Almost Lost His Life.

S. A. Sud, of Mason, Mich., will never forget his terrible exposure to a merciless storm. "It gave me a dreadful cold," he writes, "that caused severe pains in my chest, so it was hard for me to breathe. A neighbor gave me several doses of Dr. King's New Discovery which brought great relief. The doctor said I was on the verge of pneumonia but to continue with the Discovery I did so and two bottles completely cured me." Use only this quick, safe, reliable medicine for coughs, colds, or any throat or lung trouble. Price 50c and $1.00 Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

Jefferson's Inventions.

Thomas Jefferson invented the folding camp stool, the revolving office chair, the two wheeled sulky, the copying press, the pedometer, a hemp lamp and a very convenient improvement on the plows used in his day. Of all these ingenious contrivances the plow received the greatest notice, a gold medal having been awarded it in Paris in 1790. Eighteen years later the Royal Agricultural Society of the Seine, to which he had presented the original plow, sent him a superb up to date plow containing his improvement.

Shocking Sounds.

In the earth are sometimes heard before a terrible earthquake, that warn of the coming peril. Nature's warnings are kind. That dull pain or ache in the back warns you the kidneys need attention if you would escape those dangerous maladies, Dropsy, Diabetes or Bright's disease. Take Electric Bitters at once and see backache fly and all your best feelings return. "My son received great benefit from their use for kidney and bladder trouble," writes Peter Bondy, South Rockwood, Mich. "It is certainly a great kidney medicine." Try it. 50 cents at all druggists.

Stylists and Journalists.

On the third day of December, 1894, died Robert Louis Stevenson. Possibly the strangest announcement of the news was that which appeared on the poster of a morning paper famed for its alliterative ingenuity. The message ran: "Stevenson Succumbs; Sepulchred on a Samoan Summit." To this favor do even great stylists come.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Simple Mixture Helps Bandon People.

That simple remedies are best has again been proven. C. Y. Lowe reports that many Bandon people are receiving quick benefit from simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka, the German appendicitis remedy. A single dose helps sour stomach, gas on the stomach and constipation instantly because this simple mixture antiseptizes the digestive organs and draws off the impurities.

Two Heads, Thirteen Tails.

A well known New York philanthropist and clubwoman tells the following story:

"A friend of mine went shopping for furs. She came home with a handsome sable scarf. She remarked to her sister, who was admiring the purchase: 'That stupid salesman tried to get me to buy a fur with two heads. I cannot tolerate the unnatural in anything. Who ever heard of an animal with two heads?'"

"Her sister looked critically at the scarf; then a smile of amusement lit up her face. 'Yes,' she remarked, 'you didn't buy a fur with two heads, but you have bought one with thirteen tails.'"—Boston Post.

Blamed a Good Worker.

"I blamed my heart for severe distress in my left side for two years," writes W. Evans, Danville, Va., "but I know now it was indigestion, as Dr. King's New Life Pills completely cured me." Best for stomach, liver, and kidney troubles, constipation, headache or debility. 25c at all druggists.

A Dowry on Approval.

A curious custom prevails among Roumanian peasants. When a Roumanian girl is of a marriageable age all her trousseau, which has been carefully woven, spun and embroidered by her mother and herself, is placed in a painted wooden box. When a young man thinks of asking to be allowed to pay his attentions to the girl he is at liberty at first to open the box, which is always placed conveniently at hand, and examine the trousseau. If the suit or is satisfied with the quantity and quality of the dowry he makes a formal application for the girl's hand, but if, on the contrary, the trousseau does not please him, he is quite at liberty to retire.

THE BIG TREE AS AN ASSET.

Farsighted Development Workers Save the Old Ones.

THE CASE OF MADISON, N. J.

Improvement of the Green Hill Road a Splendid Example of Substantial Work—Well Made and Well Shaded Roads and Sidewalks.

In contrast with the showy, superficial type of development contrived for immediate property exploitation, with little regard for permanency, it is gratifying to note a good example of practical, substantial, unobtrusive property development such as the new residential street that has just been completed at Madison, N. J.

This section, secluded, yet near the center of the town, is an attractive piece of natural woodland on a sloping hillside, with many fine old oak trees. The preservation of these dignitaries of the forest has been perhaps the most delightful feature in the making of Green Hill road and is successfully illustrated in the view here presented. Herein lie suggestions for other places which may be in danger of carelessly sacrificing one of their chief assets—the beauty of forest trees.

This tract was opened a few years ago by putting through a winding road to connect with transverse streets above and below, but lighting, paved sidewalks, etc., were not at first provided. The road as recently improved is twenty-four feet from curb to curb, an ample width for all purposes. It gives sufficient room for any ordinary vehicles to turn in and for a carriage to stand on each side of the street, with space between for the passage of other vehicles. This is an excellent illustration of adapting the street to its uses. Needless construction and maintenance costs are saved, and the increased depth of the adjacent property improves its appearance and adds to its value. A concrete curb and gutter on each side of the street throughout its entire length of 900 feet take care of storm water and prevent damage from washouts. The sidewalks, too, are of concrete and are four and one-half feet wide.

The electric wires for lighting the street, to which house connections can be made as needed, are all underground. This insures the protection of the street trees from any disfigurement or injury to growth that might have been caused by overhead wiring. The lighting standards are ornamental iron posts, each bearing one large globe. All water and light connections and sewer laterals have been laid in the property, so that as development progresses there will be no necessity for digging up the street or undermining the walks and the planting.

There is a three foot grass strip between the sidewalk and the curb. Here trees have been planted forty feet apart. The pin oak was selected for this purpose as being in harmony with the forest growth on the property.

The planting of the trees was done with great thoroughness and care. The tree sites were excavated to the full width of the border space and to a length of six feet and a depth of three feet. All poor earth was removed, and the holes were filled with good top soil. With such a preparation there is bound to be a vigorous, healthy growth within a comparatively short time.

On one side of the new street there is an interesting instance of saving a large tree even when it interferes in some degree with the development. A red oak of magnificent proportions came within the sidewalk lines at a point where the grading had involved a cut of about three feet. The tree was saved by slightly narrowing the sidewalk and turning it out to the edge of the curb and then carefully building up a mound of soil and sod around the roots.

This is conservation that pays, not only commercially in increasing property values, but in developing appreciation of one of nature's greatest gifts. This forest tree, preserved for a long life, will speak to every one who treads the path around it of the dignity and reverence with which it has been treated.—American City.
