REPAIR CRACKS IN SILOS, IS ADVICE

Job Should Be Done Soon As Convenient.

Concrete silo interiors which have become etched or seamed through acid action should be resurfaced as soon as it is convenient in order to control the damage before it becomes severe, advises W. C. Krueger, extension professor of agricultural engineering at the New Jersey College of Agriculture, Rutgers University.

"Repairing silos is particularly important where pressure has forced liquids through mortar joints, eroding them to the extent that air leakage would be a spoilage factor," Mr. Krueger says. "Slightly etched or roughened surfaces can be smoothed satisfactorily by using a cement wash or other penetration-type protective. Where the surface has been deeply etched, it will be best to restore it by applying a Portland cement mortar plaster.

"Of prime importance in resurfacing silo interiors is the thorough cleaning of the surface prior to operations.

"Portland cement washes are readily applied with a soft broom or calcimine brush. The wash is made by mixing Portland cement, preferably of the waterproof type, with water to a creamy paint consistency; it should be stirred frequently during use to keep the cement from settling and should be applied in a smooth, even coating, heavy enough to fill all depressions. Walls should be thoroughly wet for at least two hours before applying the wash.

"The addition of finely powdered iron in the proportion of one pound of iron to each four pounds of cement appears to increase the durability and acid resistance of the wash. Powdered iron containing sal ammoniac is preferable since it hastens oxidation. As soon as the wash has set sufficiently, the surface should be sprinkled at intervals to keep it moist for two days in order to cure.

"For deeply etched surfaces, Portland cement mortar plaster is recommended. This surface should be prepared as for the cement wash treatment and the walls thoroughly dampened for at least two hours before applying the finish. A good mortar is made with one sack of Portland cement, 10 pounds of hydrated lime and two and a half cubic feet of clean, well graded plaster sand with enough water to give a good plastering consistency. The first coat should average about one-fourth-inch thickness and should be allowed to cure at least 24 hours before the second coat is applied, provided that a second coat is necessary to obtain a second surface. It is essential to keep the surface constantly damp during the curing period of at least two to three days."

Manure for Wheat Fields Strongly Recommended

If clover or alfalfa is to be interseeded next spring, it is advisable to give wheat fields a light blanket of manure this winter.

Excepting on soils so rich that wheat is apt to lodge, manuring always is likely to be beneficial. It is particularly advisable on ground that is low in fertility, too dry or somewhat too acid for obtaining good stands of legume hay crops.

Comparisons made at the Ohio experiment station showed that even on acid soil, alfalfa 71 per cent and sweet clover 68 per cent as much as on limed land, when the wheat land was top dressed in advance with manure. In contrast, acid soil that had not been so manured grew only 70 per cent as much red clover hay, only 25 per cent as much alfalfa, and only 16 per cent as much sweet clover as on limed land.

Vitamins for Better Eggs

That the quality as well as quantity of eggs produced is affected by the quality of eggs produced is the conclusion of Dr. R. M. Bethke and associates after careful investigation at the Ohio experiment station. Among the results obtained were: 1. A ration low in vitamin D caused a low egg production, poorer shells, and low hatchability. 2. Good cod liver oil was superior to ergosterol as a source of vitamin D. 3. Hens getting the most vitamin D produced eggs richest in this substance. It was also concluded that the vitamin D secreted in the egg by the hen is the same biological form as that which she ate. -Country Home magazine.

Popular Turkeys

The Poultry Standard recognizes six varieties of the domestic turkey which are raised on farms today, says the Rural New-Yorker. These are the Bronze, Narragansett, Buff, Slate, White and Black. The differences are chiefly in size and coloring. The Bronze and Narragansett are the largest, while in recent years the White variety has been so improved that it comes third in point of size. The Buff and Slate are usually of medium size.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!
 Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.
