

Seven Recipes To Clip and Try

STUFFED PRINTEOES

3/4 cup cooked rice
2 tbsps. fat
1 small onion
1 stalk celery
1/2 lb. round steak, ground
1/2 teasp. salt
1/2 teasp. pepper
Few grains cayenne
1 egg
1 oz. can pimientos
1/2 cup buttered crumbs
Cook chopped onion and celery in fat until tender. Add meat and cook for a few minutes; remove from fire; add cooked rice, slightly beaten egg and seasonings. Drain canned pimientos on absorbent paper. Fill with the meat and rice mixture, and place in well greased muffin pans. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven about 20 minutes. Serve with mushroom or other savory sauce.

MODERN MEAT LOAF

1 lb. raw beef, chopped fine
1 tbsps. chopped onion
2 tbsps. salt
1/2 teasp. pepper
1 cup soft bread crumbs
2/3 cup mashed banana (2 bananas)
1/2 teasp. dry mustard
3 peeled bananas, cut lengthwise into halves
Mix together the meat, onion, salt, pepper, bread crumbs and mashed banana. Add mustard which has been moistened with a little water. Form mixture into a flat roll and place in a greased baking dish. Bake in moderate oven, basting occasionally with juice from meat. When loaf has baked about 45 minutes, place banana halves around and on top of loaf. Baste banana with juice from meat and sprinkle with salt. Continue baking for about 15 to 20 minutes longer or until bananas are done. Six servings.
Suggestion: Two strips of bacon may be placed on top of meat loaf before baking for basting purposes and to add flavor.

Chicken And Nut Croquettes
Melt four tablespoons of butter and blend in five tablespoons flour; add one cup milk gradually; cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is thickened and smooth. Add 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, 1 beaten egg yolk, and 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice slowly. Stir in 1 1/2 cups chopped chicken meat, and 1/2 cup broken walnut meats and mix well. Season to taste and cool. Then shape into croquettes, roll in bread crumbs, then in egg and again in the crumbs, and fry in deep hot fat, until delicately browned. 6 to 7 croquettes.

LUSCIOUS HAM APPLES

2 1/2 cups diced ham
3 tbsps. prepared mustard
3 tbsps. grated onion
1-3 cup chopped green pepper
6 large apples
2 tbsps. butter
Mix finely diced ham with mustard, onion and green pepper. Hollow out inside of large apples and fill with ham mixture and brush top with butter. Place in a buttered casserole. Cover and bake in moderate oven for one hour, or until apples are tender.

CHOCOLATE FRUIT COOKIES

1 cup raisins
1/2 pkg. dates
3/4 cup water
4 tbsps. butter
1 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 teasp. soda
1 teasp. baking powder
1/2 teasp. cinnamon
1/2 cup cocoa
1/2 teasp. salt
1/2 cup sour milk
1 egg
1 teasp. vanilla
1 cup nutsmeats
Cook sliced dates, water, butter and sugar in saucepan until dates are soft and syrup slightly thick. Drain; measure syrup (it should be about 3/4 cup) and cool. Sift flour, soda, baking powder, cocoa, cinnamon and salt together. Add sour milk, beaten egg, vanilla, nutsmeats, dates and syrup. Drop mixture by rounded teaspoonfuls 2 inches apart on well-oiled baking sheet. Bake in slow oven 15 minutes. About 4 dozen cookies; will keep fresh over long period.

MID-WINTER PIE

4 cups cranberries
3/4 cup orange juice
1 teasp. grated orange rind
1 teasp. salt
1 tbsps. butter, melted
2 1/2 tbsps. quick cooking tapioca
Grind or chop cranberries, add the juice and rind of orange, sugar, melted butter, tapioca and salt. Mix well; pour into pastry lined pie plate and bake about 40 minutes in hot oven.

Testing Coffee

A way to test the quality of coffee is to put a spoonful in a glass of cold water and add a few drops of lemon juice. If the coffee is pure it will remain on top of the water; if not, the water will become brown in color.

I GOT SAVED TONIGHT

He had to tell it as he came to the friend passing out tracts at the door—"I got saved tonight." You know this man and his kind. You see them selling knockknacks on the street, this one making it with pencils to keep off relief. His grandfather was a man of the cloth and up to the time of the fire and his jump from the upper floor our man made good money at his trade. Then with the garbled and twisted hand the surgeons saved for him he sees out what living he may.

Back of his I GOT SAVED TONIGHT there seems to have been much low coming to face about. He had been attending meetings and thinking. Here this night the Cross had been lifted into the center. You must meet God at the Cross, was the theme. Then there was the sketch hanging on the wall above the platform; the Cross itself with light slanting down to sit it off. So stood out the ransom price God paid for men who have lost the way and crowded into Mission halls these nights.

