OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY OF BANDON

She Shuffled, He Cut.
At a country ball a farmer had engaged a pretty coquette for the next dance, but a gallant captain coming along persuaded the young lady to cancel her previous engagement in favor of himself. The farmer, overhearing the conversation, went to a card table and sat down to a game of whist.

A few minutes later the captain stepped up to the young lady to excuse himself, as he had forgotten that he was already engaged to another. Miss Coquette, much chagrined, then made tracks for the whist table, hoping to secure her first partner.

Nodding to the farmer and with her face covered with smiles, she sweetly said:

"I think, sir, that it is time to take our places."
The old farmer, to the act of dividing the pack for the next dealer, court-oonily replied:

"No, Miss S. I mean to keep my present place. When ladies shuffle I cut."—Liverpool Mercury.

The Bell Bird.
The most remarkable thing in connection with the bell bird is its powerful voice. It utters a clear metallic note that can be heard at a distance of three miles. Its noise is like that produced by a blacksmith striking his anvil. Sometimes it repeats its notes in quick succession, sometimes at fairly long intervals. There is no mistake about the voice of this bird; it is loud and piercing and would be heard above the din produced by every inmate of the zoo raising its voice at once. Except for a space of naked skin on the throat and around the eyes, which during the breeding season is of green color, this bird is pure white. The contrast between the sexes in the bell birds is extreme, for, while the male is pure white, the female is brownish green. Darwin refers to the bell bird when he points out that "white is a very rare color in terrestrial species of moderate size and inoffensive habits."—Pall Mall Gazette.

Kept the Opposition Busy.
The only instance known wherein an employee was paid by his employer for gambling occurred in New Orleans. Walter Lamana, a child of wealthy Italians, was kidnaped, and the interest was intense throughout the gulf coast country.

Fifty Yards on the Head.
The curious miter shaped headdress worn by women of quality in Spain during the middle ages is described in "The Queens of Aragon," by E. L. Miron. It consisted of an undercoif with platted edges, covered by a second resembling a Phrygian or Catalan cap, the flat point falling over like that of a nightcap. These miters, supposed to be of oriental origin, were introduced into Spain by Beatrice of Suabia, queen of Ferdinand, the saint of Castile. Very hot and heavy they must have been, considering that sometimes as much as fifty yards of material were used to make them. They were fastened under the chin by a ribbon or band. The same writer refers to the silver bed ladders used for climbing into the high medieval beds.

The World's Deserts.
The desert area of the earth is said to be about 4,180,000 square miles in extent.
