

THE BEAVERTON REVIEW

Entered as second-class matter December 9, 1922, at the postoffice at Beaverton, Oregon, under the act of March 3, 1879.

ISSUED EVERY FRIDAY AT BEAVERTON, OREGON

J. H. HULETT, EDITOR

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

Per year (in advance) $1.00 Not in advance 1.50

URA LYRE'S OWN COLUMN

Billions of cash is laying idle in the banks or is loaned at very low rates of interest to the government. Why? Simply this. Business does not dare draw it out and use it. This applies to both large and small concerns. Large business corporations have tried till their wares are piled high because of strikes, government interference and threats, and the gradual decrease of buying capacity of the people. The railroads (and many a small man held or still holds stock in these roads) and other concerns are on the verge of bankruptcy for these very reasons. Small businesses are in dire straits from the same causes. Ura Lyre has precious little capital; but if he had a hundred times as much, he would be afraid to risk it; for most fellows in the kind of business he would like to enter are on the rocks. If he made a little surplus profit he could expect the Roosevelt government would take it, even if it were composed of sows and little pigs. Besides this, with things run down as they are, there is no field for any more firms of this kind. When will they be better with a set of in competitors, who have had full sway for such a length of time and the lavish spending and unaided help, practically all have given and care exerted not to cast a thing in the way of the present regime. This depression has been on years longer than any other in the history of the nation; and that, as already just stated because of the incompetency of those in charge of affairs at Washington. The idea of calling this a Hoover depression is silly indeed, when Hoover was the one man who especially warned what would happen if the Congress kept spending more than the nation's income. But an obstreperous congress would not listen, but sent us into the red over President Hoover's earnest remonstrance. A raw deal has put us where we are. Now that same kind of deal asks for billions more. What for? Is the main purpose to grease pockets of the politicians and the unthinking? In the past it has been called Santa Claus. In olden times when votes were obtained by the lavish use of money it was called graft. Does any one for one moment believe that these vast quantities are slung out far more extensively than ever in past times, without vast quantities being used for similar purposes, even in different ways. Listen to the charges by democrats of Pennsylvania in republican times are rolling now in the fat as good democrats? A lot of the same old gang have their noses in the trough. "Business has lost its chance," is indicated from such sources or Gov. Earle, and President Roosevelt. Business has not had a chance as any one with good judgment knows. Will the tremendous expenditures, apparently help for a short time and increase the democratic vote this fall, notwithstanding what recent results have shown? Of course it will. How many will, like the Israelites of old, after seeing visions only of the promised land, long for the leeks and the onions and the fashpots of Egypt remains to be seen.

We have not been able to give much of a description of what a trip across the continent reveals. Something has been shown in regard to such states as Iowa, Illinois and the immediate surroundings of Pittsburgh; but one needs to see in order to comprehend all, or even a considerable part. Still it is to be hoped that some things may be revealed in these lines; that even the older ones of the west did not realize. Pennsylvania is a great state and its people, enterprises, structures and architecture are varied, interesting and fact revealing. One may think of Oregon as hilly, but "you ain't seen nothing." Oregon is somewhat mountainous, but hilly? The Beaver state isn't hilly at all. Up, down, in, out, this, that and every which way you go, and if the sun is not shining, north is south, east is west or a half or three quarter between. It is no wonder poor old Braddock was so used and abused by the French and Indians, till his men kept on running till they were lost in oblivion. The several miles they fought over is no longer well marked, but some brush, ravines, and parts of the knolls and hills are still here, more or less covered by the town of Braddock, steel mills of the Carnegie plant, roads, etcetera. The large trees that lined the ravines and the side hill slopes are gone, but the mind easily furnishes them for the skulking savages protection in pouring their murderous fire into the redcoats. So near to and yet so far was he from victory. There are many houses nearly all the way from the sight of old Fort Duquesne to the battle field. The fort was practically destroyed some years later; and today only a small block house of what was later Fort Pitt, remains standing. This was built about 1764 and is maintained by the D.A.R. organization. URA LYRE.

HAZELDALE NEWS

House guests of Mrs. Bessie Bridgman are Mrs. Edna Hanley and daughter, Mrs. Floyd Johnson, and her two sons Carl and Keith from Berkeley, California. They expect to spend about a month visiting relatives here. Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Edwards entertained with a dinner Sunday honoring Mrs. Edward's mother, Mrs. J. E. Scrimsher of Portland on her birthday. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eagleton of Portland and Mr. and Mrs. David Eagleton of Tacoma, Wash. Mrs. Lui Vassel is recovering from a major operation at St. Vincent's hospital. John Imlah spent Tuesday on a fishing trip to the coast. Donald Sipe is sporting a black eye received in an accident last week. George Sanford and Billy Smith drove to St. Helens Saturday where Billy has employment. Mr. Sanford returned home Sunday. Mrs. Denton has been employed as teacher of the primary room for the next term of school. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lamb have returned to their home in Sacramento, California after spending two weeks visiting relatives here. Mr. and Mrs. George Sanford have purchased four acres adjoining their property from Mr. and Mrs. J. Martin. Billy and Delbert Smith are clearing part of the ground. Mrs. William Heil visited friends in Vancouver Wednesday of last week. The school foot ball team played against Rosedale on the home grounds last Thursday. The score was 16-26 in favor of the home team. Mr. and Mrs. James Broad accompanied by their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lamb of Sacramento took an auto trip last week to La Grande, Tacoma and Seattle. Albert, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Leopold received a severe cut on the head one day last week, when he ran too near an ax which was being used by his brother Herman.

