A Welcome Pay Envelope

HONEST, old man, I don't know what we would have done without that AETNA ACCUMULATIVE ACCIDENT POLICY.

When a fellow lives on the "no-work-no-pay" basis and has nothing to fall back on, a cracked head and a broken arm don't get him anything. All he can do is sit around and wonder how the wife can scrape together enough to keep the family going. He just naturally worries himself twice as sick.

But this Aetna Accident Policy takes the place of the pay envelope. Gives you $50 a week as long as you're totally disabled by your injuries and $25 a week even though you are only partially disabled by them. Pays the bill for a surgical operation, too.

All you do is sit back and tell your broken head and arm: "All right, boys, take your time about healing. I'm provided for until you're fit again."

PORT ORFORD REPORTS

(From Port Orford Tribune.)

Born—At Wedderburn Or., April 2, 1915, to Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Fromm, a son.

Mr. Steinhoff, the Bandon harness man, is spending a few days at Port Orford.

Mr. Bottsford, who buys the ties that are made here was in Port Orford yesterday.

The April term of Circuit court will be called by Judge Coke at Gold Beach next Wednesday, the 18th.

County Commissioner E. B. Sypher, passed down the coast Tuesday to attend County court which convened at Gold Beach today.

Bill Nye, one of the oldest drummers in point of service making this territory passed down the coast by private conveyance yesterday.

A four horse team from Bandon passed down the coast yesterday with nine Chinamen who are going to Rogue river to work in the cannery for the Wedderburn Trading Company.

The Kustier and Roamer dropped into our harbor Monday evening. They were mostly loaded for Rogue river, but had about forty tons of freight for this place.

The new wharf will be 100 feet long part of it 40 feet wide and part 60 feet wide, and will be built in about the same place as the one that went out a year ago. It will be connected by a wide drive way with the approach that was left standing to the wharf that went out last January.

Clint Malehorn will give a demonstration of what a Yuba Tractor machine can do in the way of hauling gravel at Port Orford on April 15th. Two of the best teams in the community will compete with the tractor in hauling from Elk river to the Long bridge fill. All interested are invited to witness the contest.

Messrs. Long and Eppling, from Los Angeles, have leased the Elk Horn mine on a royalty from W. H. Ellwood, and will commence operations there within the next few weeks. This property is about four miles above C. H. Pearce's place on Elk river.

They have a new device for saving placer gold, which has proven very successful in beach sand, and which has proven very successful in beach sand, and which they will use in working the Elk Horn.

R. M. Buffum and C. H. Smith returned to Port Orford a few days ago from a prospecting trip in the vicinity of the J. R. Smith strike on Rock creek. They have located several claims adjoining Mr. Smith's property, and are highly elated over the outlook.

They brought back with them some nice samples of placer gold, which they say that they picked up in the creek on their locations without any washing at all. Both gentlemen believe that J. R. Smith has made a real find and that some great mines will be developed in the section.

The effect of the European war on our immigration is plainly discernable for the year which will end June 30th has seen the smallest immigration into the United States since 1898. In

MY CYCLE, 'TIS OF THEE

(Tune America)

My cycle, 'tis of thee, short cut to poverty.

Of thee I chant,

I blew a pile of dough on you two years ago

And now you refuse to go—

Or wont or can't.

Through town and countryside, you were my joy and pride,

A happy day.

I loved thy gaudy hue, thy nice white tire so new,

But now you're down and through in every way.

To thee, old rattle box, came many bumps and knocks;

For thee I grieve.

Badly thy tires are torn; frayed is thy seat and worn;

A whooping cough affects thy horn, I do believe.

Thy motor has the grip, thy spark-plug has the pip.

And woe is thine.

I, too have suffered chills, ague and kindred ills,

Endeavoring to pay my bills, Since thou wert mine.

Gone is my bank roll now; no more 't would choke a cow,

As once before.

Yet if I had the "mon", so help me John—amen.

I'd buy a machine again,

And speed some more.

CRUISE OF TIMBER ON THE NATIONAL FORESTS OF THE NORTHWEST

According to an announcement made today by the District Forester at Portland, Oregon, the results of the 1914 cruise of timber on the National Forests of the Washington and Oregon have just been compiled, and show that during the last field season an area of 115,649 acres was covered in Oregon and 77,000 acres in Washington.

It has been the practice of the forest service for some time to carry on intensive cruising and mapping in localities where there was likely to be a demand for government timber. The object of the work is to obtain definite and detailed information regarding the topography and the timber and other resources on each tract examined. During 1914, work was carried on in four different localities in Oregon and two in Washington, the crews doing the work carrying in number from four to thirteen.

The most extensive area covered in Oregon was east of Mt. Scott on the Crater Forest in southern Oregon, where a crew of ten men covered an area of 51,855 acres. An area of 48,998 acres was cruised in the Breitenbush country on the Santiam Forest, Oregon, just west of the Cascade divide. Of the two projects in Washington, that carried on in the neighborhood of Squire Creek on the Snoqualmie Forest in Snohomish County covered 55,820 acres; while that on the Bogachiel River on the Olympic Forest in western Washington covered only 21,190 acres, yet was the most difficult and expensive work of the season.

The cost of the work varied from ten to twenty-seven cents per acre, depending upon the ruggedness, brushiness, and inaccessibility of the country. In most of the projects the cost per thousand feet cruised was less than half a cent. On some of the projects, particularly those in heavy timber west of the Cascades, the cruising and mapping is carried on under severe hardships and handicaps, which make the cost much higher than in the park-like yellow pine forests east of the Cascades. On the Bogachiel project in the Olympic Mountains, for example, the cruisers were able to run only a mile or so a day, and as they moved camp, had the build a trail ahead of them in order to get their equipment in.

It is probably that during the coming season another 200,000 acres will be mapped and cruised by the Forest Service in the two States, since it is part of the plan of the administration of the National Forests to take stock of their resources and make a good topographic map of areas hitherto unmapped.

TRUTH AND PARADOX

"Most fanatics, cranks and madmen" says Rev. Dr. Frank Grace, in his new work, Footnotes to Life "are those who are unable to understand a paradox. Every truth has its opposite, which is also true. Sanity consists in understanding this; insanity is failing to see it.

"Workable, every day truth is made up of two or more contradictions. The true doctrine is always a balance.

What we call Orthodoxy has outlived the Heresies, because Orthodoxy as a rule dares to retain the mystery of opposing truths, while Heresy as a rule has been too logical, and becomes mad with clearness.

"For instance, the truth lies not in Fate (determinism, predestination) nor in Free Will, but in Both.

"Man is not a Spirit nor a Brute; he is Both. Whoever excludes wholly the one or the other from his idea of man is not so much untrue as he is crazy.

"So the religious fanatics on the one hand and the atheists on the other; the temperance wild men, and the drunkards; and all those who swing to extremes, are illustrations of the rule that sanity is a balance and not a hard certainty.

"There are a large number of truths, says Pascal, 'that seem repugnant and contrary, yet which subsist together in an admirable order. The source of all religious errors is the exclusion of one or another of these truths."

HAS JUDGMENT

A Judgment for more than $4,000 secured by the Robert Dollar Company against the Coquille Lumber Company took on another aspect when this afternoon A. P. Davis, deputy sheriff, went to the office of H. E. Coffin, cashier of the Smith Powers Logging Co. to garnish money alleged to be owing the Coquille Lumber Co. the First National Bank in this case representing the Robert Dollar Company—Times.

Irvin Cold says the United States is like a big, fat oyster and unless it secures a large navy and coast defense and an adequate army, some day a nation with a oyster fork will swallow it up.
