DANNY HUNTS FOR LITTLE MISS NANNY

DANNY MEADOW MOUSE never before in all his life had felt so bashful as when at last he stood on the doorstep of the house of little Miss Nanny Meadow Mouse. He hoped she would be glad to see him and he was afraid she wouldn't. He just knew that he wouldn't be able to think of a thing to say. The truth is Danny was in love. He had been in love ever since he first saw little Miss Nanny a day or two before. But she might not fall in love with him.

How still it was inside! Danny fidgeted about uneasily. Then he peeped inside, which is a perfectly proper thing to do in Meadow Mouse society. The house was empty! Little Miss Nanny wasn't there at all! Danny walked right in and looked everywhere. It was queer, very queer, for he had been quite certain that he had seen her peeping out at him as he started up her private little path. Could she be hiding from him? Or could it be that while he had been so long in coming someone else had stolen her away? Instantly he grew bold. The thought that he might have lost her through his own bashfulness made him doubly anxious to find her.

Danny looked out of the back door. As she hadn't come out the front way she must have gone out this way. Of course! There was

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

Aging Fireplace.—If you have brick around your fireplace or flagstone hearth try rubbing it with oil applied on a soft cloth. Brick treated in such a manner will have a more seasoned appearance.

Replace Worn Casters.—Inspect the casters on your furniture. They may be tearing holes in your rugs because they are broken or worn.

Overcoat for Garden.—Evergreen boughs make an excellent winter protection for gardens. They are light, do not mat and do not weigh down plants such as madonna lilies and do not retain too much moisture.

Stored Linoleum.—To prevent linoleum from cracking after it has been rolled and stored away, place it before the fire for a few hours and let it get thoroughly warmed before unrolling it.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them! Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eye—feel tired, nervous, all worn out. Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance. The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

COMB AND BRUSH

just a little faint Mouse scent. It tickled Danny's nose. He knew it was the scent of little Miss Nanny. He followed it eagerly, for that is the way of little meadow people. It led him straight to a big grassy tussock. The long grass hung way over all around. Danny peeped under. It seemed to him that he saw just the tip of a fascinating little tail disappear on the other side of the tussock. Danny started after it eagerly and as fast as he could run. Sometimes he thought he heard little footsteps ahead of him. Round and round that grassy tussock he ran, but though he could run pretty fast for a Meadow Mouse he didn't even catch another glimpse of that fascinating tail. It was quite plain to see that little Miss Nanny could run quite as fast as he could.

Then he had a bright idea. Any way it seemed like a bright idea to him. He would run the other way, and then he would be sure to meet her. So Danny turned around and started round the grassy tussock just the opposite way from which he had been going and his heart beat very fast with excitement, for now surely he must catch little Miss Nanny. But he didn't! No, sir, he didn't! He went clear around that grassy tussock without seeing a sign of little Miss Nanny. He was so disappointed and vexed that he could have cried but for the fact that he had outgrown his cry-baby days. It was very plain to be seen that little Miss Nanny was quite as clever and smart as he, and the more he realized this the more he knew that he just must have her.

This time he walked around very slowly, sniffing, and sniffing. Ha! There was that faint scent and it led off down a private little path. Danny began to run once more. This time it led to an old brush pile and under this were little galleries in all directions. Danny heard a faint rustle in one of them and off he started in that direction. Then began such a game of hide-and-seek as he never had played in all his life. Dozens of times he was sure that at last he had caught up with little Miss Nanny, only to be disappointed. He began to almost hate that brush pile. And then, just when he was quite tired out and almost discouraged, he saw little Miss Nanny sitting with her back to him and looking out under the old brush pile quite as if she didn't know that he was anywhere about.