LITTLE MOMENTS IN BIG LIVES

HARRY D. KLINE, OF THE CONTINENTAL MOTORS CORPORATION, WAS AN INSTRUCTOR IN THE ONLY ROLLER SKATING RINK IN NOME, ALASKA

THINGS THAT NEVER HAPPEN

St. Mary's Of The Valley

High Mass was sung in the convent chapel Easter Tuesday by the Reverend Edmund Vanderzanden. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Vanderzanden of Roy and a sister, Sister M. Ludmilla, S. S. M. were present for the occasion. The Junior Symphony of Portland awarded prizes to the winners of the Music Notebook Contest, Saturday. The following girls received rewards: Betty Boothby, Grace Palmer, Ella Mary Murphy and Joyce Pife. For the second period of the semester the names of the following girls appear on the Honor Roll. They are: Mary Orwell, Helen Riverman, Dorothy Sculer, Arlene Bernards, Eileen Moore, Evelyn Sohier, Cloyce Bump, June Downey, Betty Helrich, Betty Jo Murphy and Rose Schallberger. Elsie M. Christensen to Martha Richard Stark, 1/2 acre Wm. Pointer CLT. Walter E. Covlin et ux to Laura E. Currin, 40 acres Sec. 31 T3N R3W. Lela H. Rupel to Robert F. Forsman, et ux, Lots 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 Palmer Acres. Willis Holt McDaniel Jr et ux to Robert E. Snider et ux, Part J. A. Flippen Cl. 55 TIN R1W. Mike J. Fischer et ux to L. T. Fischer et ux, Part: Lots 29, 22 and 24 Beachvale. Bessie Mickelson to Mary E. Hunter 1 acres Sec. 16 T1S R1W. Henry Erickson et ux to A. L. Williams et ux, Lot 1 Blk 49 Metzger Acre Trs.

Real Estate Transfers

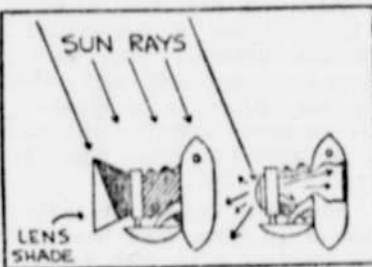

H. R. Kuehne et al to Ida E. Hoffarber, Lots 5 and 15 Hoffarber Tracts Sec. 35 T1S R1W. H. A. Lytle et al to C. O. Dixon et ux, Lots 2 and 3 Blk 6 Cornelius. Mary Poboehinko et vir to D. A. O'Meara et ux, Part Sec. 1 T1S R2W. William G. Hall to J. R. Johnson et ux, Lot 7 Westgard Tracts. Edwin Madsen, et ux to G. S. Smith, et ux—Lot 16 Ashbrook Farm. Walter Stucki to Ray L. Elliott, et ux, 37 acres in Sec. 27 T3N R5W. J. M. Person et ux to William A. Clapham—Part of R. Wilcox, D.L.C. 69 in and TIN R3W and part of I. Kelsey D.L.C. 41, TIN R2W. Paul Beck et ux to George Pritzlaff et ux, Lots 4, 5, 16 and 17 Blk 1 Purdy's Add. Dille.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD AGAINST THE LIGHT

This scene was snapped against the light, so shadows come toward the camera. Ordinary exposure gives the silhouette effect. A lens shade must be used—if direct sun rays strike the glass, they spoil the picture.

HAVE you ever tried taking pictures "against the light"—that is, with sun or photo lights behind the subject so that the shadows point toward you instead of away from you? This lighting is a source of many interesting pictures. Striking silhouettes of trees and persons can be obtained. Sunlight, coming from above and slightly behind the subject in an informal portrait, gives appealing highlights on hair and shoulders. Numerous "different" effects are possible. When you take such pictures, your lens must be shaded so direct rays of sunlight or artificial light do not strike it. An inexpensive lens hood or sun shade (see diagram) is very useful, and slips on easily. Indeed, it is an advantage to use such a shade for many pictures. It cuts out stray sidelights and reflections, gives brighter, "snappier" pictures. Of course, when the sun is low in the sky—almost on a line with your lens, the hood may not help, but frequently you can find a position where the sun will be hidden behind a tree trunk. Then the shadow of the tree will serve to shade your lens. In "against the light" pictures, where the light is intense, give the ordinary exposure if you want a silhouette effect. To get details in the shadow side, use an exposure two or three times as long. For informal portrait studies, with the sun back of your subject, arrange a sheet of white cardboard or cloth so that it reflects light on the subject's face. And when the sky is the background of your picture, use a sky filter on the lens. This darkens the sky a bit and makes sunlit subjects stand out. It slips on the lens just as the sun shade does. John van Guilder

Note how lens shade (at left) protects glass from direct glare. Stray reflections are cut out, pictures are clearer, brighter.

