Young Beattie's singing merrily in his cell after conviction will not strike the average person as anything in his favor.

The Complexion is cleared wonderfully by freely eating of apples; one before breakfast and one before retiring is recommended for this purpose.

If you appreciate speed, comfort and safety, travel on the Stmr. Fidelity.

It is said by men who have tried it, years in and years out, that the Standard Oil Company always has its tank cars of gasoline and oil 10 per cent short. Strange to say, its tax assessments are shorter than that in Oregon.

Port Orford will soon have a school house 30x60 with an ell 30x40 two stories and a basement. The contract has been let to C. H. Pearce of that place at $5,000, who agreed to have the building completed by July 1st, 1912. This is a nice improvement for that place and one which will have a good effect on prospective settlers.

Mrs. O. Wren returned last week from a visit to Astoria, where she had been calling on friends and taking in the big Centennial Celebration.

We are complete house furnishers and fix your home up from kitchen to parlor. Bandon Furniture Co.

Miss Ebba Wren is teaching school at Randolph, having commenced Monday morning. This is Miss Wren's first term of school but she is thoroughly competent in every particular and will undoubtedly meet with much success.

Fine White Leghorn and White Plymouth Rock cockerels for sale. Carl Nelson, Bandon.

Messrs McKinnis Swengel and Osborn have returned from their hunting trip in the mountains and are displaying a nice lot of deer horns and jerked venison. They killed twelve deer and could have killed two or three times as many if they had been out for slaughter. They saw 35 deer the day they broke camp, which is certainly going some.

Orvil Dodge and Dr. Collins of Myrtle Point have gone to Portland to purchase additional machinery with which to operate the Salmon Mountain gold mines in which they are interested.

Married, at the office of Judge E. G. D. Holden in Coquille, Monday Sept. 18, 1911, Willoughby P. Howe and Mary N. Edwards, both of Bandon, Judge Holden officiating.—Coquille Herald.

WANTED TO RENT—Piano, must be in good condition. See Miss Mary Marsh, or phone 41.

As a result of an inspection of the old Coos Bay wagon road near Sumner last week, and a conference between County Commissioners Hall and Armstrong and Messrs Hugh McLain and R. M. Jennings, arrangements were made for the temporary improvement of the highway. Planks will be put in at the worst places and the work will be rushed as rapidly as possible.

C. W. Burgess of the Estabrook Co., who has been in Bandon a few days looking after business for the company, returned to San Francisco on the Fidelity.

You boost for a good thing, don't you? Boost for the Stmr. Fidelity and you will then boost the "good thing" along.

Rev. Wm. Horsfall went to Coquille Saturday where he held services Sunday.

The twelfth annual convention of the California State Federation of Labor will be held in Bakersfield, commencing October 2.

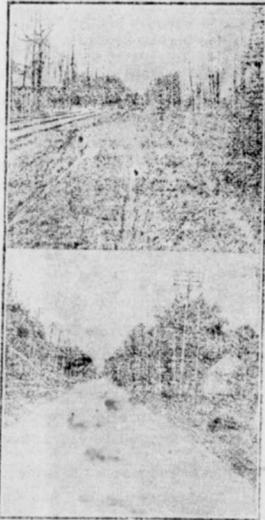

The salmon season has arrived and fishing has started in earnest, although the run will probably not be large for a couple of weeks yet. However, the fishermen report that they are more than making expenses and are hopeful of making a good thing when the fish start to run in earnest.

Letters received from M. J. McKenna, by some of his friends here sound rather suspicious. He is on his way home now and in his letters always says "we." He also stated that he would "buy" when he gets back to Bandon. So his friends have "put two and two" together and have drawn their own conclusions. We will wait developments and see what the result will be.

MANY COUNTIES STRIVING TO ELIMINATE RUTS

By Building Concrete Macadam Roads. A Success in Michigan.

Concrete macadam roads are being built in many parts of the country in an attempt to secure roadways that will not loosen up under automobile travel nor rut under heavy trucking. Wayne county, Mich., has built these roads for the past two seasons and now has nearly eight miles of two course concrete macadam roadways. In these roads the bottom layer is a

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

A WOMAN sometimes finds it hard to decide whether it is better to die an old maid or wear the same hat three seasons.

A man's idea of a womanly woman is one who wouldn't wear trousers skirts.

A woman's idea of a manly man is one who doesn't complain when the baby cries at 1 a. m.

When a woman wants to pronounce a dire curse on man in general she wishes he might have to wear skirts for four consecutive days.

A man never realizes how much he once knew till his young son reaches high school age.

When a woman discards all her comfortable house furnishings and goes in for polished floors and furniture built on cubic measure lines you know she is the victim of the "Good Taste and Bad Taste" column of the woman's magazines.

