

PROMINENT BANDON COUPLE
WEDDED WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Wednesday evening, November 25, at 8 o'clock, at Haberia, the suburban home of Rev. and Mrs. A. Haberly their daughter, Louise Adelina, was married to Mr. Shelby Cleveland McAllister, Rev. Haberly officiating.

Miss Haberly is a graduate of the Bandon High School and has been a successful school teacher, having just completed a term of school in Curry county.

Mr. McAllister is an enterprising young man and at present is employed in Sidwell's clothing store. The happy couple are among the most popular of Bandon's young people and congratulations and best wishes of a large circle of friends will be extended to them.

Mr. McAllister owns a home on Chicago Avenue and the newly married couple will take up their residence in it at once, where they will be at home to their friends.

Breaks Arm.

Mrs. C. Timmons had the misfortune to fall on the beach sidewalk near the old location of the Wigwam, Wednesday, and broke both bones of her left arm just above the wrist. Mrs. Timmons and her sister, Mrs. Wilson, were walking along the sidewalk when a loose board gave way in the walk throwing Mrs. Timmons forward, with the above result. A physician was called and the fractured member dressed, and the patient is getting along as well as could be expected.

"The Beloved Adventurer"

"The Beloved Adventurer" is a special series of fifteen single reel dramatic photoplays written by Emmett Campbell Hall featuring Mr. Arthur V. Johnson and Miss Lottie Byrcoe. The Lubin Company begs to invite special attention to this first serial photoplay released under the Liberty Bell trade mark, as typifying not only the highest development of photo drama, but as a practical adaptation to the business demands of the exhibitor of the multiple reel story.

No expense or pains have been spared to make this series in every respect noteworthy, and one which will establish a new standard in photoplay art. The entire resources of the Lubin Company have been amalgamated in an effort to achieve a triumph in excess of all those which have hitherto been attained. Story of extraordinary strength and interest, with situations of the most intensely dramatic and thrilling nature, touching pathos, and genuine humor; photoplays of extraordinary popularity and ability, and production and photograph of the Lubin standard—all these combine to make "The Beloved Adventurer" worthy of the most enthusiastic reception by photo show patrons. The first of the series will be shown at the Grand next Tuesday evening, Dec. 1st.

Clarence Gatehall of the Gatehall Bros. transfer line, who has been laid up for about four weeks as the result of getting hurt while lifting, is able to be around town again and will probably be able to resume work again next week.

The annual ball given by the members of Occidental Chapter O. E. S. Thanksgiving night was one of the most enjoyable social functions of the season. Dressing pavilion where the dance was held was filled almost to overflowing, and everyone present enjoyed the occasion to the fullest extent. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion and those having the dance in charge left nothing undone to see that all had a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hammel, who have been here for several months in the interests of the new Hotel Gallier have gone to North Bend, but expect to return to Bandon again soon. They also expect to go to Eureka, Calif., to look into a proposition.

Miss A. Simpson, formerly editor of the Bandon Star, but who has been doing book work since the start for several months, was in the city on business Wednesday.

CLERK J. W. MAST IS TAKING SCHOOL CENSUS

J. W. Mast clerk of the Bandon school board, is busy this week taking the school census of this district, and it behooves everybody of school age to let their presence be known to him, as the district will receive its apportionment of the school funds in proportion to the school population and the better showing we make, the more money we get.

Mr. Mast stated to a representative of The Recorder this morning that he thought the school census would show up as well or a little better than last year, when this district showed the largest school population in the county.

Mr. Mast said that a number of families had moved away, owing to the closing down of the Moore mill, but other families had come in, and so far the east half of the district, where he has been working, seemed to have a slight increase over last year, however nothing definite will be known until he completes the census and gets the figures totaled.

BAFFLED THE BOOK AGENT.

A Question That Moved Him First to Pity and Then to Fury.

Several years ago, when Vice President Marshall was paid Attorney Tom Marshall of Indiana, a particularly seedy and down at the heel individual entered the office boy and the stenographer and inhaled himself into the lawyer's back office.

"Mr. Marshall," he began gibberly in that bland professional manner that makes one long for the good old days of blood, "I've heard a great deal of you as a church worker here, and I know you'll be interested in a new and absolutely up to date edition of the English Bible, full morocco bound, hand stitched, annotated." He hurried on, flipping the pages of his book, and placed upon the market at a price which barely covers cost of publication and shipping and—

The attorney had been caught unawares at first, but now he found breath to inquire in his slow drawl, "Who wrote it?"

