GOOD WORK OF PYTHIANS

LOCAL LODGE BRINGS RELIEF AND HEALTH TO YOUNG MAN WHO WAS IN PRECARIOUS CONDITION.

Some time ago the local lodge of Pythian Sisters found Noel Walker, a seventeen-year-old school boy, in destitute circumstances and was found to be suffering with appendicitis. Medical aid was summoned and it was found necessary to move the young man to the hospital for an operation. The ladies of the lodge then started out with a subscription paper among the people of Bandon and secured and secured $112.45. However, it was found that this was not quite sufficient to pay the bill and there is yet $12.50 to be raised, and to this end the Pythian Sisters have decided to give a whist party Wednesday evening, July 29th to try and raise the balance due. This is a worthy cause and should be patronized by everybody.

TEN MILLION DOLLAR FOR AGRICULTURAL WORK

Washington, D. C.—From the United States government for the next fiscal year each state will receive $10,000,000 for agricultural extension work.
 Such a schedule has been worked out by the United States Department of Agriculture.
 This fund is made available by the Smith-Lever bill providing for cooperative agricultural extension work between the states and the Department of Agriculture.
 "The act makes available for the next nine fiscal years," says the department, "an aggregate sum of $23,120,000 of federal funds to be expended in instruction and practical demonstrations in agricultural and home economics. To obtain this total the states must appropriate for like purposes a total of $18,800,000, making a grand total of $41,920,000 to be expended during the next nine fiscal years on direct agricultural work. Thereafter the federal government is to appropriate $4,580,000 annually, and the states to take their full quota, must appropriate $4,100,000 annually, making a total annual expenditure of $8,680,000.
 Next year each state will receive a substantial increase in the sum averaging from $21,039 in Pennsylvania—the increases being based on the rural population of each state.

NO RELIEF FROM HIGH COST OF BEEF IN SIGHT

Washington, D. C.—"No relief is in sight from the high cost of beef," says Dr. A. D. Melvin, chief of the bureau of animal industry. "The present high prices undoubtedly are the result of scarcity of meat, and there is no prospect of increasing the supply. Forty-four million pounds of beef were imported from Argentina last month but no effect on prices has resulted."

LAUNCH "QUEEN" WILL BE TAKEN OUT OVERLAND

A contract was let yesterday to Chas. Hubbard to take the launch "Queen," which was beached last week, out overland, and work will be commenced on the project at once. Several unsuccessful attempts have been made to float her, and it has been decided that the best way to get her into the water again is by the land route.

SUPT. H. L. HOPKINS AT EUGENE CONFERENCE

University of Oregon, Eugene.—Among the participants in the successful Educational Conference held in connection with the summer school of the University of Oregon have been Superintendent C. A. Howard of Coquille, Superintendent H. L. Hopkins of Bandon and Superintendent A. T. Parks of Myrtle Point.
 Superintendent Parks, who has resigned his position at Myrtle Point, and who will spend the next year in Post Graduate work at the University of Oregon, discussed the matter of Library Equipment. He has been attending the regular courses during the summer school.
 Superintendent Hopkins arrived at the University from Seattle last week during the sessions of the Ministerial Conference, many of which he attended. His relatives live in Eugene and he is attending many of the summer school lectures.
 Superintendent Howard took part in the discussion Friday evening on the subject of "High School Standardization," in which he has been deeply interested ever since his close contact with the development of the fine High School at Klamath Falls.

LIST IS STILL ON INCREASE

SIXTEEN HUNDRED DOLLARS WAS SUBSCRIBED TOWARD NEW HOTEL FUND ON LAST SATURDAY.

Saturday was a good day with the new hotel committee and the stock subscription was increased by $1600. Mr. Atkins, the architect, went to Portland the latter part of last week and last night telegraphed to J. C. Hammel that he had sold $500 worth of stock in that city. This makes $2,100 since Saturday morning and brings the amount up to about $12,000, making only about $3,000 yet to raise, and a number of others have signified their intention of taking good blocks of stock, so there is every assurance that the proposition will go through and even the most pessimistic are beginning to take heart and believe that "it will be built."

