EXTRAVAGANCE.

The extravagant person is one who is wasteful of health, of emotion, of opportunity, or of income. The miser who hoards as the magpie does for the mere satisfaction of accumulating and hiding away his spoil is as extravagant in reality as the spendthrift who takes no thought for the morrow in the indulgence of today.

PROGRESS.

Progress in the sense of acquisition is something, but progress in the sense of being is a great deal more. To grow higher, deeper, wider as the years go on, to conquer difficulties and to acquire more and more power, to feel all one's faculties unfolding and truth descending into the soul—this makes life worth living.—James Freeman Clarke.

A Shadow of Envy.

"So you object to jury duty?"
"No," replied the conscientious man. "I'm willing to do my duty, but it is aggravating to see one prisoner after another set free while we are kept under restraint."—Washington Star.

Our Inferiors.

Willie—Pa, our "inferiors" are just people that know less than we do aren't they? Pa—No, my son; usually they're people who merely know less than we think we do.—Philadelphia Press.

Curious Glowworm.

A mammoth glowworm has recently been found in the Santa Cruz mountains. The specimen is about four and a half inches in length, and when placed in the dark the rings encircling the body produce a gorgeous effect.

Heredity.

"What a bouncing baby!"
"No wonder. Its pa is in the rubber business."—Baltimore American.

Is the Universe Double?

In 1904 Professor J. C. Kapteyn of Groningen announced his belief that the visible universe is not single, but double—that what we behold is not a system of stars, but two systems.

Since this announcement A. S. Eddington of Greenwich, A. W. Bickerton and H. C. Plummer of Oxford and T. J. J. See of the Lick observatory have given their concurrence to it. Mr. Eddington, for example, has analyzed the motion of six different groups of stars, and he has shown the existence in every case of two sets of curves indicating two paths along which rival star systems are streaming. One stream travels at the rate of seventeen miles a second and the other at the rate of five miles.

The movement of our sun is thirteen miles a second toward the region in the heavens now marked by the great star Arcturus, though he is hastening to meet us. The two pointers of the Great Bear are going along with the earth, other stars of the Great Bear away from the earth. Sirius is in our stream; so are the brightest stars of the Northern Crown—one in the Lion, one in Eridanus and one in Auriga.—William Bayard Hale in World's Work.

Got Her a Seat.

A young woman entered a subway train at Seventy-second street and, seeing that she would have to stand, meekly grasped a strap near one on which a stout, well built man was hanging. Hardly had the train pulled out from the station when she heard a voice saying, "There's a seat, madam," and turning around she beheld her big neighbor pointing to a little space between two men. She stepped forward, but as neither of them seemed inclined to make room for her she smilingly declined to sit where she was so evidently not wanted. Whereupon the big man decided to occupy the space himself. He sat down and after a few seconds began to work himself backward and forward, to right and to left, until presently his neighbors, yielding to his bulk, moved up, and lo! he was in possession of a comfortable seat. Then he arose, politely doffed his hat, bowed to the woman and said: "Now, madam, I think you will find room! Won't you sit down?"—New York Tribune.

How Old Is the Earth?

Sir George Darwin's statement at Cambridge that the late Lord Kelvin's estimate of the earth's age has been seriously vitiated by the discovery of radium since the calculation was made will meet with the entire approval of geologists. For many years physicists and geologists have been disputing on this matter, and the latter have utterly failed to make the facts of geology fit in with what they termed Lord Kelvin's "miserable allowance" of time. Now, however, that it is established that the earth has a large store of heat producing radium and other radioactive substances, mathematics is able greatly to extend the "miserable allowance" a trifle of 20,000,000 years, and the 800,000,000 years necessary to account for the geologists' phenomena is no longer considered too big a draft on the bank of time. The Hon. Mr. Strutt has assigned a minimum age of 711,000,000 years for some archaean rocks from Canada he has examined.—Dundee Advertiser.

Broke Up the Game.

Willie finally persuaded his aunt to play train with him. The chairs were arranged in line, and then he said: "Now, you be the engineer and I'll be the conductor. Lend me your watch and get up into your cab." He then hurried down the platform, timepiece in hand.

"Pull out there, you red headed, pie faced jay!" he shouted to the astonishment of the young woman.

"Why, Willie!" she exclaimed in amazement.

"That's right; chew the rag," he retorted. "Pull out. We're five minutes late already."

They have had to forbid his playing down by the tracks.—Illinois Central Employees' Magazine.

The Paradise Fish.

There flourishes in Chinese rivers and lakes a small fish remarkable for its brilliant coloring of crimson and blue. It is called the paradise fish. In the sunlight it shows in rainbow hues. The most interesting thing about this little fish is the nest made by the male of glutinous bubbles below the surface of the water and measuring up to six inches across. Here it places the eggs, some 200 in number, and mounts guard over them during incubation.

Sly Management.

"Haven't you a handsomer chafing dish than that?" asked the customer.
"You want something even more ornamental than this?"
"Yes. I want one so beautiful and expensive that my wife wouldn't think of trying to cook anything in it."—Exchange.

Herself Alone.

"Harold, do you love me for myself alone?"
"For yourself alone. And that's why I object to loaning your father money and standing for your little brother's pestiferousness."—Kansas City Journal.

Doesn't Mean It.

Isn't it queer that when a man addresses you by saying "Say!" he wants you to keep still so that he can say something himself?—New Orleans Picayune.

So It Does.

"Always hit the line hard, my boy."
"Oh, I don't know, dad. Sometimes it pays to try to run around the end."—Detroit Free Press.