The other paused to study his victim condescendingly for a moment. "Why,

HE FACED THE MAN IN THE CHAIR.

"I guess you didn't understand me, Mr. Marshall," he explained slyly. "This is a Bible."

"But I did understand," drawled the little man, his face curiously curious. "And I ask you, who wrote it?"

The agent shifted his feet uneasily, ran a suspicious eye over the man at the desk, felt of his collar and cleared his throat in an unobtrusive way. "But, Mr. Marshall," he insisted patiently, "it's a Bible—B-I-B-L-E," he added hopefully, "Bible, you know?"

"Who wrote it?" demanded the future vice president, grave as a cast iron monument of one of the early Christian martyrs.

The visitor's brow was moist now, and his eye searched the four corners of the room desperately. With a last effort he braced himself, looked at the man again, and finding no encouragement there, retreated to the doorway. The knob under his fingers seemed to stir his laboring courage, for once more he threw back his shoulders and faced the man in the chair.

"Why, you idiotic, pig headed fool," he shouted witheringly. "It's a Bible!"—Lippincott's

PAIR ARRESTED AT SALEM YESTERDAY

Attorney G. T. Treadgold received a telephone message from Sheriff W. W. Gage this morning stating that W. J. Mitchell and Pud Noster of Coquille had been arrested at Salem yesterday, traveling with the two Simpson girls formerly of Bandon, under assumed names.

Further details other than those mentioned were not obtainable at the time of going to press.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

E. E. Oakes returned Wednesday from a business trip to Marshfield.

Clarence Tuttle was down from Coquille Thanksgiving visiting friends and relatives.

Sheriff W. W. Gage was in the city Wednesday looking after official business.

Miss Gertrude Wagner of Myrtle Point was in the city Wednesday.

Dr. J. Wennerbees was up from the Star Ranch in Curry county Wednesday.

W. J. Longston was down from Coquille Wednesday looking after business affairs.

Mrs. Geo. Thompson of Langlois spent Thanksgiving in Bandon.

Dr. J. L. Masson, veterinary surgeon, of Myrtle Point, will be at Garouthe Bros. livery barn Saturday and Sunday, November 28 and 29th.

The Elizabeth arrived Wednesday with a good cargo and a large list of passengers.

The Brooklyn sailed Tuesday evening with a full cargo of lumber and freight and six passengers.

Wanted—Position as cook in camp for man and wife, or lady cook in a smaller camp. Inquire at this office.—9212.

"Daughters of Men" is a powerful feature film in five parts at the Grand next Sunday, Nov. 29th.

Saturday's program at the Grand latest war films from Europe—5000 feet of entertaining films.

Chas. F. Pape went over to Coos Bay today on business connected with the Sperry Flour Company.

A Horse's Toenails.

Few persons realize that a horse's hoof is really the same thing as the toe nails of human beings or of animals having toes. The horn of a hoof grows just as a toe nail does.

The hoof grows more rapidly in unshod horses than in those wearing shoes, and it grows faster in horses which are well groomed and well fed. But on an average the horn grows about a third of an inch a month. Hind hoofs grow faster than fore hoofs. The toe of the hoof being the longest part, it takes longer for the horn to grow down there than at the heel. For instance, the toe will grow entirely down in from eleven to thirteen months, while the heel will grow down in from three to five months. As the new horn grows out any cracks or defects in the old gradually work down to where they can be cut off, just as with human shoes nails you can watch the progress of a bruise from the root to the tip.

The oriental belle devotes most of her day to the preservation of her health and beauty. She uses many wonderful cosmetics for coloring her eyes and brows and for beautifying her skin. An arising her hair is dressed by her maid, who massages the scalp with oil made from aloë wood or cocunut. The eastern woman will never interfere with the color of her hair, for the long silky blue black locks are considered her chief charm.

Next a very hot bath is prepared, and in this she remains for two or three hours. In place of soap numberless unguents are used, which render the skin as soft as velvet. These delicate perfumes are secret preparations of the bathing woman.

The hair of the oriental beauty is beautifully long and soft, and they have a way of arranging it which adds a distinct charm. The face is washed over with milk into which the juice of a lemon has been squeezed. Perfumes permeate the garments, but are seldom if ever used on a handkerchief.—Detroit Free Press.