FOURTEEN YEAR MAN HUNT BROUGHT TO END

Colfax, Wash.—After eluding officers for 14 years, Samuel R. Clemens a once prominent farmer in this county, gave himself up to W. L. Dailey, a Colfax policeman, today for murder. A $500 reward has hung over his head. Clemens, now 60 years old, said he had been suffering mental agony and was unable to live an honest life. Fourteen years ago Clemens shot and killed George Boland for taking his daughter to a dance, contrary to his wishes. The daughter was with Boland in a buggy after the dance, when Clemens rode up and shot him.

A BIOGRAPH MASTERPIECE

"JUDITH OF BITHULIA" COMING TO THE GRAND THEATRE ON NEXT SATURDAY AND SUN-
DAL NIGHTS.

Of the many feature films that have been exhibited at the Grand in the past, the management takes pleasure in announcing that "Judith of Bithulia" a Biograph film of art in four parts, overshadowed all feature films in point of magnificence, staging and wonderful acting. If you have seen the "Last Days of Pompeii" itself a sensation in the film world, you can form an idea what the assertion means when it is stated that "Judith of Bithulia" has this great work outclassed by a big margin. This splendid feature has received more notice from the big critics in Europe and America than any other film feature ever did. It has played the big Broadway theatres to bigger crowds than any other photo play ever did; and to advanced prices, as high as 50c admission being charged in some of the splendid theatres situated on Broadway. The flowing are a few details of this great feature production:

In four parts. Most expensive Biograph ever produced. More than 1000 people and about 300 horsemen. The following were built expressly for the production: A replica of the ancient city of Bethulia; the mammoth wall that protected Bethulia; a faithful reproduction of the ancient army camps, embodying all their barbaric splendor and dances; chariots, battering rams, scaling-ladders, archer towers, and other special war paraphernalia.

A few of the spectacular effects in this photo play are: The storming of the walls of the city of Bethulia; the hand to hand conflicts; the death defying chariot charges at breakneck speed; the rearing and plunging of the horses infuriated by the din of the battle; the wonderful camp of the terrible Holofernes, equipped with rugs brought from the far East; the dancing girls in their exhibition of the exquisite and peculiar dances of the period; the routing of the command of the terrible Holofernes and the destruction of the camp by fire, and overshadowing all is the heroism of the beautiful Judith.

This masterpiece will be shown at the Grand next Saturday and Sunday nights at an admission of 15c and 10c. Tell your friends about it.

ATTORNEY JOHN KENDALL SAVES TWO FROM DEATH

The Marshfield Record has the following to say of John C. Kendall, a well known Marshfield attorney, and who is also well known in Bandon, and the son of Mrs. Kendall, who has resided at the Hansen rooming house in this city for some time:

"Passengers who were going north on the Union this morning and south on the North Star, saw a thrilling struggle at livesaving as the boats were slacking up to meet each other and a woman and her six year old daughter were rescued after five minutes good work. Mrs. Anderson and her daughter were sitting on the rear of the North Star and in some manner, their sump chair upset as the speed of the boat slackened and both went overboard. John C. Kendall, a Marshfield attorney, was returning from an outing at Lakeside and was on the cabin of the North Star. When the woman and girl fell into the water Kendall jumped from the cabin roof and soon had them in his grasp. Mr. Kendall struggled with them in the water and kept them from sinking until the boat could be brought to them and they were then pulled on board by willing hands. The accident occurred in the open bay and the tide was running fast. The trio was put aboard the Union. Passengers who related the occurrence to the Record say Mr. Kendall showed unusual bravery in his rescue work and did what few would be able to accomplish —that is, save two persons at once. They were very profuse in praise of Mr. Kendall's action and say his feat was extraordinary. A spectator who related some of the circumstances to the Record said the little girl was quite a swimmer and kept afloat while Mr. Kendall swam into the Union with her mother. After falling from the boat, the little girl got one leg entangled in the chair and could not release herself, but still she managed to keep afloat. B. N. Holcomb, who was on board, succeeded in getting out the life preservers and after several trials, got one within reach of Mr. Kendall."

