EAT SALMON AND LOWER EXPENSES

Bureau of Fisheries In Bulletin Tells of Advantages.

Washington.—The bureau of fisheries has issued a bulletin to show folks how to smite the high cost of living by eating less meat and more salmon.

Statistics are presented to show that one can buy more bone, muscle, blood and brain building material for less money by purchasing salmon than by purchasing most forms of meat.

One pound of canned red salmon, according to the bureau of fisheries, will cost, if of the best quality, about 10 cents. The same quantity of nutrition in the form of strictly fresh eggs would cost 35 cents; steak, 33 cents; mutton, 32 cents; chicken, 21½ cents; smoked ham, 13¼ cents; pink salmon, 12½ cents.

The best grades of canned salmon, the bureau of fisheries finds, are richer than meats in body building materials and contain about the same amount of fats. Pink salmon, which is a cheaper grade, is better than meats for making flesh and bone, but has less fat.

"Either is as digestible as the best sirloin steak, there is no waste, and nothing has to be thrown away except the can," says the bureau.

"To reduce the cost of living eat more salmon, especially of the cheaper grades, and less meat. Meats spoil quickly in the home. Canned salmon will keep indefinitely if unopened."

THE NEW STATE COUNSELOR.

Robert Lansing Versed In International Law—Johnson, Folk's Successor.

Robert Lansing of New York, appointed as counselor to the state department at Washington to succeed John Russell Moore, is a son-in-law of John W. Foster, secretary of state under President Harrison. Mr. Lansing, like John Russell Moore, has from his entrance into the law specialized in international matters and has represented the United States as counsel before a number of arbitral tribunals and claims commissions. He was born in Watertown, N. Y., on Oct. 17, 1864. He was graduated from Amherst in 1886 and was admitted to the bar three years later.

Cone Johnson of Texas, appointed as solicitor, succeeding Joseph W. Folk, now chief counsel for the interstate commerce commission, is an ardent Bryan Democrat and a leading factor in his party in Texas.

Cone Johnson was one of the original Wilson men in Texas. He was a delegate to the Baltimore convention. Mr. Johnson took a prominent part in the primary fight against Senator Joseph W. Bailey. He has been identified with the prohibition element in the Texas Democracy.

ECLIPSE OF SUN APRIL 21.

Partial Only and Visible North of Washington-Indianapolis Line. People in that part of the United States north of a line drawn from Washington to Indianapolis will be able to see a partial eclipse of the sun if clouds do not prevent at sunrise on April 21. The path of totality of this eclipse will be north of 70 degrees latitude and will pass across Sweden and southwestern Russia.

The United States naval observatory has issued full calculations and maps showing all data of the eclipse. As the observatories at Rim and Kley are in the path, it is not likely any country will go to the expense of sending a party to make observations.

Milk, Butter, Cheese, Made From Beans

After years of experimenting, pure, wholesome milk, so closely approximating the real liquid that excellent cheese and butter can be made from it, is being manufactured in London from the beans of caseln obtained from soy beans. To the caseln are added fats, sugar and salt. Emulsification is then carried out, and lactic acid is added. Soy beans have been used to make all soap and cattle cakes.

"UNDESIRABLE" SHIPPED.

Locked Up In Tool Box of an Outgoing Locomotive.

Springfield, Mo.—How ten fathers horsewhipped a man who had been accused of improper conduct at his boarding house and then shipped him out of town by locking him in the tool box of a locomotive, was told to the police chief here by a committee of citizens who had been summoned to police headquarters.

The affair occurred the night previous, and its victim, according to the report to the police, was Jerry Malone, an employee at the St. Louis and San Francisco (Prisco) railroad shops.

No trace of Malone could be found the next day, and Prisco officials were asked to open the tool box on every locomotive between here and Newburg, Mo., as it is believed he was sent to that town.

NO SLUMS IN NEW YORK.

Verdict of an Expert After a Search Through the City.

I have made an amazing discovery. It is the result of three days and nights of going to and fro in New York—sometimes alone and sometimes with a wise but not cynical friend. And the amazing and surprising discovery is this: There are no slums in New York.

You can find crime and criminality, you can find vice, poverty, drunkenness, disease, but you cannot find a slum—such slums as broken and foster in Antwerp, Genoa, Naples, Paris, London and many another old world city. The reason is that you cannot have a slum without filth, and New York is a clean city. Neither crime nor poverty nor criminality make a slum. You must have filth as well, and that is what New York has not got. I looked for it east and west and north, from river front to river front. Everywhere, anywhere, were crime, vice, mean poverty. Everywhere, thieves, rogues, outcasts, men and women isolated from their kind by sin or mere suffering, but no slums.

Filth, of course, is relative, but the tenements—even the old nests of low houses lined with fire escapes—were habitable human dwelling places. And the night going detective declared he could show me nothing worse. I wanted to see the fetid caves where wretchedness lay moaning on garbage heaps, the windy garrets where it starved and there were its fetid caves.

In the old streets and the dingy corners of Paris you can still find hundreds of them; you have but to stroll peacefully through the street of the Three Gates or the street of the Iron Pot; you have but to go into the suburbs that lie outside the fortified dome—for year by year the centrifugal force that sets in every great agglomeration of human atoms has thrown Parisian beggars into that dreary circumference.

But in the washed and lighted underworld of New York there are no slums. There is not one slum that half deserves the name. Wretchedness, all you please; hunger in the streets and on the house-tops, it may be, but none of those unclean holes of filth without which no real slum can exist.

I speak almost with the decision of an expert, for I spent many years prowlingly investigating the slum that rot and blacken the surface of Europe from Moscow to Lisbon—Vance Thompson in New York Sun.

No Cases For Actors.

There is one profession that has at ways refrained from carrying a walk the stick. The actor knows well that on the stage he must walk without extraneous support, and he knows that the mere hint of a walking stick in his hand as he walks the streets is a temptation to look that way. That Actors, even when out of a job, were born on a stick. That those that their beloved walk in their coat. If the stick of society were to walk the sticks the actors will retreat—London
