

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

FUN WITH LIGHT EFFECTS

Here, all the light comes from the right. Try different lighting effects with a subject such as this. Use the diagrams below as guides in placing your photo lights.

HALF the fun of taking snapshots at night is in working out novel lighting effects. You don't need a lot of lighting equipment, either. Two photo bulbs in cardboard reflectors, and a light-toned wall for a background—these enable you to evolve numerous interesting lightings that add value to your pictures.

The diagrams below show how you change the position of your camera to obtain different effects. S stands for subject, C for camera, and B for background. The number 1 indicates a No. 1 photo bulb in cardboard reflector, and 2 indicates a No. 2 bulb. These two bulbs, when in reflectors, are sufficient for box-camera snapshots on high speed film.

dramatic effect, with one light directed on the background. Right, a still more striking effect, with a light on the subject from either side. Second row, left, a silhouette effect, with one light behind the subject and turned toward the wall. Center, backlighting, with a light to the right behind the subject. Note shield "X" which keeps light from shining into the camera lens. At right, "halo" lighting, with one light behind the subject, shining through the hair.

In taking these shots, keep the lights the right distance from the subject, and don't let them shine into the camera lens. You should then get good pictures—and you'll find that careful arrangement of lights will make them more intensely interesting.
