AMERICANISM
"Americanism is unflinching love of country; loyalty to its institutions and ideals; eagerness to defend it against all enemies; undivided allegiance to the flag; and a desire to secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity."

PRINTING!

What is the greatest invention of all time? Would it be far wrong to rate printing as the No. 1 invention? Certainly nothing has contributed more to the spread of knowledge and the progress of mankind. So it is highly appropriate to celebrate the 5th centennial of the invention of printing from moveable types.

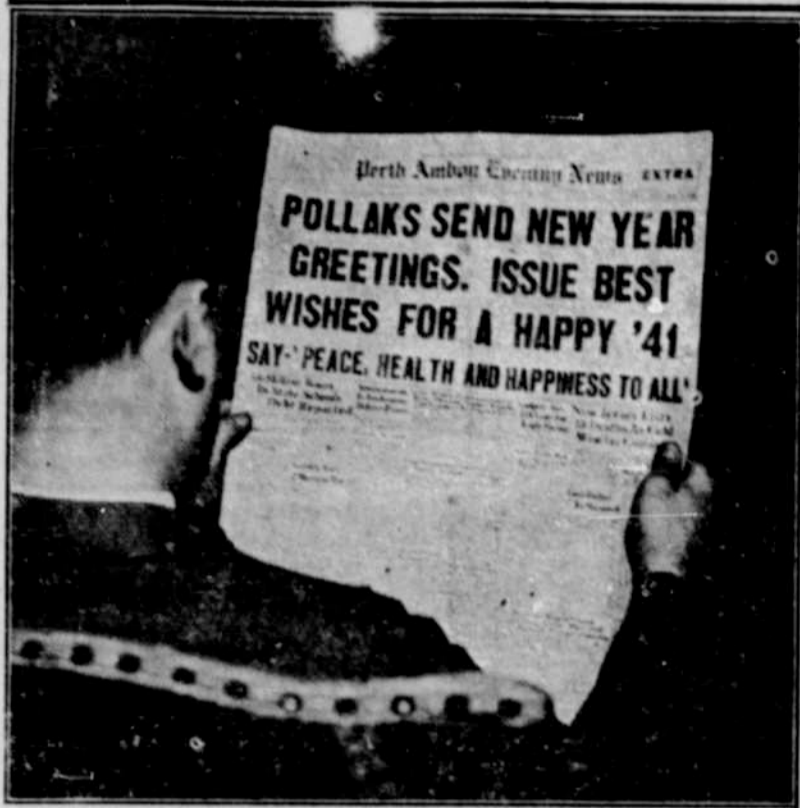

The unlimited variety and extent of printed material available is no more amazing than is the fact that it can be had at such an insignificant cost. For two cents you buy your Review, for 52 Reviews cost only $1.

For only a nickel we get one of the great weekly magazines containing 100,000 words of entertainment and current opinion. A popular novel like, "Gone With The Wind," for example with 137 pages and containing 475,000 words is now available in book stores for as little as 69 cents per copy.

In addition there are hundreds of specialized publications devoted to trades, science, religion and every other phase of human interest; text books, biographies, histories, encyclopedias, writings ancient and modern, in prose and poetry and sports magazines. There is also advertising, one form of which is the house organ. A wealth of printed materials is available at little cost enough and of a variety to suit any taste. And practically everything of real worth is accessible entirely free for reference purpose in our public libraries.

Everything that's printed today owes economical production to the ingenuity of Johann Gutenberg, who invented moveable type just 500 years ago. The Gutenberg Bible was the first book printed of which copies are in existence. The first press in the New

The SNAPSHOT GUILD YOUR GREETING CARDS

Easy to make with scissors and paste, a headline greeting makes a striking, effective, individual card. You'll find other ideas below.

CHRISTMAS means greeting cards—and for some of us, so does New Year's. I personally am in favor of both—because it's fun to create unusual cards, and two occasions offer twice as many opportunities as one.

Naturally, my cards are made with the camera—for there's nothing more personal than a good photographic greeting. In recent years, I have always tried to get the greeting right in the picture, along with some member of the family—or all of us. There are many novel methods of doing this, and most of them are quite easy.

For example, once we carefully stamped out the letters "Merry Christmas" in the new-fallen snow on the lawn. It was a sunny day, and late in the afternoon when the sun was low the letters showed up quite well, because of the shadows in them. We shot the picture, with the family and the house in the background—and there was our card.

Another time, we had a snow man in front of the house, holding a placard. He was striking in favor of merrier Christmases for everybody, and snow the year 'round.

