ONE OUT OF THREE PLOTS IS FAILURE

One out of three alfalfa plots seeded with uncertified seed, supposedly Grimm, turned out to be a failure. These plots were seeded on the Emil Dayek farm on May 27, 1936. There were three lots of seed used which was purchased as Grimm, but was of uncertified origin. Two of these turned out excellently, but the third one is a failure. This indicates, says county agent Cyrus, that the sure way of getting a desirable strain and quality is to purchase certified seed. Every plot planted with certified seed shows a good stand and there is comparatively small difference between the various certified lots, all of which came from Oregon, Idaho or Montana.

Occasionally someone asks about the advisability of using "dryland" alfalfa. Since the past few years our summer and fall seasons have perhaps been a little dryer than we have been accustomed to, a few growers have been wondering about the advisability of switching to a "dryland" kind. There have been so-called special "dryland" strains developed. One of these was seeded on the Dayek place. While the stand last fall was excellent not more than a 25 per cent stand is evident at the present time and the growth is very poor. This plot would seem to demonstrate very definitely that it is a variety we do not want to attempt to grow here. In times past some grower has been able to get a good stand and satisfactory crop, and a long lived stand by using Common seed. Common may turn out just like uncertified stuff. It may be good on the other hand there is just about as much chance that it will be unsatisfactory. One lot of Common was planted in the plots last May and this is a complete loss. What was an excellent stand last fall was killed out during the winter practically 100 per cent.

In the various plantings there are the blue tag, red tag and yellow tag grades of seed. The seed in the red and yellow tag grades was so graded primarily because of the presence of sweet clover seed. This doesn't hurt it for our purposes and a comparison of the stands obtained with these several grades indicates that if the lower grade is due to the presence of sweet clover seed and not noxious weeds then it may produce just as good a crop for our purposes as a higher priced grade. Sometimes there is very little difference in the price of these three grades of seed. In spite of the good results that may be obtained, the blue tag seed is, of course first choice and the lower grades should be considered only upon the specific characteristics of the particular lot.

These plots prove again the wisdom of insisting on certified Grimm seed. While various other strains may be more or less widely publicized in certain sections yet the one variety that has proved itself consistently in Washington county is Grimm. Without exception the certified grade of seed is desirable, because certification is the one insurance the farmer or purchaser has as to its truthness to name strain and origin.

Mock Wedding Ceremony Is Presented

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Antrobus at Huber was the scene of a merry group Tuesday evening when a number of friends and neighbors gathered to help them celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

They were married at White Hall, Ill. May 18 1887. One of their guests stated, "We came together this evening to re-unite in marriage this couple, who having been married only fifty years, we feel that the contract has a hole in it and should be renewed."

David E. Reed of Portland, acting as officiating clergyman, performed a ceremony from which we quote: "Do you, Jeff Antrobus, promise to take this woman and keep her from getting lost, strayed or stolen, and obey her? And do you further promise to keep the wood box filled, and wash and wipe the dishes, all the dishes each day for the next fifty years."

"And do you, Flora Antrobus promise to love, honor and cherish him every time he refuses to obey? If so I now pronounce you man and woman."

The house was very prettily and appropriately decorated, delicious refreshments were served and the happy couple were presented with many beautiful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Ryan of Vancouver, Washington acted as mock best man and bridesmaid and the two grandchildren were the paces.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. David E. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wickstrand, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Anzalone, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Medill, Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Wray, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tallock, Mrs. W. A. Finn, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Mitzel, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Westgate, Mrs. J. F. Wright, Mrs. Richard Ferriss, Mrs. L. H. APPEAL IS MADE TO WEAR POPPIES

In the absence of Mrs. Freda Nelson, president of the Tualatin Valley Unit No. 93 of the American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. H. Ellander, vice president announced an appeal for general wearing of the Memorial Poppy in remembrance of the World War dead on Poppy Day which will be the last of this month. She asked that every person in Beaverton pay honor to the men of the city and of the nation who gave their lives in defense of the country by wearing a poppy on Poppy Day.

"The Poppy is the individual tribute to the memory of the men who died in World War service said Mrs. Ellander. "Every one can wear a poppy to show that he remembers and is grateful for the gallant sacrifices made for America's security and democracy. Every patriotic citizen will take part in the observance of Poppy Day."

