COURTESY.

Courtesy is as much a duty as honesty. We have no more right to spoil a neighbor's life with the thorns of sharp speech and rough manner than we have to take the money out of his pocket. Besides, courtesy is a paying investment.

Delicate Discrimination.

"One can make anything express one's feelings if so inclined."

"How do you mean?"

"Didn't you notice what Amy did when she handed the refreshments around? She gave Mame, who is her chum, some angel food and handed Jessie only the devil cake."—Baltimore American.

Antwerp.

Nearly all the exports from the United States to Belgium enter the country at Antwerp, but as this port is the great distributing market for north-western Europe, as well as a depot for raw products, it is doubtful if correct figures relating to the district alone have ever been or ever could be compiled.

The Roman Climate.

Gales are very rare in Rome and never blow with extreme violence. The most striking peculiarity of the Roman climate is the absence of high winds. The air is pure and clear, owing to the almost complete absence of smoke, even in the winter months. The average yearly movement of the air is only five miles an hour.

The Thorn on the Rose.

In the old Hindush of Zoroaster we are told that the rose grew fair and thornless until the entrance into the world of Ahurman, the evil one. According to this ancient narrative, the spirit of evil became universal and not only man suffered thereby, but inferior animals, as well as trees and plants.

Golden Measure.

"In Australia," bragged the native of that country, "you can pick up gold by the pint."

"It comes in quartz in America," retorted the quick-witted nephew of Uncle Sam.—Pittsburgh Post.

Unfortunate.

"Poor Jones! Life to him is just one scrape after another."

"Unfortunate, eh?"

"Unfortunate enough. He has to shave twice a day."—Boston Transcript.

Wonderful.

"What are you thinking about, darling?"

"Nothing."

"So was I. It's wonderful the sympathy between two loving hearts."—Fliegende Blätter.

She Wasn't Acting.

Jack—Why, you're acting as if you'd like to be kissed. Jessica—Why, that's not acting. Jack—But you act as if you had been kissed before. Jessica—Neither is that acting.—Yonkers Statesman.

The Ones That Sold.

Father—Well, how does your husband succeed with his art? Does he sell any pictures? Daughter—I should think so! Why, there is not one left of those you gave us for a wedding present!

The Gray Kangaroo.

Perhaps the most remarkable of Australia's fauna is the big gray kangaroo, which, measuring seven feet from nose to tail, can clear ten yards at a jump and travel faster than a horse.

Charity.

"There is nothing to be said for an author who will steal all his good ideas."

"At least you might give him credit for not stealing bad ones."—Baltimore American.

The Tramp's Excuse.

Benevolent Man (who has given a tramp some work)—You're working slowly, my man. Tramp—I'm trying to spin it out. Who knows when I shall get any more?—Meggendorfer Blätter.

Arrowroot Jelly.

To make arrowroot jelly moisten two tablespoonfuls of arrowroot in a little cold water and then add a pint of hot water to this and boil for five minutes, stirring constantly. This should be prepared in a double boiler.

In Lunnon.

First Workman (disgusted)—These blinks' furriners comes a 'obnobbin' wit us in the toobs and 'buses, and, lumme, they gits to tork Henglish very nigh as good as me an you, Bill; not 'arf, they don't!—London Punch.

Cows of Jersey.

In the island of Jersey every girl who marries receives a cow as a part of her dowry.

RIGHT AND WRONG.

What may be right for me today may be wrong for me tomorrow. Some new impression, knowledge, power, may entirely vary my duty. No other is the judge.—Channing.

STAGNATION.

No stagnant life is a wholesome life any more than a stagnant pool is a good neighbor. There must be stir and action to keep things pure and well aired. There must be motion. If forward, we gain; if backward, we lose.

Right to the Point.

Probably the most concise summing up on record in a civil case has been attributed to Baron Bramwell. The defendant's counsel closed his case without calling a witness whose coming had been much expected.

"Don't you call Jones, Mr. Blank?" said the judge significantly at the close of counsel's address.

"I do not, my lord," replied the advocate.

The judge turned round to the jury and gave vent to a low and prolonged whistle.

"Whe-e-w!" he said, or, rather, whistled. "Gentlemen, consider your verdict."

The Heads on the Rails.