Once back when Ann was a baby, we took her alphabet blocks and built a greeting with them. She appeared in the picture, of course, holding a block in her hand. Everybody liked that card so well we repeated it the next year, with variations. We took three pictures—each with an alphabet block message—saying "Merry Christmas," "From Ann," "And The Family." These were printed on special thin photographic paper, to make a double fold or "French fold" type of card. Any photofinisher can show you the right kind of paper, and how the card is planned.

Then one year we pictured Jack as a sandwich man, advertising merrier Christmases. We have also made newspaper paste-ups with big headlines for the greeting—very effective in an over-the-shoulder shot. A friend of ours has used that same idea for his New Year's cards this time; they're already made, and ready to mail when the time comes.

Among those ideas, you'll doubtless find a thought for your own photographic card this year. I'll offer just one suggestion. Keep the card simple, and do it early. Christmas has a way of slipping up on us—and you don't want your greetings to get stuck in the holiday rush.

John van Guilder

World was set up in Mexico City in 1539. Its earliest product of which there are identifiable remains—three pages of "Manual de Adultos"—is just 400 years old this year. In our Colonial days, the first press was owned by a woman. Her husband, Jose Glover, died at sea while bringing the press to America. She carried on and on this press the Bay Psalm Book was printed 300 years ago. We are proud of our profession.

EASTERN STAR ELECTS OFFICERS

Beaver Chapter, Order of Eastern Star held their regular meeting and election of officers Wednesday evening the 10th, being elected: Worthy Matron, Minnie Schoene; Worthy Patron, E. P. Hedberg; Associate Matron, Stella Ellis; Associate Patron, Virgil Myers; Conductress, Mrs. Goyt; Associate Conductress, Mrs. Scott. Two degrees were conferred, one by the courtesy girls. Later refreshments were served.

SEAL SALES AHEAD OF LAST YEAR

At the present time donations to the Christmas Seals sale by buying the seals are far ahead of last year's returns at this stage of the campaign. By last Saturday about $90.00 had been sent in to headquarters in Hillsboro, according to Mrs. Morgan, county seal sale chairman. Last year's campaign brought a total of $1432.32. This year a mark of about $2,000 is set—approximately 5c per capita. The success of the campaign so far has been contributed to the new mail-type sale.

When the last of the seals has been sold there are many uses for the money. A chart shows how the money that this county retains is given here:
14% dental health program
14% chest x-ray for tuberculosis suspects.
5% needs of patients in hospitals.
7% sales and expenses.
4% health education.
3% administration expenses.
3% cod liver oil for under-nourished children.

Of the other 50%, 5% is sent to the National Tuberculosis Association, and the remaining 45% to the Oregon Tuberculosis Association. It is possible, however, for the county to retain more than 50% of the funds if you will send any quota. By example, if donations reach a total which would bring 2c per capita, the county would keep 75% of the total. At the present time 20 patients from Washington County are being cared for by tuberculosis hospitals located at Salem, Portland, and The Dalles. Mrs. Florence Snider, formerly Miss Florence Vastleff, and her husband have moved to Tacoma Washington, where he is employed in electrical construction work on a Bonneville project.

Good-Bye Little Nations

Little Nation, can you stop the fleet of planes that drop death on your women and children? Can you shut out tanks that run thru every barrier and open the way for troops to pour in and enslave you?

No, Little Nation, you are helpless. Your day is gone and with it the culture and way of life your loved when you were free. No more can you live as of old. So seems the trend.

Have not the little nations the right to live and why does not God do something about it? Did not the angels sing, "On earth peace, good will toward men!" After twenty centuries of spreading the Gospel, where is the peace? Why does not God act? GOD DOES ACT

From the day when He offered up Christ as a sacrifice to blot out our sin and guilt, God has been busy, but not to end war. That comes later. This is the day of grace. God has had man under a test these years. This test—"Do you accept Jesus Christ as the Substitute Who died to clear you of all sin?" "Christ died for our sins." -Bible Does your heart rest in that? In He yours? Can you say, "I have a Saviour and new life within me?" And do you pledge to obey Christ as the Lord of your life, looking to Him for the power to do God's will? Under this test God has been calling out a people for His name and making them like Christ Himself. That has been the program.

After the roll-call of the redeemed is completed, God is to raise the curtain on a new scene. Christ is to return, end wars and set up equity and justice. He is to bring in the Thousand Years of glorious reign when every man will sit under his own vine and fig tree.

The many prophecies as to Christ's First Coming in humility to save sinful men were fulfilled to the letter. By that we count on the many more prophecies that say He is to come a second time in power and glory to set up His personal rule over the earth. The Bible for it that

His people will be raised at the beginning of the Thousand Years to be with Him forever. The lost dead are to be raised at the end-time to meet their sins and Judgment. Which are you?
