GOLD BEACH GOSSIP

(From the Gold Beach Globe)

Allen Lawrence of Pistol river had the misfortune a few days ago to break a small bone in the instep of his right foot, has necessitated the use of crutches.

A man by the name of Lewellen was arrested by Constable C. S. Gauntlett last week for killing a doe deer. He was caught red-handed by the officer, and arraigned before Judge Stafford, who assessed the damage at twenty-five dollars.

Jim Wilson, the Syrian wrestler of San Francisco, accompanied by Percy Zumwalt of Port Orford, arrived in town yesterday. Mr. Wilson is not a large man but his physical make-up, the graceful precision of every movement, the springy step and the very air in which he moves bespeaks for him that it would take a very large man to dirty his back. Mr. Wilson will give an exhibition tomorrow evening in which he will throw Percy Zumwalt, George Sutton, Clarence Wright and Matt Coy within one hour.

Last night, while in an intoxicated condition, Dan Connors without cause struck at Dave Colvin with a knife, inflicting an ugly wound upon the upper lip. The knife after passing through the lip, passed downward across the breast cutting a slit in Dave's coat some two inches long and a small opening in the coat sleeve.

Connors has been arrested and is now held awaiting the action of the Grand Jury.

John Adams the efficient Deputy Game Warden for Curry County, has tendered his resignation as warden which has been accepted by the Department but will not be effective until the last day of open season, Oct. 31. This will be hailed with regret by the law abiding people of Curry as Mr. Adams has been a faithful, fearless servant of the state and has enforced the law in a manly and broadminded way, never needlessly embarrassing a man in his charge or adding unnecessary expense to the county. Mr. Adams is to be succeeded by Cal. Wright of Coos County. Mr. Wright has served in that capacity for several years in Coos county and is doubtless a good officer but to bring an outside man in the Globe believes is a mistake that the department is not justified in making for various reasons. In the first place a stranger will have to acquaint himself with the mountains as well as the people of Curry before he can hope to get good results from his efforts. No matter how efficient an officer Mr. Wright may be, there are just as capable men in Curry who should be given the preference over a stranger. Curry county has to pay the cost of prosecuting all violations of the game law in this county and it nothing more than right that one of her citizens be given the chance of putting that salary money in circulation in the county.

The array of legal talent before the bar of justice at this term of court is represented by John Goss, Herbert Murphy and C. P. Peck of Marshfield, Geo. P. Topping of Bandon, C. J. Walker of Lakeport, J. C. Johnson, district attorney, J. Huntley, C. H. Buffington and W. A. Wood of Gold Beach.

Oregon at the Fair

Oregon is to keep up the favorable reputation enjoyed thus far at the exposition, much new grains, grasses, fruits, vegetables must be forthcoming within the next three months. The apples of last season, now a year old, have held up so remarkably that Californians are amazed; but with the tremendous quantity of fresh fruit of all kinds now being shown by California it will be necessary for Oregon to get into the game with better material. The Oregon commission will pay the freight or expressage on all shipments sent to the commission for display purposes. In the case of fruit, a two box shipment at two different items is preferred, but a one box shipment at two different times is a necessity if it is desired to enter the fruit in competition for awards. Any one with any sort of fruit fit for display purposes may send it here in the certainty that it will be shown in the best place possible and with the senders name and address conspicuously displayed thereon. If the fruit is nicely packed and would be a credit in competition with fruit from other sections it will be entered for judgment by the jury of awards and then placed on display.

All shipments of fruit, grains, grasses, vegetables, etc. should be well packed and marked Oregon Commission, Oregon building, Panama-Pacific exposition, San Francisco.

Oregon has the products of all kinds that will eclipse anything seen on display here—it is merely a matter of getting it to the exposition. It would seem that those who raise what they consider superior products would be glad to send a small sample to show the world what can be raised in Oregon.

The Southern Oregon Booth boasts the first new pears sent in. These are Bartlets raised by Minear of Medford and they are beauties.

J. F. Looney & Son and the Wood River Valley creamery of Fort Klamath, have cheese and butter on display at the Klamath county booth. Some new vetch has been added here also and five varieties of flour made by the Klamath Roller Mills is a good advertisement.

W. S. Blair of Oregon City has sent down some fine potatoes now shown in the agricultural palace.

Some fine fleeces from the Pendleton Woolen Mills now grace the East Oregon Booths.

Figs from J. Pruner of Riddle, Douglas county are here.

A new baby is a recent arrival and is on display in the Willamette Valley booth. This is a "Baby Seitz" camp stove a substantial knock down affair likely to become popular. It is from the Eugene Iron Works.

Coos Bay scenes, painted on myrtlewood came from Mrs. S. Rogstad.

Klamath sends new beans and Medford, Ashland and Gold Hill some fine Crawford peaches, Howell and Conice pears.

