NEW HOTEL IS SURE GO

MAJORITY OF STOCK SUBSCRIBED YESTERDAY AND MANY OTHERS HAVE SIGNIFIED THEIR INTENTION TO GO IN.

There is no longer any doubt that the new hotel will be built, as the committee began their work of soliciting stock subscriptions yesterday morning and a large majority of the stock has already been subscribed and many more have designated their intention to subscribe.

This means that the hotel will be built without a doubt and that work will be commenced in a short time.

The plan is to put up a $25,000 building with 28 rooms at present, and spend $10,000 in furnishing the building. This will be used until the demand for an addition will warrant the building of more rooms.

The new hotel will be as great a stimulus as ever came to Bandon and will mean more to the city than most anything else that could come at this time.

If you have not subscribed to at least one share of stock you should do so now and help build a larger and better Bandon.

A meeting of business men was held last night and the work of the committee was gone over and the progress made was considered very satisfactory to all.

The committee is at work again today and probably by night the entire amount of stock that is required will be subscribed.

JOHN DICKEY RETURNS FROM TRIP WITH BRIDE

John Dickey, who left on the Elizabeth June 11th for San Francisco, returned on the same boat this morning, bringing with him a bride, formerly Miss Stansell, of Franklin, O. Franklin was Mr. Dickey's former home and he and his bride grew up together in that town.

The marriage ceremony was performed in San Francisco at the California St. Methodist Church by Dr. Colegrove.

Mr. Dickey is one of Bandon's successful merchants, having bought the R. H. Rosa Co.'s store last winter and has been operating the same about seven months. He has made many friends since coming here who will wish him and his bride every happiness that life can afford. Bandon people will also welcome Mrs. Dickey to our city.

While away Mr. Dickey also underwent an operation on his arm which he had the misfortune to break last winter as the result of a fall from a ladder.

RECALL PETITIONS OUT FOR COQUILLE MAYOR

The Coquille Sentinel of last week says:

"Mayor Morrison, before his departure for California, informed us that he had satisfied himself that petitions for his recall were in circulation. These emanate from the liquor dealers whose places were closed on the first because the council refused to license them any longer. Councilmen Sanford and Skeels are said to be included in the recall movement, and the percentage of the voters required to insure a recall election will probably be easily secured. In Mayor Morrison's case however, the movement is very premature, as an official must have held office a certain length of time (six months we believe) before recall proceedings can be initiated. Attorney Liljeqvist says that many good lawyers doubt whether the recall is yet effective in this state, and the matter has never been adjudicated by the Supreme court. If recall proceedings are instituted he says there will be a lively time and we will see lots of fun, as he proposes to fight the proposition all along the line. Of course no one has the slightest idea the movement to recall Mayor Morrison and the two councilmen can succeed. It seems, however, to be the next move of the saloon keepers, who have been credited with an intention to discredit their intelligence by going into court to ask a mandamus to compel the council to grant them licenses."

JOE HARTER AND MISS SCHOONOVER MARRIED

Joe Harter and Miss Rosa Schoonover, two young people living near Bandon, were united in marriage Saturday by Rev. C. Mayne Knight, at the M. E. parsonage.

Mr. Harter formerly lived in this section, but returned to his home in Iowa about four years ago, coming to Bandon again last fall to help care for his uncle, S. S. Little, who was stricken with paralysis.

The bride has live in and near Bandon for a number of years and is well and favorable known here. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Schoonover.

A large circle of friends will wish Mr. and Mrs. Harter a long and happy wedded life.

SUSLAW BAR SURVEY HAS BEEN COMPLETED

The Florence West says: "Engineer C. R. Wright and assistants, who were making a survey of the bar at the mouth of the Suslaw River, have finished their work, and according to their survey the statement of Engineer Leaf, that the water on the bar is now from four to six feet deeper than a few years ago, has been confirmed. The engineers find a wide channel across the bar with as much water at low tide as was formerly found a large part of the time at high tide.

SEVEN DAY ADVENTISTS ANNUAL CAMP MEETING

The annual camp meeting of the Seven Day Adventists of Coos county will be held at Myrtle Point, beginning Monday evening, July 20, and continuing until Sunday evening July 26. The camp will be located on the same grounds used last year, two blocks north of the Post Office.

The following daily program will be observed: Consecration service, 10 a. m.; Bible Study, 9 a. m.; Preaching, 10:30 a. m.; Preaching, 2:30 p. m.; Young Peoples' meeting, 5 p. m.; Preaching, 8 p. m.

