Local Lore

L. J. Cody returned Sunday from a two week's trip to Portland and eastern Oregon. He reports business very flourishing in the parts of the state he has visited.

A. S. Elliott and family returned from Marshfield Saturday. Mr. Elliott had been on the Bay several days on business and Mrs. Elliott and children went over Friday returning with Mr. E. Saturday evening.

The Orange Pharmacy, sells and guarantees the famous A. D. S. Remedies.

Jos. Coumerilh of Blackfoot, Idaho, who had been visiting his son, B. J. Coumerilh and family left last week for his home.

The dredge Oregon which has been on Coos Bay for some time will be taken to Grays Harbor at once to work out a government project in that harbor.

New goods, fresh drugs, at the Orange Pharmacy next to Orpheum Theatre.

At a meeting of the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce last Friday night, D. C. Greene, manager of the Oregon Power Co., on Coos Bay, was elected president of the organization to succeed Dr. J. T. McCormac who resigned owing to the fact that he expects to spend a part of each year in California.

One point brought out by Congressman Hawley while here was the importance of having facts and figures to present to the Rivers and Harbors Committee when an appropriation for our improvement project is asked. For this reason he visited Bandon and the Coquille river to get such data as could be had and to urge the people to act in co-operation with him in this matter. By doing so it will be much easier for him to get what he asks of the committee. All who are interested in the harbor and have any data should furnish the same to Mr. Hawley, or to some one who will see that it gets in Mr. Hawley's hands.

J. W. Copeland of Dayton, Ohio, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for his boy who had a cold, and before the bottle was all used the boy's cold was gone. Is that not better than to pay a five dollar doctor's bill? For sale by C. Y. Lowe.

Ladies—Miss V. Beyerle makes chic and classy hats, the only kind you should wear. Come and be convinced.

F. B. Cameron, former editor of the defunct Agitator, has applied to the County Court for a license to run a saloon in the South Slough precinct, notice of which appears in the Marshfield Record. It is signed by a number of the thirty residents of that precinct. This is the first instance we know of, says the Coos Bay Harbor, where a printer became a dealer in liquors. They are as a class more successful purchasers than sellers, and there are few printers who do not buy—Coquille Herald.

Remember Dr. Harry E. Hermann the eyesight specialist will be at Hotel Gallier Tuesday and Wednesday, October 8th and 9th. 7712 and artistic is the jewelry on view here. It is more than that too. It is of a character that permits both giver and receiver to regard the gift with pride. But with all its high class our jewelry is not expensive. A visit of inspection and inquiry will prove that fact conclusively.

Capt. Jensen of the Field is quite ill at his home in this city. As he was unable to sail with his boat Sunday, she went out in the care of the first mate, who is also a man with good papers.

ESTRAED—Jersey cow with white spots, and a bell on. Finder please report to J. H. Gould. 76 t 3.

E. M. Gallier who has been on the sick list for several days is not improving as rapidly as his friends hoped he might, but all are in hopes that he may be out again soon.

Quite a number of Bandonians went over to take in the Pendleton Round up which is said to be bigger and better this year than ever before.

P. H. H. is commencing to warm up a little in this section, although there is considerable apathy, considering the fact that it is a presidential year. But Coos county people are so prosperous and conditions for the future are so good that no one seems to care a great deal who is elected as we will have prosperity just the same.

Attorney Walter Sinclair was down from Coquille on legal business last Saturday.

FOR SALE—4 horses, 3½ in. wagon, incubator, 8 doz. chickens, 3 doz. Pekin ducks. Inquire E. E. Stillwell, Twomile. 7714x

Snipe season opened this morning and several of our Bandon hunters were on deck as early as they could see to bag a bunch of the birds.

Mrs. Julia Barrows who has been spending some time in Santa Rosa California has returned and will again take up her residence in Bandon.

E. L. Strader of Twomile was in Bandon yesterday and paid the Recorder office a pleasant call. Mr. Strader is now doing the logging for Youngs mill which is located near his place.

Editor J. C. Savage of the Coquille Sentinel was in Bandon on business one day last week.

Don't forget the meeting of the Bandon Commercial Club in Concrete hall Thursday night. Everybody interested in the welfare of Bandon should be present.

