Oregon has an opportunity to attract settlers from the Middle West by making a good exhibit at the Northwestern Products Exposition at Minneapolis, November 12-25, according to Will A. Campbell, secretary, who has lately visited Portland. There is nothing so convincing as an actual exhibit of what a state can produce, he says, to win settlers. Such a demonstration is held to be more forceful than any amount of advertising or any other form of exploitation.

Tom Lewis has disposed of the wood business at the Moore Lumber Co.'s mill to R. H. Rice who now has charge of the same and will continue to deliver wood to Bandon people whenever notified of their wants.

R. & N., Southern Pacific and Oregon Short Line roads.

Now that the three year homestead bill seems certain to become a law, interest is being aroused anew in Oregon's vacant land. Statistics have been gathered from the records of the General Land Office showing there is lots of room in this state for the homesteader, there being 15,959,377 acres still unappropriated. This is a little more than one-quarter of the state's area. Every county in the state has its quota and while most of the land is far from the larger towns, much of it is fertile and will be productive when tilled.

Oregon will have a delegation in attendance at the Northwestern Development League Congress at Seattle, June 5, 6, 7 and 8. Representatives have been named by the Governor and Oregon speakers have been given places on the program. Subjects of interest to the whole Northwest will be discussed.

WARNING AGAINST GREED.

Greed of Americans in their wild desire to pile up gold is a present day parallel of the dragon of disloyalty and jealousy that refused supplies to the army of George Washington at Valley Forge, the same that called Lincoln a clown and a creaker and Grover Cleveland a wife beater. The Union stands strong against outside assault since it received its baptism of blood under Lincoln. Unless we ourselves surrender our right to be the only arbiters of its fortunes it is safe against foreign foes. No one will attack us. But from within there has come a peril against which it behooves us to make a solid and united front. Wealth has piled up. Poverty, in our cities especially, seems more greivous by the contrast. This is a real peril, for the very soul of a democracy is this—a fair opportunity for every one. But with the piling up of great fortunes the human greed and selfishness which no political system can ever cure as long as men are what they are have grown like a deadly yew tree, and there has come a gap in our ranks in which we hear the old dragon of disloyalty hiss.—Jacob Ellis.

QUEENS ON WOMAN'S SPHERE.

Being gentle and good seems to me the loftiest ambition a woman should possess. No reward of wealth or state can equal the satisfaction felt in performing a kindly act. It is a tendency of woman's nature to be too harsh in judgment, too imperious in commands. The exchange for this of kindness and gentleness surely ought to make the world better.—Margherita, Queen Dowager of Italy.

Secure a home and be able to manage it. Be to the home what her husband is to his business affairs, a director and an authority. I believe a woman ought to bear children. A home without children is not complete.—Alexandra, Queen Dowager of England.