Well, it's suspended. "Pop, tell me one thing." "What is it, my son?" "Is a suspended sentence a hanging matter?"—Baltimore American

A good lookout brings in luck away.—French Proverb

Value of Money. Wealth is no sinners. Moreover, the value of money depends partly on knowing what to do with it, partly on the manner in which it is acquired.—Sir John Lubbock.

The Fateful Story. They are telling a story of a very smart business man who recently hunk up on the wall of his waiting room a notice in black lettering on a white ground that read:

"Tell the World You Want the Love of the Beautiful Girl Somebody. Occasionally he heard laughter come from the waiting room, but it was only the other day that he discovered to his horror that some wicked person had carefully scratched out the "P" in "For"—Parrson's Weekly.

VOTE TAX TO PLANK
THE BEAR CREEK ROAD

The people of Road District No. 20 comprising the Bear Creek and Parkersburg sections held an election at the Parkersburg store Thursday, November 19th, at which time they voted a three mill tax to plank a mile of road on the new grade coming up Bear Creek hill, and the road will now be completed and put into first class condition for travel.

People who use the road now say that the mud is axle deep, consequently it is almost impassable.

The new grade eliminates the old Bear Creek hill which has always been such a terror both to teamsters and automobile drivers, and makes an easy grade of not over seven per cent up the hill.

The people of District No. 20 are to be congratulated upon their enterprise in determining to build good roads. There were 49 votes cast at the election and the proposition carried by seven majority.

BANKED ALL HIS MONEY.

Then Exploited His Views on the Use of a Check Book.

During a financial stringency some years ago a Swedish farmer in one of the middle west states had sold some hogs on the local market and upon receiving his check in payment he immediately went to the local bank to realize on his sale. Upon presentation of the check the banker said to him "Do you wish the money on this check?"

"Well, I think I just so well take him," was the quick reply.

"You really want the money?" "Yah, I think I take the money."

"But do you really need the money?" asked the banker.

"Well, no, I don't exactly need him but I think I take the money."

"Well," said the banker, "if you really want the money of course I will give it to you, but I thought if you did not need it perhaps you might open an account and deposit the money and then check against it as you need it."

"Den ven I send my checks here you will refuse to pay dem."

"Oh, no, we won't. If you open the account we will pay your checks whenever they come in."

This seemed assuring to the Swede, and he said, "Vell, if you pays my checks, den I open de account." And the account was opened and pass-book and check book handed to the new customer.

Half an hour later a close friend of the new depositor appeared at the cashier's window and presented a check signed by his friend for the full amount of the deposit, which was promptly paid by the banker without comment.

In about an hour the Swede appeared and, walking up to the cashier's window, handed the banker his check book minus only one check, with the remark, "Vell, I don't think I needs him any more."

BELLES OF THE ORIENT.

Beauty Baths and Cosmetics Are the Light of Their Lives.

If the woman of fashion of London Paris or New York spent as much time over her toilet as her sister of the far east she would have very little left in which to attend to her social and domestic duties.

The oriental belle devotes most of her day to the preservation of her health and beauty. She uses many wonderful cosmetics for coloring her eyes and brows and for beautifying her skin. An arising her hair is dressed by her maid, who massages the scalp with oil made from aloë wood or cocunut. The eastern woman will never interfere with the color of her hair, for the long silky blue black locks are considered her chief charm.

Next a very hot bath is prepared, and in this she remains for two or three hours. In place of soap numberless unguents are used, which render the skin as soft as velvet. These delicate perfumes are secret preparations of the bathing woman.

The hair of the oriental beauty is beautifully long and soft, and they have a way of arranging it which adds a distinct charm. The face is washed over with milk into which the juice of a lemon has been squeezed. Perfumes permeate the garments, but are seldom if ever used on a handkerchief.—Detroit Free Press.

Well, it's suspended. "Pop, tell me one thing." "What is it, my son?" "Is a suspended sentence a hanging matter?"—Baltimore American

A good lookout brings in luck away.—French Proverb

Value of Money. Wealth is no sinners. Moreover, the value of money depends partly on knowing what to do with it, partly on the manner in which it is acquired.—Sir John Lubbock.