Every Day She Suicides

Washington Co. to F. H. Denton et ux, Lot 2 Blk 5 Hillsboro. W. E. Gilmore et ux to Andrew Nielson, Part Blk 5 Timber. Washington Co. to Guy C. Carr et ux, Lots 9 and 10 Erickson Add. Beaverton. A. W. Stephens et ux to M. W. Van Billiar et ux, 2.47 acres Sec. 34 TIN R1W. J. W. Connel, Sheriff to W. E. Reeves, 26.72 acres Sec. 29 TIN R2W. Arthur Van Aekere to Forest T. Coy et ux, Lots 4 and 5 Blk 12 Cornelius. Lawrence C. Glaske et ux to J. Brian Tausen et ux, 20.84 acres. Harry P. Strickler et ux to John A. Strickler et ux, 75 acres, Sec. 23 T2S R2W. Susie Goodman to Zilla White, 10 acres TIN R3W. Wilhelm Matzke to Georgia Lou Keane et ux, Part of Sec. 22 T1S R1W. C. A. Black et ux to John N. Fawcett, et ux, N 1/2 of Lot 60 Beaverton-Rosedale. Archie Hutchison et ux to Fannie E. Harper, et al, Lot 6 Blk 23 North Plains. Meier and Frank Co. to Alvin P. Nelson, Lot 4 Blk 47 Metzger Acre Tracts. Portland Trust and Sav. Bk to O. Earle Miller et ux, 19.40 acres Sec. 36 T2S R2W. Helena S. Rice et al to Francis I. Smith, 20 acres Sec. 25 TIN R3W. Francis I. Smith to Helena S. Rice, et vir, 20 acres TIN R3W. Barbara Crawford to Walter L. Bainter et ux, Part of Isalah Kelsey Cl. 41 TIN R2W. Fred C. Zurcher to Ernest Zurcher, Part of Sec. 8 and 17 TIN R2W. Mary Poboehinko et vir to D. A. O'Meara et ux, Part Sec. 1 T1S R2W. William G. Hall to J. R. Johnson et ux, Lot 7 Westgard Tracts. Edwin Madsen, et ux to G. S. Smith, et ux—Lot 16 Ashbrook Farm. Walter Stucki to Ray L. Elliott, et ux, 37 acres in Sec. 27 T3N R5W. J. M. Person et ux to William A. Clapham—Part of R. Wilcox, D.L.C. 69 in and TIN R3W and part of I. Kelsey D.L.C. 41, TIN R2W. Paul Beck et ux to George Pritzlaff et ux, Lots 4, 5, 16 and 17 Blk 1 Purdy's Add. Dille. Sophie the scrub-woman said it this way—"I commit a suicide every day." She meant she counted her old human nature as dead. "Old human nature with all your unholy leanings, I count you as out of the picture for this day and I count the indwelling Christ as my strength." So Sophie stepped out in the morning. Paul the Apostle told it like this—"I am crucified with Christ." He counted the old human nature with all its sin and pride and pettishness as being nailed to the cross of Christ; counting on the indwelling Christ to become the power of the day. So you see Sophie item along to the scrubbing and the Apostle to his teaching and preaching and the mobs and to face the wild beasts in Ephesus, each leaving it to the indwelling Christ to carry them through. Yes, the life they lived day by day, was by the faithfulness of the Son of God who loved them and died to save them. Sure folks—you who turn it all over to Christ shall never be made ashamed. No lack in Him. The Saved, the Christian, the Twice-Born—all who turn to God from sin and trust in Christ to SAVE, KEEP and SATISFY—these must all live in defeat until they count the old nature dead and look wholly to the indwelling Christ to carry them through. This it the supernatural life the saved are expected to live. "Christ liveth in me and the life I live for the next hour I live by leaning all my weight on the Son of God who loved me and died to save me." Let us so say it. Look into all that heads up in Galatians 2:20 and see for yourself. Christian must stumble along restless, hungry, fruitless along the great God would see him mount up with wings. But how can Christian mount up so long as he looks to his sinful human nature for supernatural power? So we ask—Are you counting on the indwelling Christ as the VICTORY of the next sixty minutes. Then you will become the fruitful branch. Plan Taylor, Beaverton, Oregon. Pd. adv.

Mr. I. Knowlitt

Things are not always what they seem

SAY YOU!!

AM I RIGHT?

Raising the Family

Ma's Width was The Only Thing That Saved Gideon!

WHO DID THAT?

IT'D LIKE TO LAY MY HANDS ON THE SHIRT ALEC WHEAT DID THAT!

