Beaverton To Have New Gas

Representatives of the Inland Empire Refinery of Spokane, refiners and marketers of "Washington Chief" and "Oregon Chief" brands of gasoline, are surveying the Beaverton area with a view to marketing "Oregon Chief" gasoline immediately.

"This step," stated an official of the company, "has long been a contemplated part of the expansion plan for the Inland Empire Refinery. Starting in Spokane some time ago, they now market and distribute throughout the Inland Empire region under the famous 'Chief' brand, 'Washington Chief' in Washington, 'Idaho Chief' in Idaho, and 'Oregon Chief' in Oregon. A thoroughly modern refinery produces gasoline of such high quality that we look forward with complete confidence to the ready acceptance of the Oregon Chief brand in this area."

Of special interest to Beaverton motorists is the definite conviction of Inland Empire Refinery engineers that gasoline should be "tailored" to climate conditions. Thus Oregon Chief brand for this area has been developed and refined to produce the maximum effectiveness in this particular territory. It is said that Beaverton motorists are due for a new thrill when they use this "individually tailored" gasoline.

Announcement of completion of local distributing plans is expected within a few days.

Corn Club Members Plan For Show

Washington county corn club members are making plans for the eleventh annual Commercial-National Bank corn show which will be held November 16, 17 and 18. The show will commence with a banquet in the Hillsboro grange hall on the evening of the 16th.

Plans are also under way for the holding of a 4-H corn judging contest on Saturday in order to prepare club members for the judging contest which is to be held at the State Corn Show, Corvallis, November 28 to December 2.

The bank contest, which is somewhat the same as last year, will include classes for 25 ears of Minnesota 13 corn and a yield per acre contest of Minnesota 13 corn for club members, sponsored by the Commercial-National Bank. Winners of the Fred Groner yield per acre contest will also be announced during the corn show, this contest being open to anyone and any type of corn as long as it is grown without irrigation. Anyone who is interested in either of these yield per acre contests should notify the assistant county agent before the 6th of November in order that the yields may be taken before the close of the contest. These yields are taken in the field, which must be at least an acre in size. Four different sections of the field are harvested and an average yield from this computed on a dry basis.

Nash Has Weather Eye Air Conditioning

Outguessing the weather, a problem the weatherman finds too hard to solve, is part of the day's routine for Nash's improved new "weather eye" system of conditioning air for 1940.

Although car weather-making is this ingenious device's No. 1 job, it does a lot of other things as it goes along. It keeps the air fresh and at the comfort level you like, it whisks out tobacco smoke, and it bans deadly carbon monoxide from the car.

The "weather eye", originally introduced by Nash Motors in 1938, is said to have reached a new high in comfort efficiency this year.

Seed obtained in this manner is to be used only for seeding acreages of these respective crops in excess of the 1939 acreage of such crops harvested for seed. The cost of this seed to the farmers purchasing in this manner is four cents per pound for Austrian winter peas, and nine cents per pound for hairy vetch seed. Payment for the seed purchased is made by deduction of the cost of the seed from the 1939 Agricultural conservation payment. Nation's Food Abundant Federal Report Reveals

Despite a temporary market flurry after war was declared, national food supplies in almost all lines in the United States are abundant, according to a summary received from federal sources by Miss Lucy A. Case, specialist in foods and nutrition for the O. S. C. extension service. This abundance applies alike to sugar supplies, most kinds of meat, edible fats and oils, and fruit. While supplies of dairy products may be somewhat smaller than for the season 1938-39, per capita supplies will be larger than in the pre-depression average. Total output of ruck crops for fresh market shipment is smaller than last year but larger than in any other recent year.
