Well, to all appearances, there is certainly "something rotten in Denmark," in this case the democratic party here in Pennsylvania. Why not, for that matter in the whole United States. How can there be anything else anyway, where billion are doled out so lavishly in pay for jobs, free donations, Santa Claus gifts, what amounts to purchase of votes, so far as results are concerned whether deliberately willed or not? Is it hoodie or what, that is being vomited out, right previous to the coming campaign? They talk about a generous president. How much of his lucrative income is our chief executive donating to the cause? How much is son John contributing from a salary for a job some other could do as well as he, while he gets, so they say, plenty from another source? Say, if a man is drawing $100,000 a year for a job that is so heavy he has to rest up a third of the time, fishing and galavanting around; what moral right has he to spend time writing articles on the side, either to bolster his own purposes or to feather his own nest further financially.

But to get our feet down again on Quaker state soil. The two different outfits, states if you please, of the murgumps here are each charging the other with rascality. Senator Guffey is being tarred a plenty, superlatively we might say, by the first, while he and his crowd declare the others are the dirty, black gentlemen in the woodpile.

It is strongly hinted that both are telling the truth. Today's papers declare that a prominent Republican tried hard to get an investigation a year or two ago of how the WPA funds here in the state were being used, but was absolutely headed off by governmental sources. Just keep your eyes open. You will hear more along these lines.

You people in Oregon know how many things have been charged against these same government agencies in your own state. Not only have deservings been fed and cared for, but many shiftless and undeserving have been obtaining plenty which honorable ones could not. During the last few days, a fellow (as published in the dailies here) was arrested for beating a woman connected with the relief work with a strap. He had lived here most of his life, according to the accounts, came from Russia but had never taken out naturalization papers. The woman told him his cheek was no doubt in the mails. So he warmed her jacket for the delay. It also developed that for several months he had been drawing wages for work in a private concern, at the same time he was getting his relief checks. The judge gave a few scorching words and several months in the county jail or work house. Nearly nine years arduous of these kind of times, the big majority of it under the present government management (completely under it, mind you) and the first portion of it partly controlled by this same party, which refused to let the former president carry out his policies; that is what we have had. Is that all? No!! The chief promised to take us out of the slump. He and his partisans have spent billions upon billions; are adding to the debt every day; are no nearer to a solution of the problems than five years ago, have made paupers, decreased production, engineered shiftlessness, multiplied jobs paid for by the people's sweat and toil for generations to come.

That is what you voted for. Are you going to keep on doing so?

A few weeks ago the writer stood at the foot of the Samuel Gompers monument in Washington; the man who did so much for labor; and this was what we saw printed below that statue. Read it and see whether John L. Lewis and his outfit are the legitimate offspring of that man.

"So long as we have held fast to voluntary principles, and have been actuated and inspired by the spirit of service, we have sustained our forward progress and we have made our labor movement something to be respected and accorded a place in the councils of our republic. Where we have blundered into trying to force a policy or a decision, even though wise and right, we have impeded, if not interrupted the realization of our own sins.

"No lasting gain has ever come from compulsion. If we seek to force, we but tear apart that which, united is invincible."