The Fateful Story. They are telling a story of a very smart business man who recently hunk up on the wall of his waiting room a notice in black lettering on a white ground that read:

"Tell the World You Want the Love of the Beautiful Girl Somebody. Occasionally he heard laughter come from the waiting room, but it was only the other day that he discovered to his horror that some wicked person had carefully scratched out the "P" in "For"—Parrson's Weekly.

Well, it's suspended. "Pop, tell me one thing." "What is it, my son?" "Is a suspended sentence a hanging matter?"—Baltimore American

A good lookout brings in luck away.—French Proverb

Value of Money. Wealth is no sinners. Moreover, the value of money depends partly on knowing what to do with it, partly on the manner in which it is acquired.—Sir John Lubbock.

The Fateful Story. They are telling a story of a very smart business man who recently hunk up on the wall of his waiting room a notice in black lettering on a white ground that read:

PORT CASE TO BE TRIED NEXT MONDAY

G. T. Treadgold, attorney for the Port of Bandon, left this afternoon for Salem to try the case of the State of Oregon vs. Port of Bandon, before the Supreme Court. The case comes up for hearing next Monday, and District Attorney L. A. Liljeqvist of Coquille will represent the state in the case.

The outcome of the case will determine the legality of the Port of Bandon, and Mr. Treadgold is very confident of winning the case. The decision of the Supreme Court in this matter will be watched with great interest by people within the bounds of the port.

PICKS POCKET WHILE KISSING.

Italian Thief Employs Naval Ruse to Plunder American.

Rome.—Dr. John Francis Hurley's pocket was picked in the Plaza Despana the other day as he emerged from a bank where he had cashed a check for $150. In relating his experience to the police Dr. Hurley said that what surprised him was the way the thief accomplished his purpose.

"He embraced me and tried to kiss me on both cheeks in the true Italian fashion," said the doctor. "I freed myself immediately and the man apologized courteously and apparently was sorry for the mistake. When he disappeared I discovered the loss of my wallet."

EAT SALMON AND LOWER EXPENSES

Bureau of Fisheries in Bulletin Tells of Advantages.

Washington.—The bureau of fisheries has issued a bulletin to show folks how to eat the high cost of living by eating less meat and more salmon.

Statistics are presented to show that one can buy more bone, muscle, blood and brain building material for less money by purchasing salmon than by purchasing most forms of meat.

One pound of canned red salmon, according to the bureau of fisheries, will cost, if of the best quality, about 16 cents. The same quantity of nutrient in the form of strictly fresh eggs would cost 36 cents; steak, 33 cents; mutton, 32 cents; chicken, 21½ cents; smoked ham, 12¼ cents; pluk salmon, 12½ cents.

The best grades of canned salmon, the bureau of fisheries finds, are richer than meats in body building materials and contain about the same amount of fats. Pink salmon, which is a cheaper grade, is better than meats for making flesh and bone, but has less fat.

"Either is as digestible as the best sirloin steak, there is no waste, and nothing has to be thrown away except the can," says the bureau.

"To reduce the cost of living eat more salmon, especially of the cheaper grades, and less meat. Meats spoil quickly in the home. Canned salmon will keep indefinitely if unopened."

AWESOME AMERICAN PISTOL.

An Amusing Anecdote Related by Explorer Anthony Fiala.

Mrs. Anthony Fiala, wife of the explorer, who is with the Roosevelt expedition, relates an anecdote from one of her husband's letters telling of an experience which he had at Corumbá, on the Bolivian border of Brazil. This town is the resort of lawless adventurers.

Mr. Fiala, accompanied by his body servant, went to a coffee house in Corumbá with a French engineer of his acquaintance, and there the party was joined by a group of other Frenchmen. After a short time one of the men suddenly produced a small ivory handled revolver and began to toy with it, whereupon Mr. Fiala's servant, known as "Sig," nonchalantly threw back his coat and displayed a 45 caliber revolver nestling in its holster. This ended the display of firearms and led one of the strangers to exclaim: "These Americans are murderous. They carry cannons!"

The Secret. Blobs—There is only one thing a woman loves better than to be told a secret. Blobs—What is that? Blobs—To find it out for herself.—Philadelphia Record.

Sure of His Judgment, Anyhow. A girl may not love the man who tells her she is beautiful, but she is pretty sure to respect his judgment.—Chicago Record-Herald

Well, it's suspended. "Pop, tell me one thing." "What is it, my son?" "Is a suspended sentence a hanging matter?"—Baltimore American

A good lookout brings in luck away.—French Proverb

Value of Money. Wealth is no sinners. Moreover, the value of money depends partly on knowing what to do with it, partly on the manner in which it is acquired.—Sir John Lubbock.

