White House Sets Style for 1941 Home Parties

The table decorations shown above were designed by Lester Gaba, famous designer (lower right) to be used by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt on January 14 when she gives her first party in a chain of Home Parties for the benefit of the 1941 Fight Infantile Paralysis campaign at the White House. The same design will be adapted by hostesses throughout the nation who are planning informal daytime luncheons, teas, bridges and children's parties for this cause. Top: a table set about done in red, white and blue crepe paper, materials for which cost $221. Lower left: one of the placards at the table, showing the "Helping Hands for the Helpless" placards of gold paper. Lower right: Mr. Gaba making the decorations.

Fighting for a New Europe

BRITAIN, struggling tenaciously against aggression in its battle for freedom, does not fight alone. Beside the soldiers of the British Commonwealth, fight the armies of the occupied but unconquered sectors of Europe, united in one common cause: their right to freedom. The photos show: 1—King Haakon in London, reviewing members of the Norwegian Nursing Service, who are on night duty during the bombing raids. 2—"Somewhere in Scotland," soldiers of the Polish Army who escaped from one country to another after invasion of their own, seek their ally, France to Poland. 3—American girls living in England who are helping the British war effort. 4—Green flying foxes, a new type of aircraft, are being developed in England.

The American Flag

When Freedom from her mountain height,
 Unfurled her standard to the air,
 She tore the azure robe of night,
 And set the stars of glory there.
 She mingled with its gorgeous dyes
 The milky baldric of the skies,
 And striped its pure celestial white
 With streakings of the morning light!
 Then, from his mansion in the sun,
 She called her eagle-bearer down,
 And gave into his mighty hand
 The symbol of her chosen land.