The Poppy is the symbol of supreme sacrifice. It stands for the highest patriotism we can conceive. Wearing this little flower awakens in our hearts a deeper conception of our duties to our country. It reminds us that life itself is not too much to give if our country is in danger and gives us inspiration to serve in peace with the same spirit of patriotic devotion that inspired those who died among the poppies in France.

INCREASE SHOWN IN TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

The people of Oregon are charged with the inability to control properly their motor cars. The pedestrians are charged with gross negligence, thoughtlessness and utter carelessness.

The evidence is an increase of 80 per cent in motor vehicle traffic fatalities for the month of March 1937 over March 1936. Twenty-seven were killed in traffic accidents this year, as compared to 15 in the same month of '36.

Eleven of the 27 fatalities were pedestrians.

This is a terrible record for the state of Oregon but more important is the human suffering and sadness brought to the homes of happy families. It may strike at your door next, for in spite of all the constructive, worthwhile efforts being advanced in the hope of reducing motor vehicle accidents the trail grows longer and bloodier.

Newspapers in every section of the state are generously cooperating with the secretary of state in placing before the public a true picture of the situation.

SUMMARY OF PRODUCTION IS GIVEN

Thirty-eight per cent of the cows in herds in the Washington County Herd Improvement association produced 350 pounds of fat or more during the year 1936, according to the summary of last year's testing just released, says county agent, W. P. Cyrus. Herds numbering 29 and containing 856 cows were tested during the year. Three hundred and twenty six of this number exceeded the figure for fat production just mentioned. The officers of this association for last year were Julius Christensen, president; W. T. Putman, Jr., vice-president; C. B. Buchanan, Jr., treasurer and Ed W. Freudenhal and Oskar Hagg, directors.

This annual summary shows the unusual high average annual production per cow of 292 pounds butterfat. During the year there were 78 cows culled out and sold. Interesting comparisons are evident in studying the figures in the annual report. The 10 high cows in the association averaged 647 pounds of fat each, while the 10 low cows averaged only 209 pounds of fat each. The feed cost of producing fat in the 10 low cows was approximately twice the feed cost per pound of fat in the production of the 10 high cows. A similar comparison is evident in looking at the production and costs in the two high herds and the two low herds. In this instance the average fat production per cow in the two high herds was 432 lbs. and that of the two low herds was 314 pounds. Here again the high producing cows were the cheaper producers by approximately 34 per cent. The average of the two low herds is above the average for all associations and is indicative of the high quality of herds in the Washington County Association.

Like any other business the dairy enterprise is operated for the purpose of producing income. Just exactly how much income may be required for an average farm family is a matter of individual opinion, but if it were figured in $1,000 units, it would require 8.7 cows of the kind in the two high herds in the association to produce $1,000 over and above feed costs, while it would take 19.4 cows of the kind in the low herds to produce the same $1,000 income above feed costs. It should be borne in mind that this above feed costs and not above total cost of production, feed costs representing approximately 50 per cent of the total. The 8.7 cows in the high group required to produce the stated gross income would place on the market approximately 4300 pounds of butterfat while the 19.4 cows in the lower group required to produce the same amount of gross income (Continued on Back Page)

FIELD TOURS TO BE MADE IN COUNTY

Extensive plans for field tours for the 4-H club members enrolled in the rural electrification project in the county have been planned by Ben Faber rural service agent, Portland General Electric, and L. E. Francis, assistant county agent.

The tours as planned will include visits to study electric power as it is used in irrigation, drainage, dairying, poultry, water heating, feed grading and mixing and other miscellaneous farm applications. In addition to this trips will be made to study construction work of both buildings and power lines. Visits will be made to central power plants and outlying stations. The subject of the series of tours is to give club members a thorough foundation of information relative to the source distribution and utilization of electric power.

This is the second year that the rural electrification project has been sponsored in the co. At the present time there are 15 older club boys enrolled in the work. The project has been very successful states Francis and it is believed that the tours arranged for the summer and fall months will add considerably to the value of the course to the farm boys enrolled.
