WHAT LOVE IS

"Love," writes the editor of an eastern paper, "is at first an illusion and then a delusion."

We can't remember just who this editor is, nor in what paper the quotation appeared but we'll bet our Sunday-go-to-meeting boiled shirt he walks backward and that instead of good red blood there flows through his veins the sourest of vinegar.

Probably somewhere back in his purple, palpitating past there was a girl that passed him by and married the other fellow and ever since the carking canker of crabbedness has been eating away and eating away at that which once beat as his heart. Love, a delusion!

By all the golden, sunny ringlets on the brow of cupid, by all the sweet lips that ever puckered into a rosebud to receive the kiss of a lover, we swear that love is no delusion.

Does a delusion make the world go 'round? Is the blue sky a delusion?

Is it an illusion when the cardiac pumping station goes all a flutter at the soft whispered words of the sweetest girl God ever made?

Is it a illusion when we thrill in every nerve if a tiny, soft, velvet hand chases to linger, just for an instant, in ours, as we look into a pair of eyes whose limpid depths make the profundity of the ocean seem shallow as a mud-puddle?

Is it an illusion when the very marrow in our spinal column freezes if we hear THE girl has a date with another fellow?

Is it an illusion when she buries her face behind the lapel of our coat, shyly nods her head and answers "yes" when we ask her the greatest question in the world? Is it? Is it?

We should say not.

Love is the concentrated essence of goodness, sprinkled upon the tender petals of a crystalized violet. It comes skyhooting down from the high heavens on a mellow moonbeam, entwines its silken tendrils about your fluttering heart until your breath comes in little short quick, ecstatic gasps and your soul just seems to float away on a billow of seafoam to the island of Rosebuds and Orange Blossoms.

Love an illusion?

It is not. And believe us, we know.

We've tried it often enough.—Exchange.

Deputy game warden Thomas has appointed a deputy on the Coquille river to look out for duck hunters, and will show no leniency to anyone who is caught killing ducks out of season.

Governor Withecombe has issued a proclamation setting aside Friday, March 12th., as "Canned Salmon Day" and urging the people of the state to eat as much of that kind of food on that day.

The three Marshfield men, Z. G. Harshman, J. S. Stevens, and Robert Baker, who were arrested on a charge of counterfeiting have been taken to Portland to await trial in the Federal court.

It is stated that in the Willamette valley many farmers are plowing up clover fields, and even clearing up brush lands for the purpose of increasing their wheat acreage, indicating that the coming season will see the largest grain crop ever turned out in western Oregon.

It is said that the Associated Press and the United Press have both decided not to allow a franchise at North Bend for a paper which has been making preliminary arrangements to start there.

Snow in Bandon? Yes Thursday afternoon, quite a baby snow storm occurred about 2 p. m. True it melted as soon as it struck the warm earth but piled up in little drifts along the side walks where it lay fifteen minutes before melting.

The Scrap Book

The Horse Was There.

The late P. T. Barnum had a keen sense of humor and delighted to play a practical joke on all and sundry.

Keene, the great tragedian, was playing Richard III. in San Francisco at the same time as the "only and original greatest show on earth" was in the city.

One night, when the well known sentence was uttered, "A horse, a horse—my kingdom for a horse!" out from the wings there issued forth a quadruped that struck the audience dumb—a veritable living skeleton, with disjointed knees and striped with all the colors of the rainbow. A large card, bearing the legend, "How's This, Sonny?—P. T. Barnum," was fastened above the animal's head.

It was the best ad. "P. T." ever issued, but it cost him hundreds of dollars to square things.

Do It Now.

Lose this day loitering—'twill be the same story tomorrow, and the next more dilatory; Thus indecision brings its own delays And days are lost lamenting o'er lost days Are you in earnest? Seize this very minute— What you can do or dream you can, be gin it. Courage has genius, power and magic in it. Only engage, and then the mind grows heated— Begin it and the work will be completed. —Goethe.

Having Fun With a Bostonian.

A Boise City (Ida.) man tells of a poker game in that town wherein there sat "a good thing" in the person of a nice young man from Boston.

Now, as the players were professional gamblers, there did not seem to be much chance for the Hubbitie. The latter, however, did pretty well. So well, indeed, that the gamblers were puzzled. On one hand there was bet $2. This the tenderfoot promptly raised $12.

"I'll just lift that $150," announced one of the gamblers.

To the astonishment of all, the tenderfoot saw the raise.

"What have you got, anyway?" demanded the gambler testily.

"A pair of kings," said the Bostonian, laying them down.

"Bill," said the gambler, turning to a friend, "tell him they're good—I can't."—Lippincott's.

"WHAT HAVE YOU GOT, ANYWAY?"

"A pair of kings," said the Bostonian, laying them down.
