These Are Broiler Days

By BETTY BARCLAY

Whether you live in town or country, brisk autumn days no doubt have brought a whirl of activity and little time to give to the ever-present problem of "what shall we eat?"

Quickly prepared meals are a "must" in many busy households, yet the needs of family health and budget restrictions also must be met. Appetites often pick up amazingly with cooler days, making the menu problem even more acute.

When planning meals with an eye on the clock, how many homemakers remember the adaptability of the modern broiler? Meat, fruit and vegetables—almost the entire meal—can be broiled at once. There is no quicker method of cooking and none more healthful. Moreover, there are many excellent combinations which can be cooked in this fashion, and with the addition of a soup or salad and perhaps dessert, your meal is ready.

An excellent choice is this banana-orange meat grill, with lamb or veal chops or ground meat patties wound with bacon strips, and slices of orange, banana and tomato, all broiled for 10 or 12 minutes and served on grill plates. Like this:

4 green-tipped bananas, peeled
4 orange slices, 1/2-inch thick
4 lamb chops, 1/2-inch thick
4 tomato slices, 1/2-inch thick
Salt and Pepper
Melted butter or other fat

Place the bananas on the center of a greased broiler rack. Around them group the orange slices, tomatoes and chops. Brush bananas with melted butter. Salt bananas and tomatoes. Set broiler rack 4 inches under a moderately high broiler flame. Broil for 10-12 minutes, turning once to secure an even brown. Serve on hot platter, seasoning meat with salt and pepper. Garnish with lemon wedges, sliced stuffed olives and parsley.

With a green salad, served with lemon French dressing, and a light dessert, your meal will be complete. To make lemon French dressing, shake together 1/2 cup each of lemon juice and salad oil, 1 teaspoon each of salt and paprika, and 2 tablespoons sugar or honey. A delicious dessert which may be baked early in the day and served cold, or baked at the same time the rest of the meal is broiling is

Lemon Chiffon Pudding (Serves 4)
Cream: 2 tablespoons flour
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon butter
Add: 2 egg yolks, beaten
1/4 cup Sunkist lemon juice
1 cup milk
Fold in: 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Bake in an 8-inch un buttered pudding dish or individual custard cups, set in a pan of warm water. Bake 35 minutes in oven (350° to 375° F.) Will form a cake top with a layer of custard below.

LETTER LETTER LETTER BOX

It has come to the attention of the Washington County Public Welfare Commission that complaints are being made that numerous people are receiving assistance who are not eligible and that a part of the money paid by way of relief, old age assistance or otherwise is not being used for the purpose intended by the law.

The law clearly provides that such help as is given by the Public Welfare Commission should be given only upon the basis of need. The commission construes the word "need" in this instance to mean that the commission should only give help to relieve in cases of vital necessity and to prevent suffering.

The Washington County Public Welfare Commission, in the fulfillment of its duty, is interested, first, in assisting persons in need, and second, protecting the general taxpayers against use of funds for improper purposes by persons receiving help.

Remarks are made constantly by taxpayers that certain persons are not entitled to help, and that certain persons receiving help are using funds for other than the purchases of family necessities.

Case workers employed by the commission use their best efforts within the time limited to get the necessary information upon which the commission can make a finding. Due to incomplete investigation because of lack of time, errors are being made. The commission believes that in some instances information could be had as to the eligibility of persons to receive assistance and as to the use of funds or commodities from persons having information which they do not care to divulge for fear it will become known that they gave the information.

The Washington County Welfare commission invites reliable information as to the eligibility of those receiving assistance, and also as to whether or not the help given is upon the basis of need, and whether any of the funds are being used for other than the purchase of family necessities, and we wish to assure all persons giving such information that it will be held strictly confidential.

The commission has in the past and shall continue in the future, as best we can, to do justice to those in need and to guard the rights of the taxpayers furnishing the money by way of taxes to supply that need.

We have a problem. May we have your help?
