Obituary.

Christopher Ledgerwood was born in Clay Co., Mo., Oct. 24, 1846. He crossed the plains to Oregon in 1864, and first settled in Douglas county. Here he was married to Mary E. Quine, Dec. 8, 1872. To this union three children were born, two of whom died when quite small children. In 1879 Mr. Ledgerwood moved with his family to Washington, where he lived for 15 years. Then he returned to Oregon and came to Bandon in 1897, where he lived till his death on Feb. 19, 1911. For a time Mr. Ledgerwood conducted a hardware store in partnership with Mr. Corson where the Bank of Bandon now stands. In recent years he has lived on his farm two miles south of Bandon.

In spite of much suffering he died happy in his christian faith.

He leaves a wife and daughter (Mrs. Minnie Chandler), and three brothers, Thomas Joseph and Jacob, all three of whom reside in Washington.

Funeral services were conducted at the residence, Monday, Feb. 20th, at 2 p.m. by Rev. Adolph Haberly, and interment was made in the Bandon cemetery.

Bernell Stock Co.

The Bernell Stock Co. which played "Piney Ridge" Saturday night and "A Bachelor's Romance" Sunday night at the Grand Theatre, succeeded in drawing a full house each night and the big audiences were highly pleased with the work of this excellent troupe, and they will surely be greeted with a full house every time they appear here, for with each appearance the clever work of the troupe becomes more popular.

They will be here again tomorrow night when they will put on "The Girl of the Golden West."

The motion pictures shown by Mr. Sellmer between acts were also very fine and the Indian picture—"Pah Tuk" which was shown Saturday night was an exceptionally good one.

Taken all in all the evening's entertainments were a credit both to the Bernell Stock Co. and to Mr. Sellmer.

The music by Kausrud's Orchestra was also a big feature of the evenings and much enjoyed by all.

Four Mile Notes.

This fine weather makes every one have spring fever. Quite a number are plowing and putting in early grain.

Mr. Randle and family, a nephew of Mrs. Buell of Four-mile, have taken up a place on the north fork of Four-mile; they have been moving their household goods up to the place. It is something of an up hill job as the roads up Four-mile are far from dusty.

John Tucker took a beef to town last week. Good beef is hard to get these days.

Miss Anna Bethel has been visiting her aunt Mrs. Frank Pomeroy of Bandon. Returned home last week accompanied by her grandmother, Mrs. Fraund, who came down to visit her daughter, Mrs. Bethel.

Born—to Mr. and Mrs. John Bowman, at Langlois, Feb. 18th, a fine big boy.

W. P. Pomeroy moved into their new house they have just had built on the McClellan ranch. He has a number of fresh cows, and expects to dairy on a large scale this summer; he bought the boiler and engine of D. W. Gardner, also a large separator, Mr. Gardner having quit dairying, expecting to go into the sheep business.

Ed Cyphers' home on Flora creek was burned to the ground last week. It is reported that nothing was saved. Some of the children were sleeping up stairs and had to be taken out of the up stairs window. The fire was supposed to have started from the fire place after all had gone to bed. PETE

A Thousand Years Are But As One Day Before You, Oh, Lord!

The friendly reader who has followed my descriptions over mountains, deserts, plains, through valleys and backwoods, is now with me at the beach of the Pacific ocean, there to observe the gold shining in all creeks among the black sand. Gold, for which anything can be bought these days, even votes, gold, which is the measure of the owner, gold, which opens any door he it what ever you desire; gold, only gold. Here it lays, anywhere wherever you find black sand. I wonder how did it come here? In its primitive state it was and is today a solution or liquid; aided by nature's magnetic currents which pass from east to west, a process is established similarly to the plating by galvanizing.

Nature's relationship of one thing to the other demands a base upon which this liquid gold takes hold and this is found in iron.

Thus iron again dissolved must be prepared and finds quartz a most closely related companion, hence by crystallization this quartz containing iron is colored red by its iron oxide, blue by iron oxide, and among such we find gold deposited in veins. Not all quartz contains gold, pure white or bull quartz is one of such. Nor are all veins of quartz able to be worked upon by such magnetic currents. The most favorable currents run in a northerly and southwesterly direction.

True we have exceptions, such as in California where to a certain extent they are changed.

By volcanic eruptions, which when the earth was soft and covered with water, arose the mountains above the level of the seas; there in course of many millions of years they hardened; but other disturbances dislodged parts of the hardened crust, broke up the formations established and in their fall became crushed and broken up, scattering with it such gold bearing veins—thus forming ridges and gulches and there by the action of the water in its flight to the lower lands assisted in breaking up more of the loose quartz and liberating the gold, which by rocks bearing this metal became more and more flattened and broke it up into small sized colors.

Onward by the force of the water it was carried, not steadily, but in intervals of time such as conditions of many ways created it, and at last reached the ocean.

Each flood kept changing its position—tons and tons were washed into the depth of the sea, which by heavy storms from the west washed back more or less and is left by extreme high tides, until again high water may again remove it or shifting sands cover these deposits for all time.

There is another way in which we find gold. It has been found in specimens—of the origin of this form I can not speak to-day and must leave the description until later on.

Millions of years have passed since these deposits of black sand, containing gold, platinum and other minerals, metals and gems, such as iridium, osmium fathers of diamonds (pure carbon,) rubies (silver and iron,) etc.

Since these changes have come to pass tremendous revolutions on the surface of the earth have changed the topography in many places. Gold bearing black sand by an ordinary high flood, may deposit one-half of a millimeter of such; low tides may take it back. With all such changes in the depositing of it there are deposits near Randolph and Whisky Run which by running drifts and mining such sands; as in former years Col. Lane, Joe Wright, Lockhard and Al. Pershaker have worked them. We find such deposits from four to six feet deep; among this sand we also find the remains of large red wood trees and the whole is covered with more than sixty feet of white sand.

Upon this covering fifty years ago extremely large fir and pine tree trunks rests many hundreds years old, reaching with but very small breaks from the coast to the foot hills of the coast range.

Where are they now? So called civilization has done its work—gone, burned, destroyed in one way or the other. Only scrub trees, huckle berry bushes and thistles give take of what the white men have done—charred, black stumps rearing their dead bodies heavenward, marks of graves, no inscription but readily it can be read by anyone who saw and will see. The sinful, wanton, and disposition of the white man has destroyed God's products, a wealth of this country. —Pohl.