LUCILLE LOVE, THE GIRL OF MYSTERY, AT THE GRAND

"Lucille Love, the Girl of Mystery" No. 5. When Lucille Love awoke consciousness in the pit which has been dug by the natives, she had her hand fastened to the wall and realized that the papers have been stolen from her, the deploration of her condition is pitiable. She crawls out of the pit only to see a pair of hungry lions in her path. To escape them she climbs up a tree and to her amazement finds a vine ladder on which to escape into the forest. Lucille is anxious to secure the man who makes Lucille a mangled paper in the eyes of the natives and he orders his native to follow her. In their search they are seen by the lions and in fear they are Loubeque builds a fire all around him through which the lions do not dare to penetrate. The smoke of this fire attracts Lucille and she steals up as near the camping place of Loubeque as possible. Something in the manner of the native causes a suspicion in Loubeque's mind that the avenger is not loyal, but on second thought he dismisses the doubt and goes to sleep. But his doubt of the savage is well founded, and his master is no more than asleep than he takes the papers from his master's shirt and runs away into the forest. Lucille, however, from her vantage point, has seen the pilfering of the papers and follows the man. The lions prove the nemesis of the native and he perishes in their clutches in order to search the body, Lucille goes to the camp and secures a firebrand from the fire which Loubeque now awake and aware of his loss, has also departed. Lucille senses the earth about her gives away and she is precipitated into the midst of a sunken city, inhabited by a race of men similar to the monkeys but with many features which closely ally them with the human race. Possibly they are a race of missing links. At first they are afraid of Lucille as she is of them. But the encouragement of numbers in on their side, and they pursue her to the rude throne of their still ruler king. His primate majesty's method of subduing his subjects is to throw necklaces of diamonds to them, and while they are occupied with collecting them he carries off the prize himself. Lucille sees that she is no safer with the king than with any of the rest of his race and in a desperate moment of strength she frees herself from him and escapes. The unswerving activity of the racing and chasing about, dispenses certain rooms which hold such games. These games collecting quickly explode and the side of the mountain is blown away. Once upon our heroine is at liberty and she searches all along the river bank until she comes upon a native dugout in which she floats down the little river to the seacoast. She finally sees a little brig standing off shore and attracts the attention of the boat swain of the ship's gig. His remembrance and takes her on board the boat. And Lucille passes one comfortable night, since she does not realize that the spy, Loubeque, is on board the same boat, having been rescued the preceding day.

FLORENCE FACTIONS HAVE APPEALED TO SENATORS

Washington, D. C.—The city of Florence is still greatly agitated over the appointment as postmistress of Alice E. Weatherston. The Sinaloa Commercial Club held a meeting July 14th and decided to urge reconsideration and the appointment of C. Buchanan, the present postmaster. The father of Miss Weatherston heard of the meeting at the last minute and was present. He claims that only 13 members attended and that of these five were residents of Florence for less than one year and eight for less than three years, so he argues that it was not a very representative meeting. It is alleged by Miss Weatherston's adherents that during two years she was assistant postmistress, the postoffice had the best administration in its history. Senator Chamberlain has been appealed to by both factions for his support.

PROGRESSIVES TO SUPPORT BOOTH AND HOLLISTER

MANY CITY OFFICERS ARE OUT OF THE CITY NOW

Bandon has a dearth of city officials just at present, as Mayor Geo. T. Topping and City Attorney G. T. Treadgold are both at Salem this week where they have the opposite sides of a case in the Supreme court. Councilman C. R. Moore left on the Bandon for San Francisco yesterday. Councilman H. C. Dippel has not returned yet from his trip to Idaho, thus making four of the important city officials that are now out of the city.

SHAMROCK IV STARTS ACROSS THE ATLANTIC

Southampton, England, July 20.—Shamrock IV, Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger for the America's cup, sailed today on her long voyage to New York, conveyed by the tender Erin. The two yachts will take the southern route. Sir Thomas will follow on a steamer leaving here August. Under the rules governing the America's cup race, the challenger must cross the Atlantic under her own sail. She is manned by a crew of 3 sailors, these being relieved from time to time during the voyage by others from the Erin.
