemical dusts for the control of insect pests and plant diseases on agricultural crops."

P.T. A ASSOCIATION TO HOLD FINAL MEET

Representatives of Parent-Teacher association of Washington county will hold their final meeting April 6 in the Sherwood grade school auditorium from 10 to 3 o'clock. The meeting date has been moved ahead one week so it will not conflict with the coming state convention to be held in Portland April 13-15. State officers will be present to announce detailed programs and features of the convention.

County Council officers will be elected and installed. Each local association will describe their yearly activities. Standing committees will make reports of their work for the year.

A feature of the afternoon will be a talk by Miss Edyth Appleberry on "Responsibilities of Youth." Miss Appleberry is a student at Tigard high school.

Mrs. A. R. Rasmussen, state Summer-Round-Up chairman will assist local chairmen with their problems about the pre-school health project that is already under way in some parts of the county.

Everyone bring a "sack-lunch." The Sherwood association will serve coffee.
