Coos County Roads.

It is to be hoped that the various Commercial Clubs and others interested will continue the agitation for good roads until tangible results shall be secured. The Bandon Commercial Club will discuss the road question at its various meetings and the citizens of Bandon should attend and lend all support possible. All agree that good roads are indispensable. No community can prosper without roads. It is therefore up to the people to get them. Good roads can not be purchased ready made and shipped in; nor will much else be shipped in or shipped out, if we except lumber unless there are roads over which to haul. The rancher loses money in the way of loss of time, horseflesh and by breakage when roads are bad and almost impossible. The few extra dollars taxes required to make a good road will be saved almost on every trip the rancher makes to market over a good road instead of a bad one. The ranchers should cooperate with the Commercial Clubs as well as with the county officials to create a public sentiment which will demand that Coos county shall have wagon roads over which the ranchers can haul their produce in all seasons of the year.

Talk of the absentmindedness of professors! One morning recently Mr. Harry Hunt lost considerable time as well as temper trying to find his trousers. Mr. Hunt was fast working himself into an ominous state of mind when his young son Alvin pointed out to his maternal ancestor that he, Mr. Hunt, already had his trousers on; whereupon Mr. Hunt quietly subsided.

A week ago one of our leghorn pullets suffered a broken leg, we splinted and bound the broken leg and now the pullet is singing around pretending like she is going to lay for us. If she is deceiving us it will be only one more case of ingratitude. The doctrine of one man rule is being rapidly relegated to the mystic realms of innocuous desuetude. What we mean to say is that it has about fizzled out.

Today (Friday) five men must hang at the state penitentiary. Poor fellows! Suppose your son were among them. Is it a weakness to feel sorry? We think not. Drop a tear.

Scientists tell us when a goose loses its mate it remains disconsolate and lonely the rest of its life; but then it is only a goose.

How many times have you innocently promised that you would not marry again in case your wife should die first?

The Y. M. C. A. which was mixed up in the recent scandal in Portland has been exonerated from all blame. Now are you glad or sad?

To follow the beaten track of all newspapers the RECORDER suggests, shop early and avoid the Christmas rush.

Another way to make money is to cultivate your bump of humor instead of your fighting faculty.

Peace on earth and good will to men goes fairly well with a piece of earth and goods roads for men.

According to an old French proverb some people are so good they are good for nothing.

This is the time of the year when the festive fly has a happy faculty of falling in the gravy.

Which do you prefer—port wine or pot of Pan'lon?

The kicker that makes us the maddest is the old cow.

You can't beat Bandon breezes.

There is an old saying that law is common sense; but it doesn't read that way in the law books.

Intemperance is a curse and some otherwise good men insist upon being cursed that way.

All two loquacious persons have to know to get into an argument is the same language.

Old Jack Frost is always in a hurry when he visits Bandon; he doesn't stay long.

The individual who has the disposition of a buzzard is bound to find something rotten.

Health is a good thing to have on hand, and also on other parts of the body.

The man who stands on his dignity is apt to have his corns tramped on.

There are many who would much rather criticize than to praise.

Another way to attract a man's attention is to knock him down.

Soon Bandon will be forced to build ward schools.

However, the owner of a pug nose can smell with it.

Lawyers learn to be tricky to keep even with their clients.

A big talker is often a little thinker.

The peace of many homes is destroyed by too much talk.

Some men actually think too much of a woman to marry her.

Your bump of egotism, like your corn needs paring down occasionally.

We contend that it is more profitable to split wood than to split hairs.

New Code of Fish Laws.

The State Board of Fish Commissioners is just in the act of compiling a new code of the laws pertaining to the fishing industry, to be submitted to the coming session of the state legislature and are desirous of suggestions from the Coquille River fisherman, regarding the closed season, dead line or any other subject of importance. Any changes desired in any of these laws will be given attention by the commissioner in making up the code.

New York City is to be the largest office building in the world, but this will be on account of the large ground area which it is to occupy, for the structure will be but 36 stories in height—only relatively a "sky-scraper" in a city which contains 43, 48 and 55-story buildings.

The German petroleum monopoly bill, intended to oust the Standard Oil Company from Germany, is reported to have been adopted by the federal council, with certain alterations to assure disinterested control of the company, instead of allowing it to be placed in the hands of banks interested in oil production.

Conservative Germans deplore the use of Roman characters in printing German books. An appeal for the continued use of the Gothic letter is said to have been signed by six hundred university professors and other literary and scientific men. Aside from sentimental grounds, they contend that the Gothic character is more legible than the Roman.

The new Equitable Building in the fiscal year 1912 about $30,000,000 worth of American automobiles found markets abroad, as against less than $1,000,000 worth ten years ago.

Tillamook Rock Broken.

Portland, Or., Dec. 12—beaten loose by mountainous waves pounding against it, a section of Tillamook Rock, on which stands a lighthouse dropped into the sea during the terrific storm that coast October 18 and 19. The first news of the affair reached Henry L. Beck, inspector of the 17th Lighthouse District, having been forwarded by William Dahlgren, the keeper there. The lighthouse was also damaged by huge waves. It was the west portion of the rock that was carried away. A rather large fissure or crack had been noticeable between the section detached and the main rock for years. Inspector Beck estimates the portion of the rock which toppled into the ocean amounted to something like 100 tons.
