

BRIEF LOCAL ITEMS

Mrs. Kendall has been at Coos Bay for a few days visiting her sons, Guy and John C. Kendall.

Any school teachers desiring furnished house-keeping rooms call at the Recorder office.—6914

Capt. Robert Johnson is hauling the debris from his lots on First St., and is preparing to build in the near future.

F. S. Perry is building a house on his lots on Third Street, and when it is finished it will be occupied by his son, Frank, and family.

C. Y. Lowe has the second story of his building nearly completed and the upper story will be ready for occupancy in a short time.

Albert Garfield, who sold a Studebaker Six to Clarence Foster a few days ago, will get in a 1915 four cylinder Studebaker in a short time.

The regular meeting of the Bandon Commercial Club will be held at the city hall this evening and every member is urged to be present.

J. A. Byrne has moved his household goods into the rooms in the rear of his furniture store and will thus have his living quarters close to his business.

P. A. Sandberg and family left last Wednesday for Portland where they will make their home. Mr. Sandberg, however, expects to be in this locality a considerable portion of his time for the next year or two.

The towns of Eastside and Cooston on the east side of Coos Bay are quite likely to unite into one municipality. Eastside is already an incorporated city and Cooston is the new town that was boomed about a year ago and really has a promising future.

The Roseburg Review says that W. J. Wilsey, who represents the McArthur Perks Co., contractors, who are building the Willamette Pacific railroad from Eugene to Coos Bay, thinks that though the present war may be the means of unsettling financial conditions for a while, in the end it will make things much better in the Pacific coast section.

S. G. Whittsett, local agent for the Ford automobile, left Wednesday for Portland. He drove the car which Sam Johnson recently sold to Mr. Cooper, who with his family is moving to Portland. Mr. Cooper has considerable property in this city and at Myrtle Point and also has a good ranch near Portland. They expect to remain in Portland for some time.

F. S. Perry received another raft of spruce logs at his veneer plant yesterday and will be operating steadily now for some time. Mr. Perry says if he could get logs he has contracts enough to keep his plant running for ten months in the year, but that it is a hard proposition to get spruce just now, and that is the only kind of timber he uses.

ONE ARREST IN GARDINER STORE ROBBERY CASE

Gardiner—Sheriff Quine is expected here today from the Siuslaw with a suspect whom he has arrested in connection with the Gardiner Mill Company robbery. No particulars have been received from Sheriff Quine. However, it is believed that he must have strong evidence or he would not bring the prisoner back. Three men were alleged to have pulled off the robbery and then separated, going different ways. This was the only development in the case today. Mr. Christie, in charge of the Gardiner Mill Company's offices, states that the report that Mr. Jewett had $100,000 worth of bonds and securities in the safe which was not opened in erroneous. He says that they do not carry so many valuables there and not nearly as much as currently reported. They aim to carry only what cash and papers are absolutely necessary there.—Coos Bay Times.

METHODS OF THE KAISER.

When William Wants Information He Just Simply Gets It.

It is a well known fact that, often becoming interested in some subject, Kaiser William summons the greatest authority on the subject and gets the latest information in the quickest way.

The emperor, so the story goes, summoned Professor Harnack, the renowned theologian, and asked him some technical questions—say, the latest news on the antiquity of the book of John. The kaiser is known to be a specialist in refuting higher criticism, so perhaps the question was even more technical.

He and Harnack indulged in a spirited discussion and all too soon the clock brained private secretary interrupted to tell his majesty that he had an appointment for the next half hour with Prince So-and-so. The emperor's face clouded. "Where am I tomorrow night?" he asked. "Your majesty dines with Count So-and-so." Then turning to the theologian the emperor said, "Well, I shall see you again and finish the discussion."

The next day, Professor Harnack received an invitation from the count who was entertaining the kaiser, and although he was not acquainted with his host he accepted. At dinner he found himself sitting next to the emperor, who immediately resumed the theological discussion where it had been left off the day before. And this time it was finished.—Chicago News.

TYPE AND TAPE.

These Names Sounded Quiser as They Were Heard in London.

Here's one about an American printer whose vicissitudes took him across the ocean last year and landed him in the town of London. The printer is back in Cleveland now and tells the story himself.

This printer bethought him of starting a little paper in the heart of England. So he rented a little building, then went to purchase his type and presses. For the type he stopped at a typefounder's place and explained his needs.

"I want some type," he said. "We don't sell type here," answered the clerk blankly. "You might get it at the draper's shop over the way."

"How should I get type in a draper's shop?"

"How should you get it anywhere else, may I ask, think you, sir?"

"Well, in my country type is sold at a typefounder's, not at a dry goods store."

"Aow? Did y'wish toype, sir? I thought you w'nt type such as they have in type measures and typeworms. You didn't wish type to bind on the edges of frocks, then, but toype to print a paper with? Step this way, thank you, sir."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Cause of the Roman Empire.

The reason "why the Roman empire succeeded the republic" was that there was felt to be an urgent need of a strong central power. For many years the republic had been desolated, and the cry of the whole people was for peace—peace at almost any price. Now, peace could be secured only by the ascendancy of a single man, ruling with absolute and irresistible sway. So the people acquiesced in the change. They even hailed it with joy. A few patriots like Brutus and Cato gave up in despair, but most men were pleased with the revolution which made Caesar supreme—not that they were monarchistic at heart, but that after the devastating strife they wanted peace, even though it be at the sacrifice of some of their liberties.—St. Louis Times.

Japanese Fashions.

A Japanese woman of fashion is by no means a drain on her husband's finances. The cost of her wearing apparel is very small indeed when compared to her sister of the occident. She wears $13.80 worth of clothing under her kimono, the latter costing about $25. The obi costs another $25. Numerous tying paraphernalia sum up to $17.25, and a set of footwear amounts to about $9. Combs and hairpins ornamented with gems cost $245, a shawl $7.50, a diamond neck clasp $160, a total of a little more than $900 for a season. This is a very modest outlay when compared to the enormous cost of apparel for the woman of fashion in New York and Paris.—New York Sun.

A Lesson in Spelling.

The lawyer was Scotch, and the judge was English. The case in argument concerned certain water rights, and the lawyer had frequently to use the word "water," which he pronounced very broad.

"Mr. So-and-so," at last interrupted the judge, "do you spell water with two t's in your country?"

"Na, na, my lord," quickly retorted the lawyer, "but we spell manners wif twa n's!"

Mixed Odors.

"My wife was to give a rose tea—everything scented with roses."

"A delicate conceit."

"Yes; but things went wrong. The people in the next flat took that occasion to have onions and cabbage."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Man of His Word.

Wife—You're changed dreadfully. Before we were married you said last you'd lay down your life for me. Hub—Well, I did—my life of single blessedness.—Exchange.

It is vain to put words in the mouth of him who will not stretch out his hand to take them.—Samuel Johnson.