Viscount Hardinge, brother of the Indian viceroy, in a lecture in London on the Delhi durbar referred to a much criticised statement which he maintained was absolutely true. When ever the viceroy traveled in India policemen were stationed along the railroad at intervals of a hundred yards. The policemen, he said, often became sleepy and lay with their heads on the rails to listen for the approach of the train. On one occasion no fewer than fifty lost their heads. Lord Curzon asked him where he got the yarn. He replied: "I got it from my brother, and I do not think he would tell a 'cracker.'"—New York Times.

Had Her Third.

"If you do not want to marry Mrs. Sims why do you not appeal to the courts to protect your legal rights?"

"But what rights have I under the law?"

"A widow is not entitled to more than a third, and this woman has been married three times already."—Buffalo Express.

Not at All Lifelike.

The old dandy's wife had been ill for some days. As the doctor came out of the cabin her husband said:

"Doctor—excuse me please, sah—but how is my old woman?"

"She is worse, Ben. She has not said a word for two hours."

"She ain't worse, doctor; she is dadd!"—Uncle Remus' Magazine.

Very Simple.

The graphic accuracy of the hero's remark gives this story from the Belfast News high value:

Aunt—So you took your first dancing lesson today. Did you find it difficult?

Wee Nephew—No'm; it's easy 'nough. All you have to do is to keep turning round and wiping your feet.

All Languages.

"What is the mother tongue?"

"The mother tongue is the native language of any given race or country."

"Is there a father tongue?"

"Yes. The swear words are so classified."

"Well, is there a child tongue?"

"Yep. That's slang."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

German English.

An enterprising business house in a German city sends circulars advertising its wares to guests at the various hotels which are patronized by Americans. One of these printed documents contains this paragraph: "English is spoken and fluent understood by ready lady and men sellers, and the stranger visitor to inspect our many ware we friendly invite. The honored clients out of America can here find in the lowest fix prices most desiring articles for taking home."

Strategy.

He (very shy)—Wh-what sized gloves do you wear, Miss Mabel?

She (instantly recognizing an opportunity)—Don't you mean what sized finger, Mr. Struthers?

On such slight pegs hang momentous happenings.

For he had the ring in his pocket all the time.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Fine Theorist.

Bill—What kind of a fellow is Dobkins? Will—He can tell you how to adopt a national system of currency that would pay off the national debt, but he can't raise the price of his grocery bill.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Proof.

Knicker—Is Jones original?

Bocker—Very. He never describes himself as a live wire.—New York Sun.

Applying the Phrase.

Editor (to new reporter)—You say in this report of the fire that "the lurid glare of forked flames shot athwart the dark domed sky." Are you sure of that? New Reporter—Yes, sir; I saw the whole thing. Editor—Did you notice any insurance man looking about the place, or learn what caused the fire, or the probable amount of property destroyed? New Reporter—No, sir. Editor (striking match)—Well, just watch the lurid glare of forked flames shoot athwart this report!—Liverpool Mercury.

Coughs and Consumption

Coughs and colds, when neglected always lead to serious trouble of the lungs. The wisest thing to do when you have a cold that troubles you is to get a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery. You will get relief from the first dose, and finally the cough will disappear. O. H. Brown, of Muscadine, Ala., writes: "My wife was down in bed with an obstinate cough, and I honestly believe had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery, she would not be living to day." Known for forty-three years as the best remedy for coughs and colds. Price 50c and $1.00. Recommended by all druggists.

Pains in the Stomach.

If you continually complain of pains in the stomach, your liver or your kidneys are out of order. Neglect may lead to dropsy, kidney trouble, diabetes or Bright's disease. Thousands recommend Electric Bitters as the very best stomach and kidney medicine made. H. T. Alston, of Raleigh, N. C., who suffered with pain in the stomach and back, writes: "My kidneys were deranged and my liver did not work right. I suffered much, but Electric Bitters was recommended and I improved from the first dose. I now feel like a new man." It will improve you, too. Only 50c and $1.00. Recommended by all druggists.

Why He Was Late.

"What made you so late?"

"I met Smithson."

"Well, that is no reason why you should be an hour late getting home to supper."

"I know, but I asked him how he was feeling, and he insisted on telling me about his stomach trouble."

"Did you tell him to take Chamberlain's Tablets?"

"Sure, that is what he needs."