Besides the ministers located in this county, some of the denominations prominent speakers of the North west will attend this gathering.

MANY OFF ON VACATION TRIPS TO VARIOUS PLACES

A number of Bandon people started out yesterday and today on extended vacation trips via the automobile route.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Morrison left yesterday for Crater Lake and Klamath Falls. Albert Garfield and J. L. Kronenberg and families left today for Portland, Crater Lake and other points. W. J. Sweet and family and Mrs. T. P. Hanley started for Eureka, Calif., E. B. Henry taking them in his car.

Mrs. and Mrs. Thos. Devereaux also left for a trip down the coast and will make Eureka and other points before returning.

All of the parties expect to be gone from three weeks to a month.

SIGN THE PETITION IN THE POST OFFICE

In the Post Office is a petition regarding mail service for Coos county that every body who gets mail should sign.

The threat of the Post Office Department to change the mail service of Coos county as to reduce our mail schedule to a once a week proposition is not looked upon with favor by any one and the department should be given to understand this in no uncertain terms.

Go in and sign the petition if you have not already done so.

LOST.

Either on Fourth Street or Oregon Avenue, going south, a gold breast-pin, with gold cross attached. Valued as a keepsake. Finder please return same to Mrs. Reyerle or this office and receive reward.

PROF. GRAVES VISITS COOS

HEAD OF DAIRY DEPARTMENT OF OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE HERE THIS WEEK ON INSPECTION TOUR.

Prof. R. R. Graves, head of the dairy department of the Oregon Agricultural College at Corvallis, is in Coos county this week, stimulating matters along dairy lines. Prof. Graves, in company with County Agriculturalist J. L. Smith, was in Bandon yesterday on his way to Langlois and will spend a day or two in Curry county trying to work up interest in that section. He will return about Thursday and will go to Myrtle Point Friday where he will hold a dairy meeting and on Saturday will hold another meeting at Arago. These meetings are held with members of the cow testing associations, and on next Tuesday he will hold a joint meeting of the Coos Bay and Cos River associations at Marshfield.

Prof. Graves says there is no reason why Coos county should not be one of the greatest dairy counties on the Pacific coast, as we have the soil, climate and all natural resources. The only thing lacking is a sufficient number of good dairy herds which will be secured in time.

D. M. AVERILL OPENS FOR BUSINESS IN OAKES BLDG

D. M. Averill is opening up for business in the Oakes building, recently vacated by the Carpenter Racket store. Mr. Averill has purchased quite a large stock of new goods and will add to his stock constantly, so that it will not be long until he will be doing business on a large scale again.

MANY FILE ON COOS AND CURRY CO. LANDS.

Roseburg, O.—There has been an unusual number of applications for homesteads at the land office here of late, according to R. R. Turner. In the last three days there have been 20 applications made for homesteads and three for timber and mineral sites. The larger number of these have been located in three townships in Coos and Curry counties. The land office officials say that most of the applicants are people that will make good citizens for the counties in which they will locate.

TWO COOS CO. STUDENTS AT OREGON SUMMER SCHOOL

University of Oregon, Eugene.—Coos county representatives, usually numerous and prominent around the campus of the University of Oregon, generally manage to make themselves scarce in Eugene in summer. The theory is that they do not come up here and annex the University of Oregon summer school because the weather must be pretty nice down on the coast in July and August, and nine months is long enough for any man to stay away from Coos county, anyway. The summer school delegation this year consists of C. T. Kronenberg, of Fairview, and Gretchen Sherwood of Coquille. Both are taking teachers' courses. Mr. Kronenberg specializing in higher mathematics, and Miss Sherwood in English and library methods. The present session of the summer school has the largest attendance in the history of the institution. Standards have been raised, six credits now taking as much work to earn as was formerly required for seven. No credit is now given for presence at assembly lectures, yet these have proven popular enough to fill the largest hall on the campus every day of eleven without any other reward than the lecture itself. Among the students this year is an unusually large proportion of older men and women, who go to the work in a serious and determined way, and are setting a pace in study that is not any too easy for the young people to follow.

MADE GOOD IMPRESSION

R. A. BOOTH, CANDIDATE FOR U. S. SENATOR TAKES WELL WITH BANDON PEOPLE.—HAS PLEASING PERSONALITY.

R. A. Booth, candidate for United States Senator from Oregon on the Republican ticket, was in Bandon Friday evening and Saturday morning and delivered a short address at the banquet at the Hotel Gallier Friday evening. Mr. Booth has a very pleasing personality and can get in sympathy and touch with people in all walks of life. His address at the banquet, though brief, was an able one and made him many friends, while those with whom he met on the street were also favorably impressed and it is an assured fact that he will poll a large vote in this county at the November election, which will be the first time the United States Senators have been elected by a direct vote of the people.