Is the trousers skirt an outcome of the suffrage movement or the inlet of insurgency?

A man with a new auto has as many friends as a successful candidate.

Old Grimes. He didn't care for it. We never shall see him more. For so superior was he. The neighbors all got sore.

Old Mrs. Grimes made butter and cheese. Grimes carried them to town. And every cent he sold them for. You bet he salted down.

Old Grimes he used to drink the whey. But at the very thought of waste Old Grimes he threw a fit.

His children had to drink it, too. And when they cried for bread. He gave to them a spanking time. And sent them off to bed.

Old Mrs. Grimes had one new dress. She had to make that garment do. Until old Grimes was dead.

He used to wear a long tailed coat. All buttoned down before. And so he didn't need a shirt. And thus he saved some more.

But when he went the neighbors said, "He was a good old guy." But that's the way it always goes. No matter who may die.

Something Like That. "How do they make a dash for the pole?" "I don't know. I never made one." "But how do you suppose?" "Well, to tell the truth I have always supposed those dashes were something like the printer's dashes we use when we don't want to say the thing out right: — | — | — |"

Accomplished. "He can't do a single thing well." "Who, Percy?" "Yes." "Oh, you are mistaken." "I'd like to know what he can do." "Make perfectly lovely popcorn balls."

Hard on Both. "Women are foolish in their hobble skirts." "Too bad, isn't it?" "Yes." "But then, you know, men are foolish in their hobble brains, so there!"

Needs Experience. "Do you believe in fighting the devil with fire?" "I don't know about that?" "Sure. It's the only thing to do." "Not unless you are insured and belong to the crack fire company."

Why She Likes It. "Don't you just love the spring?" "Sometimes." "Not always?" "Well, I do if the new spring shades are pretty and becoming."

Tells It All. "He ran for office." "What office?" "The one the other fellow got."

Weary Willie's Opinion. "There is some compensation in being blind." "I can't see it." "Why?" "Well, you can not see the dog for one thing." "But a man looking for work couldn't dodge it."

Mystery. To see poor April shedding tears— It pricks me to the quick. I wonder is her lover false Or if her folks are sick.

The Lazy Man. "Perform as you promise." "Exhibitions won't be more frequent than once a month then."

Kind. "He has money to burn." "Well, let's show him how to start a bonfire."

SIRES AND SONS.

J. G. Phelps Stokes, the Socialist, is a surgeon and physician, with hospital and dispensary experience.

John D. Crimmins, the New York millionaire, owns the most valuable collection of autographs in America.

Batler Ames, member of congress from Massachusetts, is a grandson of General Benjamin Butler and a son of General Adelbert Ames.

M. Santos-Dumont will never make a flight unless he carries with him a mass of in the shape of a small medal, which was given to him by a French countess.

William George Flake, who recently celebrated his one hundredth birthday anniversary in London, is said to be the only English lawyer who ever lived to be 100 years old. He was admitted to the bar in 1835.

Sven Hedin even when a small boy had a passion for travel. When only fifteen years of age he had made a number of maps illustrating the routes taken by the various expeditions in search of the north pole.

M. Gueshoff, Bulgarian prime minister for foreign affairs, is a prominent English scholar. He visited London in 1839 and 1885, when he presented the cause of the union of eastern Roumelia and Bulgaria. On several occasions he has held the highest positions in the government.

He Got Even. Justus Miles Forman once in writing a story for Harper's Magazine used the name of an artist friend for the character of a chap who fell in love with a peasant girl in the Milanese. "It made all his friends roar with glee," said Mr. Forman. "But he got even with me by making a large twenty-four sheet poster for a musical comedy. There was a lady, the star, stepping out of a stage door and a long line of Johnnies waiting for her with silly smiles and bunches of violets. And every Johnnie was a portrait of me."

A Witty Retort. As is generally the case with people who have nothing to say worth hearing, a conceited drummer talked a great deal, to the evident disgust of a number of his commercial friends who were dining at a country hotel. When chosen was served it was of a decidedly "lively" brand, much to the delight of the irrefragable. He attacked it with great gusto, remarking, "I'm like Samson—slaying them by the thousand!" "Yes," replied a quick witted diner at the end of the table, "and with the same weapon too!"

Painfully Polite. A Washington trolley car was getting under way when two women, rushing from opposite sides of the street to greet each other, met right in the middle of the car track and in front of the car. There the two stopped and began to talk. The car stopped, too, but the women did not appear to realize that it was there. Certainly.

tain of the passengers, whose heads were immediately thrust out of the windows to ascertain what the trouble was, began to make sarcastic remarks, but the two women heeded them not. Finally the motorman showed that he had a saving sense of humor. Leaning over the dashboard, he inquired in the gentlest of tones: "Pardon me, ladies, but shall I get you a couple of chairs?"—Lippincott's.
