Oregon Development News.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 28 (Special) Further expression of the sentiment in favor of "earth education" that is so strong throughout Oregon today will be given February 12, which has been made children's day in the Country Life movement. At that time schools of the state are expected to pay special attention to the subject of the development of Oregon's soil, the improvement of our farms and the betterment of country life generally.

Special programs will be arranged in the various schools, and in many towns and villages parades will be held by school children. The slogan decided on for the occasion will be: "Better Farms Will Build the State."

The idea to be worked out everywhere is that the movement to make better farms and to improve the farm homes of Oregon is a step that makes for the prosperity of all the people. Life on the farm, if made more profitable, will become more attractive and happier homes mean contented people and an increased country population.

It is desired that Senate Bill 72, a measure before the Legislature to provide for extension work by the Oregon Agricultural College, be discussed by the pupils of the schools on February 12 and teachers and school boards are urged to make the necessary preparations. A copy of this bill will be sent them in time for this event.

This measure plans to extend the benefits of the Oregon Agricultural College to every county in Oregon. Co-operative demonstration farms will be one of the chief means used.

Each county or district of the state will be supplied with these institutions and the experts from the O. A. C. in charge will go into partnership with the farmers in solving soil problems and in exploiting agriculture to the limit of its possibilities.

Senate Bill 72 asks that the state this year appropriate a sufficient amount to start this work on a satisfactory basis, the counties to share in the benefits also being expected to set aside funds to carry the project along. The Federal Government, too, will be drawn upon for money, it having made provisions for extension work of the various states.

It is only by such an arrangement that the government funds can be obtained to further demonstration farm work in this state. To get what it is entitled to in this direction, the state must show its interest by taking this movement up in earnest and all those who favor the development of Oregon's agricultural possibilities, its biggest asset, are behind the proposed measure.

At a recent meeting held in Portland, the Central Oregon Development League, which drafted the bill, the Oregon Development League, the State Bankers' Association, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the Oregon Agricultural College, the livestock interests, the railroads and the business men of Portland were all represented and agreed that the need of the hour is agricultural extension work that shall reach to every part of the state. All present pledged their support to the bill now before the Legislature and pointed to the widespread benefits that will follow its passage.