NOTES FROM ALONG THE BANDON WATER FRONT

The Elizabeth arrived this morning with 160 tons of freight and the following passengers: Mr. and Mrs. Jhn Dickey, F. L. Botsford, C. Marshall and wife, Mrs. H. A. Longston, W. A. McGill, J. W. Rhine, Mrs. Pearl Powers, Mrs. E. McGregor.

The Elizabeth will sail again tomorrow evening at 5:30 o'clock.

The Fifield arrived yesterday from San Francisco and will sail again this evening for Eureka and San Francisco.

MRS. E. B. KAUSRUD BROKE HER ARM LAST NIGHT

Mrs. E. B. Kausrud had the misfortune to fall down stairs last night and break her right arm. Mrs. Kausrud went out to the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Swift last Sunday to spend the week, and last night she arose to await in her little son, Edward, and somehow got too close to the stairway, around which there was no railing, and in the darkness fell down the entire flight of stairs. Dr. Leep was summoned and he in company by Mr. Kausrud went out last night in the Dr.'s car to dress the wound. Mr. Kausrud returned last night and went out today with a team and brought her in.

DEEP SEA FISHING ON BANKS OFF COOS BAY

It has been generally known that the big fishing interests of the coast has long had its eyes on the fishing banks off Coos Bay and on Sunday last the fishing tug Iolanda, of the Palladian fleet, reached here from San Francisco, and is arranging to try out our banks off this port. A purse seine is being rigged and as soon as it is in readiness the Iolanda and her crew will try out their luck in the deep-sea fishing. The tug can go in and out over the bar in almost any kind of weather and if the catch is sufficient she is to remain on the bay permanently and the catch will be shipped to the San Francisco market by steamer. Palladian has long been known as the "fish king" of San Francisco, and for years has not only supplied the bulk of the trade of that city, but the state of California. His firm is the largest on the Pacific coast and represents a large investment of capital.—Marshfield Sun.

SLAUGHTER SEALS NEAR UMPUQUA TO SAVE SALMON

Marshall and Boye, who are engaged in the destruction of the seals which infest the Umpqua river, are meeting with good success. For the short time they have been at work they have succeeded in destroying over 200. They have sturgeon hooks fasten to all the snags and logs where the seals are accustomed to climb upon, which makes it almost impossible for the seal to get back into the water without being hooked, over a dozen a day being caught in this manner. They had a very exciting experience one morning when they surprised a herd of seal, getting between them and the deep water on the sandspit where the seals had come out to rest. They estimated that there were over 500 in the herd. They used up all the ammunition they had and attacked them with their knives, also using their guns as clubs. The seals made desperate efforts to get back into the water, viciously attacking the men. One succeeded in biting Boye through the hand, he having to use his rifle to pry the mouth of the seal open so as to release his hand. Before they could get off the sandspit the hunters succeeded in killing fifty, and probably as many more were so wounded that they will die. Had the ammunition held out the two men think they would have destroyed as many more. Since that time the seals have become scarcer, and it is thought they are leaving for other haunts. It is said that during the run of salmon that one seal will destroy five salmon each day, besides keeping the fish from entering the river. Already at this rate there will be a saving of 1000 salmon a day.—Umpqua Courier.

Prof. R. R. Graves and J. L. Smith, county agriculturalist, who were in Bandon yesterday, informed a representative of The Recorder that Coos county had more cow testing associations than any other county on the coast and more than any other county in the United States, excepting Oneida county, N. Y., which has five, and Coos county also has five.

PORT ORFORD'S OLDEST RESIDENT IDENT COMMITS SUICIDE

Julius A. H. Kock committed suicide by shooting himself at his home in Port Orford last Wednesday afternoon, July 1, 1914. The act did not come as a surprise to the friends of Mr. Kock as he had been in very poor health for several months past and for the last few days preceding his death had been suffering intensely from an incurable malady and had told several that he intended to end his troubles. Friends had planned to take his arms away from him that night but he forestalled their act. Between 3 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon he had gone into the back room of his house, opened the door so as to have better light, and placed the muzzle of an old 44 rim fire rifle in his mouth and touched the trigger off with a ram rod. The bullet passed through his head and lodged in the ceiling. Death was instantaneous.

