Chicken Salad Still Leads List As Variations Multiply Fast

Remembers the girl in the old time ads who "always ordered chicken salad" because she was embarrased and didn't know how to read a menu? "Them days" to quote another w.k. phrase, are "gone forever," as far as menu-reading goes. (Imagine a 1938-er minding a blush!) But the call for chicken salad remains loud, clear and frequent the country over, because salad made with our favorite fowl is one of those everybody-likes-it items.

There are, reason dictates, chicken salads AND chicken salads! The kinds that keep the salad in the public eye (pardon, mouth) are the juicy, flavorsome kinds, with variations added to that mixture of chicken and celery. Ever try putting bananas in your chicken salad? Those creamy slices of goodness give it a texture and flavor you'll adore, so pop plenty into your next batch; you can, for bananas are inexpensive, everywhere available.

MORE VARIATIONS

Like our salad juicy? Then do as they do down south and open up a can of grapefruit segments (or go the whole way and open up a can of graefruit and orange segments too) and, after draining (save the juice for the dressing) mix those golden segments with the chicken and celery. If you think your chicken salad's too bland, add a crunchy note—chop or slice some meaty Brazil nuts and sprinkle them liberally through that celery and chicken, reserving a luscious sprinkle for the top.

When you come to garnish the salad, you get a chance to be an inventor. Green pepper rings, tomato slices, pimiento ribbons—these doll it up in style! And as for dressing—vary it, from fruit dressing to chive mayonaise.

Chicken Salad is a main course in itself. Add a frosty beverage—and there's none better than iced coffee!—a crisp accompaniement; for a light but toothsome dessert, like date peach melba, and your meal's made.

Savory Cooked Salad Dressing
(To mix with chicken salad)
1 egg
2 tbsps. sugar
1½ teasps. salt
⅛ teasp. paprika
2 teasps. dry mustard
¼ cup lemon juice
¾ cup salad oil
4 tbsps. cornstarch
1 cup water

Put egg, sugar, seasonings, lemon juice and salad oil in a bowl, but do not stir. Moisten corn starch to smooth paste with ½ cup of water; add remaining water and cook over a low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and is clear and thick. Add this hot cornstarch mixture at once to ingredients in bowl and beat briskly with rotary beater until smooth and thoroughlp blended. Chill before using.

Bran Buttermilk Biscuits
(To accompany the salad)
½ cup all-bran
3-4 cup buttermilk
1½ cups flour
1 teasp. salt
1 teasp. baking powder
½ teasp. soda
1 3 cup shortening

Soak all-bran in buttermilk Sift flour, baking powder, soda and salt together. Cut in shortening until mixture is like coarse cornmeal. Add soaked all-bran; stir until dough follows fork around bowl. Turn onto floured board; knead lightly a few seconds; roll or pat to ½ inch thickness and cut with floured cutter. Bake in lightly greased pan in hot oven (450 deg. F.) about 12 minutes. Yield 12 biscuits.

Date-Peach Melba
(A dessert for the salad meal)
6 ripe peach halves
1 dozen lady fingers
½ pt. vanilla ice cream
1-3 cup shredded cocoanut
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
¼ cup currant jelly
¼ pkg. chopped dates

Line sherbet glasses with split lady fingers. Place a halved peach in the center of the dish with cut side up. Fill cavity left by removal of the pit with a small ball of vanilla ice cream and chopped pasteurized dates. Cover with stiffly whipped cream into which the currant jelly has been folded. Sprinkle with shredded cocoanut.

Does God O.K. Sin?

Is God a silent partner who sits still while men defy His holy law? Such a one would no be the all-wise and awful Ruler of love, mercy and wrath that the Bible pictures. For if God shuts his eyes to even one sin, He would not be true to His word which says—"The wages of sin is death," and—"The soul that sinneth, it shall die." If He winks at sin He goes back on His own Word and that God cannot do and still be the God of the Bible.

When He gave Christ to die on the Cross did God commit murder? Did He break His own law against the killer—THOU SHALT NOT KILL. Not so; for Jesus Christ stood before the Judgement throne all heavy with my sin. The holy and guiltless Christ had become to his Father SIN—SIN—SIN in all its hideous awfulness. Some will ask proof. Here then—He who knew no sin was born into this world to become sin for us. Look up 2 Cor. 5:21 for yourself. Note also—"All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on Him the iniquity of us all." Isa. 53:6. I earned the death sentence; He SUBSTITUTED for me; I went free.

It is not FORGIVE and FORGET with God. It is FIRST the DEATH PENALTY and then FORGIVE. Only when Christ had substituted in death for me, could God forgive and I go free. So you see Christ, holy, guiltless, blameless, sinless, step out and take my place, my SUBSTITUTE. Verily—He that knew no sin was born into this world to become sin for us that we might become the righteousness of God in Him.

All this is done for the man who repents and says—"God be merciful to me a sinner! Give me that eternal righteosness and the eternal life that is always wedded to it." For now a righteousness of God has been brot to light, not for good folks who keep the law of God, but for sinful men. It comes unto all and upon all that believe. Right now receive Jesus Christ as your Saviour and from this instant in God's sight you are eternally mantled in Jesus Christ Himself. God now makes it his business to form Jesus Christ within you and with a vast urge to hate sin and love a holy walk. Yes Christ SAVES — KEEPS - SATISFIES all who receive Him as Saviour and Lord.

Our Bottles and Our Cans

By MOLLY MARTIN

The battle between the tin can and the glass container has been raging for years. Almost every one has more or less taken sides so why should I remain in the cold while the tin cans rattle and the glass chimes merrily?

Personally I like the glass container. Somehow I prefer to purchase my foods in containers that allow me to view the food inside. I know what I'm getting and what its condition is.

For my home preserving, I always buy glass jars because I have complete faith in the ability of glass to protect all the delicate flavor and quality of my homemade dainties. After I have taken such pains to make my preserves come up to the quality on which I pride myself — using only the best materials and the most carefully developed recipes — I'm not going to take a chance on everything being spoiled by putting them up in containers made of inferior materials.

It's only natural, then, that when I buy manufactured food products I buy them in containers which personal experience has taught me are the best. I like to know what I'm buying — especially when it comes to food; so I favor the glass container and cast my vote for it.

Home is not home, it seems to me, without a well-stocked pantry, and I keep my cupboard shelves groaning under a variety of branded foods in bright glass jars and bottles, ranged side-by-side with such home-made dainties as these:

Dried Apricot Jam
4 cups (2 lbs.) prepared fruit
7 cups (3 lbs.) sugar
1 bottle fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, add 3½ cups water to ½ pound apricots. Cover, let stand 4 hours or overnight. Then simmer, covered, 30 minutes. Drain, grind or chop fine, and mix with juice.

Measure sugar into large kettle, add prepared fruit, filling up last cup with water if necessary. Mix well, bring to full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 1 minute. Then remove kettle from fire and stir in fruit pectin. Skim; pour quickly. Paraffin and cover. Makes about 11 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

Carrot and Orange Marmalade
6 carrots
3 oranges
1 lemon
Sugar

Dice the carrots and cook them until they are tender, in as little water as possible. Cut the oranges in small pieces and add the juice and grated rind of the lemon. Measure the carrot and fruit, and add two-thirds as much sugar. Simmer the mixture until it is clear. Turn it into jelly glasses, and when it is cold, cover it with hot paraffin.
