FIRST STREET, OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

E. H. Kern of Coquille has come out as an independent candidate for county surveyor against Chas. McCullough of this city, who was nominated by the Republicans at the May primaries and who was also endorsed by the Democrats. With his name appearing on both tickets we predict that Mr. McCullough will have little trouble defeating any independent candidate.

Fourth of July Picnic.

A Fourth of July Picnic will be held above Mr. Marshall's place on the Prosper road. Everybody bring their lunch and be at Marshall's store at 10 a. m. Saturday and march to the place. Come and have a good social time. Sunday schools are all invited to be there. An innocent and patriotic celebration of the Fourth.
W. B. SMITH, Pastor.

There Were Others.

He was a rather persevering young man, and he had proposed to a beautiful girl something like a dozen times, and on each occasion the answer had been a negative one. Still he persevered, and one night on a moonlight walk with the soft gouth wind blowing caressingly he once more started to tell her of his wondrous love.

"Della, dear," he tenderly remarked, throwing away his cigarette to give his eloquence further play, "there is something that I must tell you before we return. You have heard it before, but"—

"Look here, Jimmy," impatiently interrupted the beautiful girl, "how many more times are you going to ask me to marry you?"

"Not many, I guess, Della, dear," answered the young man with great frankness. "One of the other three girls that I am proposing to is beginning to show signs of weakening."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

White Bread.

Hygienists have long called attention to the serious consequences of the increasing popular preference for white bread. At present dark colored bread is despised as "peasant's food." In the towns the meanest workman will eat only white bread. The flour used for making this bread is obtained by passing the meal through a very fine sieve, so that it contains hardly anything but starch and cellulose. White bread, which plays an important role with the French people, is thus extremely poor in really nourishing food, and it is to the increasing consumption of it that many hygienists ascribe in France the racial enfeeblement, the diminution of stature and even the present development of tuberculosis. Representations have frequently been widely made on this subject, but without effect, for the bakers can provide only what the public demands.—Paris Letter to London Lancet.

Some Surprise For the Doctor.

There is a story current about a widely known London doctor. About 8 o'clock one morning he was rung up by a wealthy patient and begged to come over at once. Turning out of bed he rushed off, expecting to find the man in extremis. Imagine his surprise at being ushered into a dining room where a gay supper party was assembled. The first remark made to him was: "Oh, doctor, I am so glad you have come. We wanted you to settle a bet as to exactly where the diaphragm is." He not only told them where the diaphragm was, but a good many other things. The patient tried to mollify him by asking his fee. Still furiously angry, he named a staggering one, which, to his surprise, was paid on the spot.—London World.

Truth—and Then Some.

A Cleveland man visited the land of his fathers on a recent vacation and while in the Emerald Isle took a trip to the lakes of Killarney. His guide, of course, told the most wonderful stories and legends of the region.

"Pat," said the Clevelander, "do you ever lie about these things?"
"No, sir," asserted Pat. "I never lie about them. I always tell th' thruth in every particular—only I adds to it."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Puzzle.

"Pop, if anybody rides horse chestnuts"—
"Of course nobody does. Why do you ask such ridiculous things?"
"I was only going to ask if they did, could they use larkspur?"—Baltimore American.

Hard Work.

"It is a good rule to endeavor hour by hour and week after week to learn to work hard. It is not well to take four minutes to do what we can accomplish in three."—Charles W. Elliot.

Good Idea.

When they have their pictures taken people try to look pleasant. Why not wear that look all the time? It will shorten no man's life!—Knoxville Tribune.
