

PUBLICITY!

Advertising is an important feature of modern business. A merchant may have the very thing the public needs but unless the latter is aware of this, the law of supply and demand will not work out. Newspaper advertising is the best way to accomplish this end. The name of a business man or firm which appears regularly in the columns of the Recorder is naturally most familiar to Recorder patrons and the first to be patronized when anything is needed.

Roseburg hopes to make arrangements that will allow the display of the Liberty Bell there on the way to the fair.

The game warden has closed the crab cannery at Empire, operated by T. H. Barry. He claims it is being run out of season.

Geo. O'Hara and a party of men on their way to repair the Cape Blanco wireless station state that the removal of the wireless station from there is unlikely.

North Bend is going to lose the only mayor it ever had. When L. J. Strapson resigns this week he will move to Shore Acres. Pressing business is given as the cause.

J. L. Campbell of San Francisco faces a white slavery charge in the federal court. He is charged with bringing a woman, Mina Devoe to Marshfield from Oakland.

Patrick Hennessey has leased the Henry coal mine from the C. A. Smith Co. New machinery has been installed which will lessen the force of men employed to about twentyfive.

The steamer Elder is to be withdrawn from the service at Coos Bay and the Kilborn and the Santa Clara will be put on giving a service of every five days between Marshfield and Portland and San Francisco.

E. G. Perham of Marshfield has secured the contract for the new bridge across the Chetco river in Curry Co. at a cost of $23,000. The bridge will be 180 ft. long and consist of three spans. It will connect Harbor and Brookings.

T. D. Sheridan, the Roseburg banker, recently convicted in the federal court at Salem for misuse of depositors' money has been refused a new trial and the minimum sentence of five years' imprisonment has been imposed.

Figures prepared by Deputy Secretary of State Koser shows that the primary and general elections in 1914 cost the state $252,217.54, and he estimates that if a referendum election is held this fall the cost will be easily $100,100.

A. H. Boice, A. J. Marsh and H. T. Stewart have been appointed judges to watch the workings of a Yuba tractor in hauling gravel and road work. If the machine does the work for half the cost of teams, Curry county will purchase it for $3,000.

Geo. Moore of Cooston killed three deer in one week. He was arrested on one charge by game warden Thomas and fined $25 in the justice court of North Bend. Four neighbors who accepted gifts of venison from Moore are equally liable with him.

The Dalles-Celilo canal cost the government $4,850,000 to construct and added to this sum is $375,000 the purchase price of the Willamette canal. A six day celebration was held over the completion of this project which is surely one worth celebrating.

The Coos Bay Business Men's association is protesting against the use of the telephone directory as an advertising medium. They claim it is a nuisance to the users of the telephone to have to wade through a mass of advertising matter to find a name.

Kendall Bros. who are promoting the road from Roseburg to their forest reserve in the Cascades, ask to have the articles of incorporation to include the right to construct the line through to Boise, Idaho. The road is to be incorporated for one million dollars.

This causes the question to arise—Is this got a part of the transcontinental road? R. S. Johnson has arrived in Roseburg and will design a mill of 250,000 ft. daily capacity.

The Austrians who passed the forged checks met with swift retribution at the hands of the law. Five were sentenced to the penitentiary at Salem and two received 20 year sentences.

The judge recommended the leniency of the pardoning board in the case of Joe Beach, who is young. The others were Panovich, Joe Davis, Dan Mandich and Sam Logan. As is so often the case, the real or worst culprit, called "Nirk" escaped. Had the Austrians had money or influence it is hardly likely that their trial and conviction would have been as speedily consummated.

I. S. Phinney, afflicted with locomotor ataxia and who has contemplated suicide for a couple of years, shot himself to death with a .38 caliber revolver in the Blanco hotel, Marshfield, Thursday.

Landlord Lamson who has operated the Breakers hotel at Gold Beach for the past three years will construct a thoroughly modern 30 room hotel in Brookings, the new lumber city in the near future. Ten of the rooms will be provided with bath. The hotel will be steam heated and electric lighted and have a perfect sanitary system and modern equipment.

Brookings is owned by the Brookings Land and Townsite company, a subsidiary of the lumber company. The town is laid out on a designed plan with a civic center and building restrictions.

The lot on which the building is to be erected contains one acre, situated in one corner of the civic center with graded streets, shade trees and shrubbery arranged in the most artistic manner with fountains and rest places in profusion for tired people. No pains will be spared to make it one of the most cozy corners on the coast, a real traveler's retreat.

Soap From Sealion Oil

The possibilities of a new industry have been opened by Geo. Forty and some associates, in the manufacture of soap from sealion oil. A factory on Coos Bay has turned out some samples of the product, several bars of which found their way to our sanctum. Used in the family washing they did excellent service, but several days later when ye editor changed in to some heavy undergarments and warmed up a bit we reminded ourselves so strongly of an old gentleman sealion that we hunted up our discarded clothes and went back to them again. Mr. Forty and his associates have discovered an excellent dirt remover, and now if they can discover a perfume, other than the natural one, to go with it, their discovery will be complete and their fortune assured.

Dillon Miller who about two months ago went to eastern Oregon in quest of a fortune killing coyotes for bounty returned a few days ago, stronger in head but weaker in the pocket. He saw one coyote during his travels through three of four counties. He says there is more doing here than any section he visited on his trip.—Gold Beach Globe.

NOT SMALLER AND DRIER BUT BIGGER AND WETTER

Planet Earth Has Long Future Ahead and It is Getting Better as a Place to Live, Says the Geologist

The earth is not beginning to lose moisture and atmosphere and is therefore not in the afternoon of its existence; instead it is getting bigger and wetter, according to present day geologists, among whom is Warren D. Smith, Ph. D. professor of geology in the state university.

"It is the chemist's view rather than the geologists, that the earth is passing its prime and will in time become a dead body like the moon," says Dr. Smith. The latest researches in geology seem to indicate that the earth is still growing in size and acquiring moisture. As it grows it attracts more and more atmosphere instead of losing what it has.

"Besides getting the material that is always being fed into the earth in the form of meteorites, we may any time drift into a part of space that is even richer in world building particles than the space we are in now. Many geologists believe that the present lifeless condition of the moon is one which the earth passed long ages ago. We are more apt to be smothered because the air is getting too thick and moist than we are apt to dry up and blow away.

"But before either of these conditions come to pass we shall probably have discovered a way to migrate to some other planet, or be to a certain extent released from bodily limitations and be able to exist on a more nearly spiritual plane in a way that is at present beyond even the grasp of our imaginations."

THE NEW TIDE

The Oregon Coast Daily Tide, North Bend's new paper, is to make its initial appearance early next week. The balance of Editor Weld's plant, that has the longevity record in coming from Atlantic coast, arrived on the steamer Yellowstone and is now being set up in the building that is to house the latest acquisition to the newspaper fraternity in Coos. From a point of equipment in the mechanical department for newspaper work or commercial printing none are better prepared than Mr. Weld. The Oregon Coast Daily tide is to appear as a morning edition, which gives Coos Bay a morning paper as well as two evening journals.

DO IT NOW! WHAT? ORDER A TELEPHONE! WHY?

Because a new directory is being published this month. YOUR NAME should be in it. Don't you know a business man cannot be considered in business unless he is available for instantaneous communication with the 3000 telephones in Coos County. A telephone in the home is a convenience and comfort which every wife and mother deserves.

The Telephone Directory reaches more people than any other advertising medium and it is used by them many times every day. Advertising in the directory will build your business.