Two big Oregonians have taken advantage of the opportunity here to do a very handsome thing for the two young women of the Oregon Agricultural college engaged in the effort that is bringing the building and the state into such favor in the exposition. William Hanley who owns the half of Eastern Oregon was down two or three months ago and he was so appreciative of the young women in their hard work and remarkable success that he chartered automobiles and gave them an afternoon's ride to see the sights of the region. President W. J. Kerr of the college, here attending the N. E. A. found the time and the opportunity Sunday afternoon to take the entire crowd as well as the college and university young men on a boat trip out through the Golden Gate past the spot where the ill fated Rio Janeiro disappeared and on to the famous Cliff house and Seal rocks. The waves rolled high and some of the party were in a more or less doubtful condition but the trip was voted a splendid success. No people on the grounds work harder than these domestic science women or get less pay. In fact they put in long hours and get nothing but the experience, their expenses paid and the opportunity to see the big exposition at intermittent times—but they are pleased to be here and to serve the crowds that are so delighted with the meals served.

St. Paul, Minn. Dr. S. L. Magdner and Dr. N. G. Mortensen charged in court with kicking out the false teeth of Emil Freiden were dismissed because of lack of evidence when the false teeth could not be produced.

INCENDIARY BOMBS.

These Missiles of Fire and Fumes Are Loaded With Thermit.

Incendiary bombs differ from ordinary explosive bombs in that they are intended not to scatter fragments over a wide area, but to produce sudden and intense heat at a given point, thus starting a fierce conflagration.

W. A. Thiden describes in Nature one of these bombs. His account is as follows:

The bomb, as a rule, is conical, of ten inches diameter at the base, corded round and has a metal handle at the apex. The base is a flat cup, on to which a pierced metal funnel is fitted, having the ignition device and handle fitted at the top. The funnel is generally filled with thermit, which upon ignition generates intense heat and by the time of the concussion has taken the form of molten metal of the extraordinarily high temperature of over 5,000 degrees F. The molten metal is spread by the concussion. Outside the funnel is a padding of a highly inflammable or resinous material, bound on with an inflammable form of rope. The resinous material creates a pungent smoke.

There is generally some melted white phosphorus in the bottom of the cap, which develops nauseous fumes. In some cases celluloid shavings are added and occasionally a small quantity of petrol.

JOGGED HIS MEMORY.

One Clever Wife Made Sure Her Letters Would Be Mailed.

It was one of those days when it rained without the least warning that a well dressed man stopped in front of a High street business place. He stood with stilled look, as though some heavy weight was on his mind. For fully five minutes he stood there thinking, thinking, thinking.

Then it began to sprinkle a little, and he raised an umbrella which he had been tossing from one hand to the other as he went through his different pockets. When he raised the umbrella two letters already stamped fell from it to the ground. They struck first on the hat of the man and then slowly fell down past his face. There was a broad smile, and he picked them up.

"I knew there was something my wife had told me to do, but I couldn't make out for the life of me what it was," he said to another gentleman who stood near by.

The wife had placed two letters in his umbrella. She was certain that there would be a shower and that in no other manner could she be sure of having the letters mailed.—Columbus Dispatch.

The New Minister.

"How do you like your new minister?"

"Very much, indeed. He's the right sort, one of those 'man among men' ministers, you know. Comes over to the house occasionally and smokes a pipe, plays on our baseball team, good at tennis and golf and seems to believe in getting pleasure out of this life."

"I see."

"Yes, and he's interested in the things we laymen are interested in. He discusses the problems of the day. I tell you he's a fine fellow."

"I know, but what sort of sermons does he preach?"

"Well, that I can't tell you. I haven't been over to hear him preach yet."—Detroit Free Press.

Swift and Stubborn.

Absalom rode a "mule." Some of the easiest, strongest, swiftest riding animals in the country still are mules, and a fine white mule brings a price equal to the finest horse. When the Egyptian army invaded Syria in 1839 its leader, Ibrahim Pasha, rode a remarkable mule, which covered almost unbelievable distances in a single day. Mules are phenomenal in their toughness and were no doubt as stubborn and unmanageable in Absalom's day as in ours, so that there was no holding the animal back after Absalom became entangled in the oak undergrowth.—Christian Herald.

Obliging.

Mr. Bowen was having dinner with the Reillys, and the seven-year-old son of the family was present.

"And what are you going to be when you grow up, young man?" asked Mr. Bowen of the little boy.

"Well," replied the boy thoughtfully, "after I've been a minister to please mother an' a judge to please father I'm goin' to be a policeman."—New York Times.

Burdens of Fashion.

"I guess," said she, "I'll put on my thinking cap and consider the matter." "Well, well!" said an old codger who overheard the remark. "Has it gotten so a woman has to put on a special form of headgear just to do a little thinking?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Didn't Pay.

"You department store people have everything. It's a wonder you don't have a department to supply women with husbands."

"We tried that once, but the percentage of returned goods was too large."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
