Caution After Dark Stressed

Although it's the part of common sense to drive more slowly after dark, many motorists do not on this elementary rule of safety.

A survey made by a branch of the Michigan highway department showed that motorists actually throttle their speed very little during night hours.

Combined with the fact that daylight hours are much shorter in the fall and winter than during spring and summer, this tendency of drivers to roll merrily into the night without slackening speed is a heavy contributor to fall accidents.

Realization of the importance of these facts and definite action to curtail autumn speed, will be the responsibility of every driver in Oregon if this state is to show the way in cutting the last quarter toll.

Here's Hollywood

ON THE SETS

Hearing that the popular radio feature "The Lone Ranger" had been bought by Republic Studios for a thirteen chapter screen serial, I went out there to see the making of a serial.

Two of Hollywood's youngest directors, 23 year old Billy Witney and 27 year old Jack English, were co-directing the serial "Zorro Rides Again."

"And that make a weekend of two days a real vacation," added English. "Then you can really rest."

To give readers an idea of the action there is in a serial let me quote the record of Ralph Byrd star of "S.O.S. Coastguard," a recently released serial. In one day's shooting he ran more than twenty 100-yard dashes, and in another day he made seven high dives and five rescues of persons in the water.

You can believe that it takes a real athlete to be a serial star. Byrd got his physical training playing professional football in his home town of Dayton, Ohio.

Paul Muni, who will not make another picture for at least a year, is enroute to New York and Europe with his wife. Since he left it has been learned that he is headed for Moscow where he will play in the Moscow Art Theatre.

Zola.

Young Freddie Bartholomew's suit over salary has been settled out of court reportedly for a boost up to $2,000 a week for forty weeks a year.

With the hasty departure for home of young Mussolini it is reported around Hollywood that Joan Crawford's future pictures may be barred from Italy.

Another swimming star soon will be on the screen. Eleanor Holm Jarret, women's backstroke champion, started playing the female Tarzan in a new series of the jungle pictures with Glenn Morris, Olympic runner, in the title role.

"Hollywood," says character actor John Wray, "is where much casting in pictures is done by kissing in corners."

Printer's Ink Boosts

This letter just received—"Dear Mr. Taylor—I picked up your page in the street car in Portland and I wish to tell you I receive Jesus Christ as my Saviour who died for my sin. I am not cutting the page for the signature as I am going to place it where someone else may find it. If you care to, I would appreciate one of the little Testaments. (Signed) C.J.L. and the address, the Irvington section, Portland.

The Testament went to her with the thought that she was saved by faith in an Outsider. For did not Jesus Christ come to us from another world? And is He not different from us in that He is God from all eternity while we are created beings, the work of his hands? "All things were made by Him; and without Him was not anything made." Even the angels and arch-angels are created beings. Even Lucifer, the ruler of this world darkness, the prince of the power of the air who has regimented a lost world to do his will; yes, even that old serpent the Devil, is a created being.

So our friend who picked up the printed slip in the street car was saved by faith in Jesus Christ. You know about Him. From all the eternities He was one with God, the Father. On a day He took the place of a servant; stripped himself of his glory; took the form of a man, being born of the seed of Abraham. When He had been proved truly human He stooped to die on a Roman cross.—The just for the unjust, that He might bring us to God.

So this Portland woman was a lost sinner and is now saved sinner. But she was not saved by her feelings. Maybe she felt religious. Maybe not. Feelings go up and down with the weather and a lot of things. They are shift. They leave you FEELING saved today and FEELING lost tomorrow. Then what? "Being now justified by this blood, we shall be saved from wrath through Him." Counted guiltless by Christ's blood shed for us. If you here and go, you have by His death and you have no Testament for daily reading to learn how to love, trust and obey Him, drop me a line and I will mail you one free—gladly. (Space paid for by a business man.)

ARE YOU ONLY A THREE-QUARTER WIFE?

MEN, because they are men, can never understand a three-quarter wife—a wife who is all love and kindness three weeks in a month and a hell cat the rest of the time.

No matter how your back aches—how your nerves scream—don't take it out on your husband.

For three generations our women have told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three weeks of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

The SNAPSHOT GUILD Make Your Own Exposure Guide

Pictures like this usually need an exposure different from that required for a landscape. It's better to know than to guess.

THE trouble with a good many amateurs is that they never get beyond the stage of happy-go-lucky button clicking. They keep on making haphazard guesses at exposures withstanding the indistinct pictures that too often result. They could be surprised at what they could accomplish as a regular thing if they really knew just what stop and shutter speed are needed with the type of camera they use for the existing light conditions each time they take a picture.

To be sure, exposure is a bit of a bugaboo even to the most experienced, which is why so many "advanced amateurs" use exposure meters. But, if you are still a guesser, nothing prevents you from learning to be a good one. Here is a suggestion to help you lick the problem.

Take the time some day soon to make an experiment with different stops and shutter speeds on the same subject. Have a pad of paper with you on which you have written the date, time of day and light conditions and the type of film. Then for every shot you make, put down the exposure data, Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, etc. Make two series of experiments like this, first with a group of persons, then with a landscape.

For the first experiment, why not get the cooperation of your family? Get them out on the lawn some afternoon and start shooting. Suppose it is not less than an hour before sunset and the sky is bright. Yours is a folding camera, with anastigmat lens, shutter speeds from 1/10 second to 1/100, and stops from f.6.3 to f.32. You have the family in the shade of a tree on a bright sunny day. An exposure of 1/25 second at f.8 seems right. Make that exposure No. 1 and carefully put down the data. Then make three other snapshots at f.8, No. 2 at 1/10, No. 3 at 1/50 and No. 4 at 1/100. Then make four more at f.6.3 and four more at f.11 at the same shutter speeds. This assortment has provided you with overexposures and underexposures of the same subject but surely several correctly exposed negatives at different stop openings under the same conditions.

Now get your photo finisher to make you the best possible prints of each negative. Then ask him to print all the negatives, in groups of four, on one sheet of paper, using the grade that will give the best print for the best negative of all. Result: you have learned something! And you will have a record to refer to of what different exposures will do to a picture and among them a correct one to emulate.

Do the same thing for a landscape picture, say at f.16, f.22 and f.32.

Right! The records will not serve precisely for other light conditions, but they will help you immensely to make the necessary adjustments. You will see for one thing that underexposure is a much more hopeless failing than overexposure; hence, in the future, you will tend to be more liberal in your estimates.
