

PORTS AND PUBLIC WELFARE

Marshfield Sun Comments Thereon as Well as on Some Other Matters

The Marshfield Sun has had a few thought throbs on the port question and matters pertaining to city economy in the Bay burg and has relieved itself of the following:

Coos Bay Has Clear Sailing—Bandon Strikes Snag

From newspaper reports, it appears that the main point upon which the supreme court granted a rehearing in the Bandon Port case, which was brought to test the validity of said port, was on the grounds that the territory embraced in the Port of Bandon overlapped or included land already incorporated in the port of Coos Bay. To the lay mind, this contention, if true appears necessarily fatal. But what Coquille seems to have encountered in forming its district seems to have been overlooked in the "friendly suit" that followed the organization of the Coos bay body. If the Port of Coos Bay has included part of the Coquille water shed in its confines, and we are satisfied that it has—Prosper precinct having voted on the selection of commissioners for their side—it seems to be very curious and very strange that the issue was not raised in the Coos Bay case. Or was the friendliness of the case so pronounced that this particular issue was allowed to get by. It was generally clear in the understanding of the average individual that the port districts were to embrace territory within that particular watershed. But in the formation of the Port of Coos Bay, we went out of this watershed and included the ten mile country which has a distinct and separate watershed of its own. Big Creek embracing Shore Acres and other lands, near the entrance to Coos Bay were omitted and the reason given was that it had a water shed of its own, the argument being supported by the facts. Then we jump over the divide and grab a piece of Coquille territory. The Port of Coos Bay received the official sanction of regularity from the supreme court, and now comes the Port of Bandon and its plans seem to have been upset for traveling on similar lines to that of Coos Bay in its program of organization. The conclusion is therefore readily reached that what is sauce for the goose is not always sauce for the gander.

Pulling Its Teeth

It seems that Attorney Liljeqvist is to have another throw at the port on the Coquille side of the divide. He was author of a bill which would have reserved to the taxpayer a say in bonding for large sums. The measure applied to all ports and would have pulled some of the creature's vicious, bond eating teeth. Alas for Coos Bay, it was late on the calendar even had the solons at Salem given it the official o. k. We have already taken the hurdles—been devoured by the Port shark, figuratively speaking. So our enthusiastic port neighbors must accept this comment from a district that has been through the mill. We can not but look with some apprehension, that is born of experience, least the Coquille should endure the pains suffered by us, and are ready with advance sympathy. We are not butting into your game, but are hoping that you get results—a run for your money. Whatever dental work is accomplished by Mr. Liljeqvist in the rehearing of the Port Case will lessen the pain to be experienced by the taxpayers on the Coquille, if it becomes their lot to travel the route traversed by his Coos Bay neighbor. Taking Up the Slack

YOU START AT ZERO

We all start out in life from the Zero mark. It is uphill all the way. The higher we go the more we are looked up to. The man who attains success must take himself seriously, look to his own interests and conserve his strength, wealth and ability. Many people are depositing their money with this bank, paying by clerk, and furthering their own interests, thereby raising their marks high above zero on the gauge of life.

Facing an inevitable deficiency the city council last Monday made a move in reducing expenses in an effort to have the municipalities disbursements coincide with its revenues. It was decided to discontinue the appropriation to the band, a street cleaner will be let out, one engineer in the fire department will lose his position and compensation for fire drills will cease with the conclusion of this month. These reductions aggregate $3,000 annually, which amount must be augmented before the revenues in sight will be sufficient to meet the budget of expenses, as unforeseen items are cropping up all along the line.

These reductions were made on the recommendation of the finance committee which some time ago started in to take up the slack by recommending the combining of the offices of street superintendent and inspector, which would have saved the city the salary of one supernumerary. The measure was passed by the council, 4 to 2, but Mayor Allen's veto saved the day for at least one parasite. The finance committee's memory was evidently fresh on the mailed list policy of the mayor, hence no recommendation to unhorse the chairwarmers, whose particular service to the city is their agreeableness in accepting a compensation for which no adequate return is given, the taxpayers. Trimming the fire department, the street department and cutting off the band and maintaining a building inspector in office does not meet with the satisfactory comment of the people. It is good politics but very poor financial policy.

H. G. Huntley and wife of Gold Beach were in Bandon yesterday.

Roseburg's Seventh Annual Strawberry Carnival is to be held May 21-23 this year and will excel all previous affairs in the estimation of the committee in charge. Although the plans have not reached a very matured point, it is evident that music is to be one of the big features. Two bands are already lined up for the "high jinks" As usual the Umpqua valley strawberry is to be the official die for the occasion and will appear in big letters on every menu.

Teachers for Next Year

The School Board of the city district met on Tuesday and re-elected Chas. A. Howard as superintendent for the coming year at the same salary $1500 per year. The principalship of the High School was tendered to Jesse W. Crites, of Hood River, at a salary of $1,050, in place of L. W. Turnbull, who goes to Bandon this fall as superintendent.

The following comprising the entire corps at the present time, were re-elected to the same positions they now hold: Mrs. Inez Chase, Miss May Allen, Miss Allie Phillips, Miss Emma Kennedy, for the Academy, Mrs. Mary Hull, Mrs. Elena Minard, Mrs. Eva Wise, Miss Rena Anderson, Miss Hazel Fawcett for the grades at the high school building; Miss Ada May Newell, Miss Mabel Hansen for the High School.

The salaries range from $62.50 to $85 per month—Sentinel