"I thought on what the preacher said and what that Cross showed and I said to myself— IF I GET HIT WITH AN AUTO THIS NIGHT AS I GO OUT OF HERE I WILL GO TO HELL." So unknown to the meeting and away down in his heart he believed and already had to tell it. A wail on a storm tossed sea and picked up by a liner, stands on the deck to tell his joy.—Do you get it? He was glad in his over and over I'M SAVED.

There is a fountain filled with blood, Drawn from Immanuel's veins. And sinners plunged beneath that flood Lose all their guilty stains.

God commendeth His love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us.

Much more than, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through Him.

Your Home CONSTRUCTION-EQUIPMENT REMODELING Bronze Keeps Buzzers Out Back in the days when the man of the house spent a good deal of time tacking down carpets, or un-tacking them and beating them, he filled what was left of his spare time by tacking cotton mosquito netting to the window frames and by un-tacking it after little Susie had practiced on it with her scissors, or Johnny had pushed his head through it. How many millions of tacks each of us old timers has pounded in and pried out! But not any more. Rugs for the floors, and full-length removable window screens, equipped with bronze insect cloth. And that—if we build the screens ourselves—means just one tacking, for the bronze screen cloth will not rust out, and it is remarkably resistant to Susie's scissors and Johnny's head. It is, in short, the most durable sort of screen cloth, far better than the corrodible screen cloth that we thought such an improvement over the cotton netting, but which had to be painted every year, and even then had to be renewed from time to time. More important, of course, than saving labor and effecting long-run economy, is the effective protection of the home against insect pests. Bronze screen cloth, 16-mesh to keep out the smaller breeds of mosquitoes and gnats, will give the home complete protection against the pests that fly by day and night—disease carriers, all of them. Typhoid, malaria, yellow fever and many lesser ills—these are what you shut out from your home when you use the tough, durable bronze screen cloth in tightly fitting screens. Bronze, an alloy of copper, cannot rust and gives long and satisfactory service. By the way, one word of caution. Be sure that the bronze screen cloth you use is standard weight—15 pounds to 100 square feet. Otherwise, your screens, although non-rustable, will lack the mechanical strength to stand the wear and tear to which most screens are subjected. Lights for Sleepy Eyes There are probably few grown people who have not barked their noses of stubbed their toes when trying to move about in the house in the dark, after being aroused from sleep. It is so common a mishap that it is a favorite subject of the professional humorists. But it seems destined for the scrap pile, for present emphasis upon better lighting for the home has not neglected the question of suitable illumination for the house at night after the bright lights have been turned off. Naturally the rooms in which night lights are chiefly needed are bedrooms, halls and bathrooms. Manufacturers have put on the market tiny bulbs, of from one to ten watts consumption, which are intended to be left burning all night in these rooms. For bedroom use they can be obtained with fixtures that direct their light downward, so that they do little but spread a soft glow over the floor. They can even be placed under beds. Such lamps do not interfere with sleep and do not dazzle eyes just opened from sleep, but give enough light to enable one to move about safely. Incidentally, they are good lamps for the rooms of children who fear the dark—and don't let anyone tell you that it is a good thing to make a child sleep in the dark if he is afraid of it. With such lights on the second floor and with one in the lower hall the danger of accidents at night is largely eliminated. For if they do not in themselves provide all the light needed, they accustom sleepy eyes to light, so that brighter lights can be turned on without shock to the eyes and temporary blindness. And such a light costs only a fraction of a cent to burn all night. Why Not a Fan in the Attic? Modern air conditioning has taught people that the interior of a home can be kept comfortable in any sort of weather. By the same token, it has set people to thinking of ways to keep their houses cooler in hot weather, short of installing air conditioning plants in their cellars. There has been much emphasis on the wisdom of opening all windows at night in stifling weather, to cool the house as much as possible, and then keeping them closed during the day to keep the night's comparative coolness in.

Beware Kidney Germs if Tired, Nervous, Aching Are you Run Down, Nervous, suffer Aches or Swollen Joints? Do you Get Up Nights, or suffer from Burning Passages, Frequent Headaches, Leg Pains, Backaches, Dizziness, Puffy Eyelids, Loss of Appetite and Energy? If so, the true cause often may be germs developed in the body during colds, or by bad teeth or tonsils that need removing. These germs may attack the delicate membrane of the kidneys or bladder and often cause much trouble. Ordinary medicines can't touch them. Lydia E. Pinkham's Kidney and Bladder Tablets fight the germs.