He was last seen alive by B. W. Dean and was found dead by W. T. White, Sr. The deceased was born in Prussia in February, 1824, and landed at New Orleans in 1844, where he enlisted in the Mexican war under the name of Walter Evans, through which he served. He followed the sea most of his life, and came to Cape Blanco in 1871 on the schooner that brought the lumber for the light house at that place. He has since resided in this section—mostly on Elk river and in Port Orford. He was a genial warm hearted man, and until his last sickness overtook him, enjoyed remarkably good health. He was the oldest resident of the town, and is believed to have been the last Mexican war veteran alive in the county.—Port Orford Tribune.

GREAT INCREASE IN COOS WEALTH OVER LAST YEAR

County Assessor Thrift says he feels like congratulating the people of Coos county on the great increase in wealth over last year, as shown by the new assessment. He has just completed footing the money returns and finds that while our 20,000 and odd people had only $9,850 cash on hand a year ago, this year we have gone gaily past the next milestone and it now takes five figures to express our wealth of this sort. This year's figures are $19,869. Just how we manage to do all our business with that amount of cash is not clearly evident, however.—Coquille Sentinel.

DENVER WOULD BUILD HOME FOR PRESIDENT

Denver, Colo.—Arrangements are being completed here for laying the corner stone of a proposed summer home for the president at the top of Mount Falcon, in the foothills near Denver. The plan was to have the ceremonies August 15. John Brisbane Walker and other promoters of the project said President Wilson had tentatively promised to be present then or a little later, should congress not adjourn in time for the date suggested. The scheme contemplates raising money for the home by popular subscription. It is hoped to have it completed by next summer.

COOS LEADS THE COASTS

MORE COW TESTING ASSOCIATIONS HERE THAN ANY OTHER COUNTY ON THE PACIFIC COAST.

The object of the cow testing associations is to give each dairyman an opportunity to keep a record of all his cows and learn which ones are profitable and which ones are not, thus giving him an opportunity to get rid of his scrub and get in a line of the very best cows to be had.

COOS LEADS THE COASTS

MORE COW TESTING ASSOCIATIONS HERE THAN ANY OTHER COUNTY ON THE PACIFIC COAST.

To assist in this work, Geo. Johnson, a graduate of the four-year dairy course in O. A. C., has been appointed official cow tester of the Coquille Valley, with 26 dairy herds in his district. He spends one day on each farm every month, keeping a record of what each cow does, and by this method the dairy man knows just where his herd stands all the time.

There are about 650 cows in the 26 dairy herds under the supervision of Mr. Johnson, and it is hoped to increase this number to 1000 or over during the present season.

There are four good dairy breeds that are profitable in this section. They are Jerseys, Holsteins, Ayrshires and Guernseys.

Prof. Graves says any of these breeds are profitable with but little or no choice among them as to breed, but the idea is to get the best cows of a certain breed and stay with them.

GAME WARDEN GETS BIG COUGAR IN CURRY CO.

Game Warden J. M. Thomas, who has been in Curry county the past 10 days looking after game violators, killed a cougar last week measuring 7½ feet in length. He, in company with the Curry county deputy, J. A. Warner, were traveling a trail on Johnson mountain at the Siskiyou forest reserve when the cougar crossed the trail between the two men, Mr. Thomas being close enough to kick it. The dog they had with them had already scented it was close by and on striking the trail soon had it up a tree. Mr. Warner, who was carrying a rifle handed the same to Warden Thomas who killed him with a single shot. This is the first cougar Mr. Thomas has ever seen in the woods and he is greatly elated over killing it. He will have it mounted.

Mr. Thomas was on the trail of four men reported to be surveyors on the forest reserve who were claimed to be killing deer in that locality. On reaching the place where they had been camping no traces could be found except two hams of deer meat left hanging in the tent. He says that he thinks he is well repaid for the trip even if he didn't capture the game violators as a panther it is estimated will kill about fifty deer a year. Mr. Warner, the Curry county deputy, is said to be the most successful varmint hunter in Oregon, having killed about 18 cougars the last two years, besides 40 wildcats.—Coos Bay Harbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Marshall arrived on the Elizabeth from Kansas and will spend some time visiting his brother, J. B. Marshall, of this city, and we are glad to state that they may decide to remain here permanently.

T. H. Moore, an employee of the Coos mill, operated by Griffith & Courtwright, had the misfortune to get his leg broken this morning by a log rolling on it. Dr. Leep set the limb and he is getting along as well as could be expected.
