When Killers Go Free

The U of O man was waiting at the Klamath Falls station for the early train—and his girl friend who was aboard. The talk turned on Bible salvation. "I never believe anything unless I can figure it out by logic," he concluded. Not a bad idea for a fellow taking an engineering course.

But can logic figure this one? The governor pardons a killer to save him from the electric chair. A pardon and the man goes free. Now can logic tell why God reverses the process? demands that first a death take place—then comes the pardon. Man's way: a pardon and death is sidestepped. God's way: A death and then the pardon.

The state lets the man go free but God is of too holy eyes to let him go free and do nothing about it. A death must take place first. The wages of sin is death. The soul that sinneth, it must die.

The New Standing

"Blessed are they whose sins are forgiven; whose iniquities are covered. Blessed is the man of whose sins the Lord will not take account." God has thrown your sins behind your back. He has blotted them out of the book of his remembrance. You stand in his holy eyes as though you had not committed even one sin in your whole lifetime. The blood of Jesus Christ cleanses from all sin. This is your standing in God's sight from the instant your heart lays hold on Jesus Christ as your own personal Saviour.

The New Man

you. The Holy Spirit moves into your heart to make you Christ-like within; without. As now a change begins within a rule liquor and the rough stuff drop off like dead leaves. You take your marching orders from the Bible and pray for strength to carry on. You wash dishes, mend fences and do Christmas work, all to the glory of God. You are not the same old sinner that you used to be. With the sin question eternally settled you have a new peace. Doing God's will to his glory is your joy; the stuff out of which life is now made. For all this you were created; for you have stepped into your destiny. You, the blood-bought children of God are a chosen race, a royal priesthood a holy nation, a people belonging to God, that you may make known the perfections of Him who called you out of the darkness into his marvellous light.
