prove that it pays to

Pay Cash

We have always figured that it is not justice to the man who PAYS CASH, to charge him such a price as will leave a large margin of profit to offset the losses incurred by giving credit to those who are unable to pay their bills.

We also figure that it is not good business policy for a man to pay 10 to 25 per cent interest per month on his money—merely for the privilege of saying to the merchant—"charge it."

Then again—cash has a big purchasing value for us—w/th cash in hand we can buy closer.

Altogether It Pays

Warships Through Canal

Jan. 18.—Five of the nations invited to take part in the great naval procession which will start at Hampton Roads and cruise by way of the Panama Canal to the Golden Gate next year have formally notified the State Department of their acceptance. They are the Argentine Republic, France, Germany, Great Britain and Portugal. Japan also has decided to participate, according to press reports, and it is not doubted that when the time comes all of the maritime nations of the world will be represented in the line.

The plans of the Navy Department call for the appearance in line of about 100 warships, 68 of them under foreign flags. The powers having great navies are invited to send four ships each and those with lesser naval forces use to contribute two each.

The date for the assembling of this international fleet has not been fixed, but under the terms of the act of congress it must be early in 1915, and as the voyage from Hampton Roads to San Francisco will consume at least one month, the start must be made by the middle of Jan. if the fleet is to reach San Francisco in time for the opening of the Panama-Pacific Exposition, February 20,

What About It?

We should like to know how many of the multitudinous candidates for Governor of this grand and glorious commonwealth would square to the definition of politics given by President Wilson. Whilst each one is sizing up himself the voting public might indulge in the profitable pastime of sizing each of them on its own account.

Herewith is the little quotation to which we have reference: "Politics is made up in just about equal parts of comprehension and sympathy. No man ought to go into politics who doesn't comprehend the task he is going to attack. He may comprehend it so completely that it daunts him, that he doubts whether his spirit is stout enough and his own mind able enough to attempt its great undertakings, but unless he comprehend it he ought not to enter it. After he has comprehended it there should come into his mind those profound impulses of sympathy which connect him with the rest of mankind for politics is a business of interpretation and no men are fit for it who do not see and seek more than their own advantage and interest."—Portland Telegram.

Refugees Bring Dogs

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 20.—The 3300 Mexican Federal soldiers, six Mexican generals and 1360 women and children who sought asylum in the United States after they were driven out of Ojinaga, Mexico by General Francisco Villa's rebel forces, arrived in El Paso today and were formally interned at the Fort Bliss Military Reservation. They are to be held by this government indefinitely as prisoners of war.

Arriving in ten trains from Marfa, Texas, the refugees were taken immediately to Fort Bliss, where they were put into a camp inclosed by a barbed wire fence and guarded by United States troops.

Each train of refugees was run into camp on a spur. The unloading presented varied and animated scenes. With the women and disarmed Mexican soldiers there tumbled off dogs and fighting cocks saved from the battle at Ojinaga, and lovingly carried on the long march.

One family even unloaded a burrow still packed with domestic utensils. The picture of a whole village of bedraggled and exhausted people suddenly dumped off on foreign soil was brightened by brilliantly colored blankets and shawls of the women.

The Mexican generals at first appeared dazzled and speechless by the spectacle, but soon they joined with the American officers in putting the camp in order. Sight seers from El Paso were just outside the barbed wire stockade.

General Mercado told Colonel Perkins that the Mexican soldiers would do everything in their power to show their gratitude to the United States.

He then ordered all the refugees to dig ditches and help put up the 1000 or more tents. None of the foreign soldiers or any of their officers will be permitted to leave the barbed wire enclosure.

Paroles Are Not Yet Due

Los Angeles, Jan. 21.—News that Clarence S. Darrow, counsel for John J. and James B. McMamara, confessed dynamiters, told the McMamaras' mother in Cincinnati that her sons would be eventually released on parole was discussed here today.

"The McMamaras," said District Attorney J. D. Fredricks, "are not yet eligible for parole. They can not be paroled for at least seven years."

"I don't know what will be done with them when they make their applications. As for my prosecuting them on another indictment should they be released, and as for my opposing the parole, I can say nothing at this time as the question is too remote."

Miss Wilson Takes Floor

Washington, Jan. 19.—Miss Margaret Wilson, eldest daughter of the President, rose from her seat in the audience at a civic improvement meeting here tonight and made a plea to have the schoolhouses of the county opened to the public as "social centers."

"The social center movement in the final analysis," she said, "is the fundamental principle of democracy. No matter how cultured we are, we cannot get ideas alone and we must get together and get them from each other."
