Recorder Philosophy

If you can't go fast, go slow; but go.

Some one talks about you whether your ears burn or not.

Generally speaking the man who is well to do is not easy to do.

The human animal honors its dead whereas the mere brute does not.

Where a King dies everybody is plunged into mourning—theoretically.

It doesn't require much practice to talk an hour without saying anything.

A bee under a tumbler makes a big noise but it doesn't get anywhere.

One of the wonders of the young is what an old person wants to live for anyway.

The trouble with some discourses is that the audience doesn't understand the other half.

The man who fails to attend to his business invites others to butt in; and they will do it.

All roosters and a few men get up at daylight and then do an awful lot of crowing about it.

The amateur writer contends that his mistakes are all confined to spelling and punctuation marks.

Lives there a man with soul so dead, who never to his wife hath said, this is my last, my very last—drink.

The preacher who puts pathos in his voice when he doesn't feel that way is fooling with the confidence of his audience.

On the 9th, of June Bandon will again try to convince the town cow that she should join the back to the farm movement.

Do you contend that things should remain the same, yesterday today and forever? If so you should be burning heretics and witches.

Vice-president Marshall is beginning to catch it from certain frightened "interests" because his heart seems to beat in sympathy with humanity.

We contend that you not not always tell a villain from the looks of his face. For instance, there is the affable agent who sells you some thing you do not want.

Hurrah for Roosevelt! He is going to take the stump in the interest of the people's primary bill in New York. Murphy and Barnes will hate Roosevelt worse than ever.

What is the soul? This question has been discussed for thousands of years. We have read hundreds of books and articles on the subject and we are ready to answer the question. Our answer is this: we do not know what the soul is.

There are actors in the pulpit; and the actor in the pulpit will dispense the intelligent auditor who detects that he is acting. Rev. Mickey's memorial sermon last Sunday was a success because it was modest, sincere and sensible.

Ed Howe, who has money and leisure to travel all over the world, writes that he admires his brother who has so much sense that he stays at home and weeds onions and hauls manure on the farm. But we notice that Ed travels all the same and no doubt his brother has noticed it also.

Doctor Somebody is going on an expedition to find Captain Scott who froze to death on his return from the South Pole. This doctor says he can revive Scott and bring him back to life again. Of course the expedition will need a great deal of money. Is this another flim flam?

Sounds mighty fishy. We would like to bet that Scott is dead and will stay dead.

Look out for the person who can articulate the r's naturally but who discards them to ape, some one from the east or south. Such a person is silly; and also a sham.

The Motion Picture Story Magazine.

A publication that is entirely devoted to moving picture stories—entertaining told; the stories you read in this magazine are produced in motion picture films that you can see exhibited at your local theatre later on. By reading the film stories in advance it gives you much additional pleasure when you see the same tale acted on the picture screen perhaps by your favorite star.

Aside from the many good stories and hundreds of actual illustrations of the coming films the Motion Picture Story Magazine contains a series of beautiful photographs of the leading actors and actresses of the various picture companies. These are suitable for framing, and if you buy a copy each month you will soon have a complete collection of all the film stars. This magazine is on sale at the box office of the Grand theatre every night; try a copy; you'll enjoy the good stories and be immensely pleased with the beautiful photographs of your favorite photo players. Price 15c per copy.

For Sale.
