OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY OF BANDON

Deserve Praise.

It is more than likely that when Captain Johnson and his crew left Bandon to seek the rescue of the two men in the distressed sailing boat near Rogue River their only idea was of getting to the pair and saving their lives. However, now that they accomplished their mission and in doing so made a name for themselves as real sea heroes, it would not be a bad idea for someone to suggest that the Carnegie medal be obtained for the members of the party, or the one who was the leader or is the more entitled to a medal if any one member of the little crew is. There is no getting away from the fact a thrilling and dangerous trip was undertaken and that the end of the long race came hot a bit too soon to save the lives of Winegar and Silver. In little out-of-the-way places live savers are stationed and live on their lonely lives unnoticed until some emergency arises and their tests are thrown before them and then it is that they are discovered in all their valor. Of course it is part of the game, but it would be a nice thing to remember the Bandon men and, besides they deserve it.—Marshfield Record.

Recorder Philosophy

Shakespeare was great because he knew men.

Neither are fortune tellers the only fakers kept by superstitions.

Keep up the enthusiasm; no use to die till your time comes.

If you help a man give him a chance to help you or he will hate you.

Marrying for life is a long sentence and sometimes upon provocation.

Other enterprising cities own their water system. Why should not Bandon?

Your truest friend is the person with whom you can be the most sincere.

When your store burns up you will want a better water and fire system.

If Bandon owned its water system the city would soon be amply protected from fire.

If you hate your neighbor he will read it on your forehead; you can not disguise it.

"A man of the world can be as moral as a mystic; and he can also have as much sense.

As an illustration of the change in public sentiment few men now try to make a living trading horses.

It is hard to convince a homely woman that the photographer who took her picture is not a poor artist.

Simplified spelling seems to me n that you may spell a word the way you want to; and we are in favor of it.

If there are any profits in the water business why should they not go to the city instead of to private owners?

Is this big fuss the Japs are kicking up over the California land laws caused by Japanese self respect or by yellow vanity?

Sentencing a man to the rock pile simply because he is out of employment and out of money is a crime against humanity.

Those who wear silk socks have to depend upon a measly little silk worm. Think of it! The Oregon sheep is good enough for us.

The citizens of Bandon will not confiscate the property of the Bandon Water Company by attempting to build an independent plant so long as the company holds valuable rights. Better water and fire system will reduce your insurance enough to pay your part of the interest on the bonds to buy the water plant.

Slight violations of the terms of contract does not vitiate the contract. The Bandon Water Company owns rights which must be respected.

The people are learning to hate bosses; in proportion that a man seeks to dominate and control other men, in that proportion do other men hate him.

If you should cast off all hypocrisy and speak the plain blunt truth conscientiously to every person you meet, you would be sent to the insane asylum.

If you think the public is fair, attend a ball game where the home team makes a few blunders and loses some close plays so the empire has to decide against them.

Remember you will not pay the water bonds. A bigger and richer city will pay the water bonds and its needs will demand plenty of pure water and adequate fire protection.