The Orange Pharmacy, Bandon's new drugstore is ready for business.

Prison Reform in Manila.

The average man would hardly think of going to the Philippines to look for an advanced program of prison reform, and yet there is now in operation at Bilibid prison, Manila, a system of promotions that might be copied with advantage in some of our own penal institutions. There sixteen guards control 3,000 prisoners because, as one of the officials expresses it, "there is a moral force at work stronger than armed guards." This moral force is evoked by a definite and rational system, which is thus described:

There are three divisions of the prisoners, according to conduct. The newcomer goes into the third or lowest class. If in his first six months he obtains a rank of 20 per cent he moves to the second class, and if in six months more he attains 50 per cent he goes to the first class, with special privileges, making him almost a free man in his little community. He is marked daily by each one under whose supervision he comes, and these marks are turned over to an office accountant, who does not know the prisoner. That the system of promotions has justified itself is shown by the fact that since its introduction the numbers have changed from 80 per cent in the third class to over 90 per cent in the first. Charges of infraction of prison rules are investigated by a special court, and the prisoner has every opportunity to present his defense.

Two, of the strongest moral forces in the human heart are emulation and ambition. This system of promotions simply takes advantage of these natural forces. It makes appeal to man's sporting instinct to run the race and to excel. It opens the door of hope. Here is one concrete result:

Of few prisons can it be said that a discharge is a letter of recommendation, but the man released from Bilibid does not hesitate in applying for work, to state where he learned his trade, and seldom, if ever, is he refused a job on that account.

"Can any good thing come out of Nazareth?" Is Manila to teach us how to treat our prisoners?

The New York police say that the judges are responsible for the existence of gambling. The judges report that the police are responsible. The buck is passed so much in Gotham that it is nearly worn out.

Police Commissioner Waldo of New York admits that there is a little police graft. That is like a man at the time of the flood remarking that it was quite a shower.

It is reported that Castro is coming to the United States. Well, we have enough exes and has-beens to make him feel at home.

The New York gambler who was assassinated may be called a dead game sport.

The Love That Lets Go.

Fiction is filled with stories of men who loved their sweethearts enough to let them go, but we find few enough instances of the sort in real life. Yet one such comes to light by way of Milwaukee, and it shall not pass without being chronicled. The name of the man is Simon Koppel, and he is a ragpicker. Simon is seventy-seven, and his wife is fifty. Because he loves her so much that he cannot endure seeing her go hungry Simon recently applied for a divorce so that she might be free to marry some younger man who would care for her.

Here are some nuggets from the ragpicker's philosophy:

"We poor people need more love in our lives, for we have so little else."

"Would one be so selfish as to make the one he loves suffer so she can be near him?"

"I am nearly done with this world. My wife has many years yet to live. I love my wife, and she loves me. But I can't support her. I can't let her go hungry, so I say that we go to a judge and get a divorce, and she can get a younger man."

"Do I love my wife? It is because I do love my wife that I will give her to another who can give her a better living than me."

It is of record that John Ruskin released his wife because she loved another. Yet Ruskin had his books and his ideals, his fame and his friends. But what has the poor ragpicker? He gives up all.

Chicago professors have done almost everything else, and now one of them has turned burglar. It is said that he is insane. This is believed to be the first time that dementia among Chicago professors has taken this exact form.

President Taft and Governor Wilson must have been "tipped off" on their nominations, as both had their speeches of acceptance ready when the notification committees appeared.

Twenty thousand Chinese soldiers voluntarily withdrew their names from the pay list in order to relieve the strain upon the public finances. There's bravery for you.

Bandon Facing a Thorough Cleaning.

Progressive housewives and local grocers will remember H. A. B. Sneve of Seattle, who spent two weeks here a year ago, working up shortening trade for the local grocers, and wound up his campaign by conducting a monster baking contest at the Grand theatre.

Mr. Sneve is now in Bandon again to spend a couple of weeks with the local grocers in the interest of the 20 Mule Team Borax and soap products.

If Bandon lacks sanitation after Mr. Sneve finishes his campaign here it is safe to say it will be no fault of his or the "20 Mule Team."

Mrs. James Cowan and daughter Myrtle of Marshfield visited the lady's sister Mrs. C. R. Wade the latter part of last week.