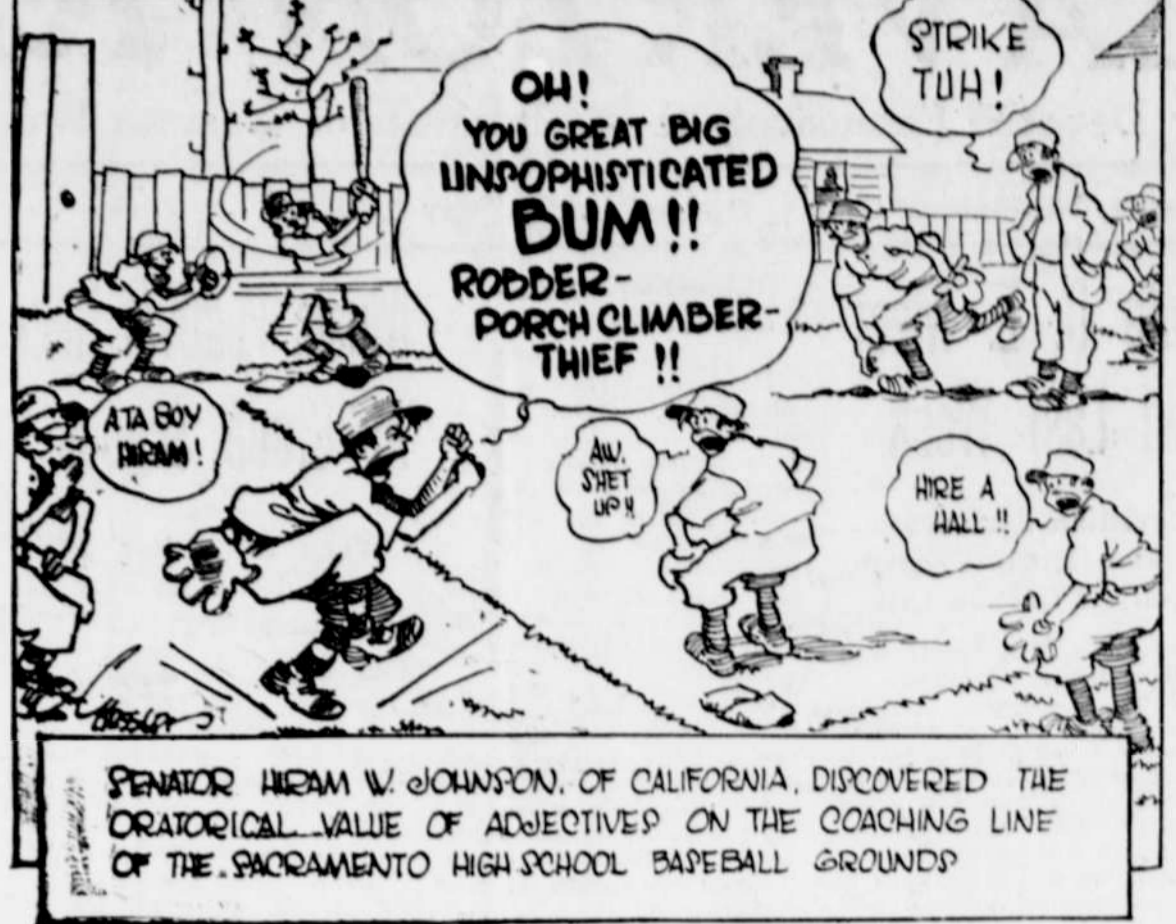

In Pennsylvania Guffey is backing the CIO ticket. The AFL is not with them.

BOY SCOUT CIRCUS IS SATURDAY EVE

"The greatest show on earth" is the way Field Executive Paul Y. Yearout terms the 1938 Boy Scout circus, sponsored by Portland Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, which will be held in the Multnomah Civic stadium in Portland next Saturday night, May 7. Ten gigantic acts beginning with the colorful grand entry parade starting at 8 p.m., are on the program and 6,000 Scouts and Cubs from 10 Oregon counties and five Washington counties will participate in the event. "It is something well worth seeing," declared Harry W. Aird, chairman of the circus committee, "and you will be surprised to see what the Scouts and Cubs can offer in the way of entertainment. The advance seat sale makes us believe we will have 20,000 persons in attendance. It is a civic undertaking and worthy of every consideration." There will be spectacular features during the more than two hours of program and those who attend are urged to be in their seats by 8 p.m. when the

HAZELDALE NEWS By Mrs. J. Imlah

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Betzer have moved into their new house on Farmington road across from St. Mary's school. Billy Imlah won third prize on his collection of badges at the Beaverton high school's hobby show Wednesday of last week.

The school children sang three songs at the music festival in Beaverton Friday afternoon; "Now the Day is Over," "Merry Life" and "The Star-Spangled Banner."

E. R. Dodds and George Walton spent several days last week on a trip to eastern Oregon.

Mrs. Bertha Dailey and daughter Mary left the first of the week for a visit in California.

THINGS THAT NEVER HAPPEN

Mr. and Mrs. John Imlah entertained a group of young people with a party Saturday evening honoring the birthday of Bernice Imlah and Robert Helm. La Rae Kincheloe entertained a group of her young friends with a party Saturday afternoon. Present were Sybil Taylor, Aneta Saice, Barbara Imlah, Doris Webber, Maxine Carver, Doris Johnson, Mildred Broad, Hilda Leopold and Lois Jelders. The 4-H agricultural club met at the school house Tuesday evening of last week in their regular monthly meeting.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD ENLARGEMENTS

Trimming and enlarging improve a picture. Both small and large picture here were made from the same negative. Any picture can be enlarged.

DO SOME of your pictures include too much — a lot of surplus background and material at top, bottom and sides that has little or nothing to do with the subject, and injures the picture effect? Don't despair. Such pictures can be retrieved. Here's how: pick out the part you want, and just that — cut it out — to the size of the original print, or even larger. For example, look at the picture of the little girl above. The head was the interesting part. Besides, her hands were too close to the camera, and showed up too large in the finished picture. The negative was "masked" in making the enlargement so that only the head showed. Result: a much better picture.

The making of posters for the American Legion Poster Contest occupied the time of several students in the art studio last week. Girls sending work in to the local branch at Hillsboro were Patricia Etzel, Betty Boothby, Darabelle Singleton, Marylyn Hultz, Ellis Mary Murphy and Mary Ellen Royston. Patricia Etzel received first place in the high school division and Marylyn Hultz in the grammar grade. The high school gymnasium classes divided in two groups for a final game of basketball Friday. The struggle was a lively one and ended in an even score. During the month of May, a series of talks on the life and virtues of the Blessed Mother of God will be presented by the sodalists at each Friday meeting.

The science department is now furnished with a new case for the botanical and biological specimens collected by students or donated by friends interested therein.

Teacher Aint Lookin'

Young fifth grader stood his wheel outside the McMinnville Hotel and moved into the lobby with the morning paper. He was your alert all-business kind and stopped to listen at the visitor's question—"Did you ever read of the lad who went partner with the Lord in the feeding business? No? Then just glance over this page." So Sonny reached for the little red covered Gospel of John—the 6th chapter. It told of the boy who turned in his lunch of five little cakes and two small fishes with Christ adding the God-power until five thousand me besides women and children were fed. It was all new to Sonny and he spent some time over it. "School time, Boy. Take the Book and read it later," he was told. "Sure, I'll stick it in my pocket and read it when teacher ain't lookin'." So said Sonny.

Now for the WHY of this Gospel of John. "And many other signs truly did Jesus in the presence of his disciples which are not written in this Book; but these are written that ye might believe that Je-