The Fateful Story. They are telling a story of a very smart business man who recently hunk up on the wall of his waiting room a notice in black lettering on a white ground that read:

"Tell the World You Want the Love of the Beautiful Girl Somebody. Occasionally he heard laughter come from the waiting room, but it was only the other day that he discovered to his horror that some wicked person had carefully scratched out the "P" in "For"—Parrson's Weekly.

Well, it's suspended. "Pop, tell me one thing." "What is it, my son?" "Is a suspended sentence a hanging matter?"—Baltimore American

A good lookout brings in luck away.—French Proverb

Value of Money. Wealth is no sinners. Moreover, the value of money depends partly on knowing what to do with it, partly on the manner in which it is acquired.—Sir John Lubbock.

The Fateful Story. They are telling a story of a very smart business man who recently hunk up on the wall of his waiting room a notice in black lettering on a white ground that read:

ODD FELLOWS LODGE
ELECTS THEIR OFFICERS

Bandon lodge, I. O. O. F., held the semi-annual election of officers Wednesday night and served a big banquet after lodge was closed.

The newly elected officers are: A. Barrows, Noble Grand; L. I. Wheeler, Vice Grand; I. L. Schofield, Recording Secretary; Harry Hunt, Financial Secretary; and O. A. Trowbridge, Treasurer.

Work in the third degree was also exemplified, the lodge conferring the degree on two candidates.

Coming of Christ Widely Advertised

At the Bible Lecture Tuesday evening in the Orpheum, Mr. Lingenfelder in general made the following statements:

That the second coming of Christ is the most widely advertised event in the history of the human family, but in order to be able to read the advertisements one must be acquainted with the Guide Book. Dan. 12:4 says that in the time of the end knowledge will be increased, and many shall run to and fro. Most all of the conveniences and inventions of today are of modern origin. For example, our fathers and grandfathers harvested their grain with the scy the cradle, the same way it had been done for thousands of years, while today we have the great combined harvester and reaper that will cut, thresh and sack 1800 sacks of wheat a day. The steam locomotive the sewing machine, the telephone, the typewriter, the great printing presses the electric light, the automobile, the flying machine, and ten thousand other things show the increase of knowledge along the lines of invention. Every fast flying train, every foam cutting steamer, every clicking telegraph every sputtering wireless are announcing the soon coming Saviour.

The Lord through his servant James, pictures the condition in the financial world in the last days; brings to view the strife between capital and labor, how men would amass great fortunes, heaping together wealth until it would literally rust and cancer. Never in the history of the world has there been the heaping together such enormous fortunes as there is today. If Adam had received $450 a day from the day he was created and had lived to the present time, he would still lack hundreds of thousands of dollars to equal the fortunes that several men of today have amassed in the lifetime of one man. James says they would be feasting and revelling and sitting in luxury, while on the other hand the would grind down the poor and by fraud keep back their wages. This is certainly fulfilled before our eyes. Many times in the very shadow of the banquet hall where $20,000 and more is spent in one night, half clad children are crying for bread. The Lord says: "Go to now ye rich men, weep and howl for your miseries that shall come upon you. The Lord says this condition would be in the last day just before the Coming of Christ.

The Saviour said as another great advertisement that the sun be darkened, which was fulfilled May 19, 1788; that the stars would fall from heaven which was fulfilled Nov. 13, 1833.

When we open our eyes and look about us, all these things are announcing in thunder tones that Christ is soon coming.

Mrs. O. A. Trowbridge, Miss Gladys Strader and Miss Helen Whitford, who have been spending several weeks in San Francisco and other California points, returned home on the Elizabeth Wednesday.

Raynor Geisendorfer, who underwent a successful operation at the Bandon Hospital for appendicitis, is now at his home and is getting along nicely.

S. D. Barrows has moved his bicycle shop from the rear end of the Marshall lots up to the sidewalk where it will now be handier, both for him and his patrons.

Be sure and see the first installment of "The Beloved Adventurer" a serial story in fifteen chapters. First series at the Grand next Tuesday, Dec. 1st.

Chas. Richert and H. Ross returned last week from their trip to Portland, Salem and other points in the Willamette Valley.