NEWSPAPER CIRCULATION.

The bidding for the city printing has reached the sensational stage, and the City Council is threatened with dire things if they give it to one paper, and worse if they give it to another.

The matter hinges, just at the present time, on which Bandon paper has the greatest bonafide circulation, and will, therefore give the greatest return to the city for the money expended.

In this connection it is well to state that the courts have repeatedly held that bonafide subscribers, insofar as the publication of legal notices are concerned, are only those who have ordered and paid for the paper, those who have ordered the paper and are not over a year in arrears and all must be subscribers for a period not less than six months.

With this in view The Recorder, in submitting its bid, made a detailed statement of its circulation and that it was bonafide. No other paper did this, and no other paper can do this and show any where near as large a circulation as this paper. In all probability The Recorder has twice as many readers as its nearest competitor, and on this list are readers who have taken the paper for fifteen and twenty years—many who have been with it for ten years.

Sending out papers to everyone who will take them out of the post office and subsequently claiming the largest circulation, as was done by one Bandon paper, is a favorite play among amateur journalists, but in the present instance will hardly have the desired result.

The Recorder has no quarrel with the City Council, but if the printing is given out on the merit of circulation we will see to it that no mistake is made.

But to save further distressing details, we submit the following proposition: We will authorize the local post office authorities to give the City Council or others interested, the figures of postage paid by The Recorder for the past sixty days, provided the other Bandon papers will do the same.

PAVE THE STREETS.

Spring will soon be here and if Bandon is going to do any paving this season it is high time that the necessary preparations were being made, as the earlier we get at the work the sooner and better it will be done. Bandon is the only town in Coos County with no paved streets and the deplorable condition of the streets this winter is a living argument in favor of hard surfacing of some kind. The down town streets should be paved with the very best hard surfacing that can be had, and if we once get started, the benefits derived will be so plainly in evidence that everyone will be in favor of extending the work. All are in favor of pushing ahead in other lines, why not keep our municipal affairs on an equal basis with other improvements.

First Street should be paved at once. As long as it remains in its present condition it will give the town a "black eye." We understand the plans and specifications have been ordered by the Council for the improvement of this street, and if such is the case, the sooner the work is commenced the better.

WHY WAIT UNTIL MAY?

The petitions for a bond election to secure money for the improvement of Coos county roads have been filed with the county court. The number of signatures are greatly in excess of the number required to call the election, and if the petitions are found to be all right at the court hearing tomorrow, why hesitate about calling a special election? The sentiment in favor of better highways and prompt action is overwhelmingly in the majority. If the bond election is held off until the regular primary in May, it will mean that no real road work can be done this year.

MUNICIPAL WHARF NEEDED.

As the population and industries of Bandon increase water front property on the river will increase proportionately. It certainly will never be cheaper than at the present time. Why, then, would it not be a wise plan for the city to purchase a site for a municipal wharf? The river traffic is increasing rapidly, and the need of better wharf facilities and especially a waiting room for passengers, is apparent to everyone who lands or embarks here in the rainy season.

A candidate for governor recently got into print in a great many state papers by furnishing to publishers a gratis plate service, which ostensibly was a good roads story, but in reality was a boost for this particular candidate. Thus does the wily candidate get in his fine work on the unsophisticated country editor.
