WINE GRAPES AS HOG FEED

New Use for Vine Fruit Threatens To Make California Dry

Abolition of the saloon in California is planned by the brewers and the wine growers association. These two business interests, acting together, are planning to present to the people of that state an anti-saloon bill to be submitted in November, 1916. The brewers and the wine growers are uniting against the saloon and the whisky interests in order to save their own business, realizing that it is only a question of time when California goes "dry" unless the saloon is disposed of. In California it is generally conceded that only the exposition saved the state from going "dry" with Oregon, Washington and other states last autumn. The southern and northern parts of California voted "dry" on the question of statewide prohibition, but the bay counties saved the day by rolling up a tremendous majority for the "wets," feeling particular interest in the exposition, then approaching. Even people who voted against prohibition refused to support the plan to prevent resubmission of the question for eight years, reserving to themselves the right to vote for prohibition without waiting that long.

One of the chief arguments advanced against prohibition was that it would ruin the wine business in California and the thousands of acres of wine vineyards would become worthless. The government war tax has controverted this argument. Owing to the heavy war tax there is practically no wine being manufactured in California at present and the owners of wine grape vineyards are drying their crop and feeding it to the hogs. The experiment has shown that these dried grapes are as fattening for hogs as corn and with this discovery the growers are turning their attention to hog raising. So, pending the war tax, the wine manufacture is at a standstill, but the vineyards have not become worthless—the produce has simply been turned to another use.

After studying the situation for some eight months the Brewers and Wine Growers association have decided that to save themselves and prevent California from becoming dry as a bone they must, in self protection eliminate the saloon. To this end a measure is now being drafted. By the removal of the saloon from the state the brewers and Wine Growers' association believe that they will satisfy the prohibition advocates. At least they are willing to take the chance.

The bill will provide for supply depots of the family liquor store variety, where consumers can leave orders and have goods delivered to their homes, but retailing liquor by the drink will be forbidden—Portland Telegram.

STUDENT EXPENSES LOW

Student expenses at the Oregon Agricultural College average $217.78 for each of the four years. College expenses, including registration, laboratory fees, military and gymnasium suits, and graduation and thesis fees, average $22.40 for each of the four years. Books, instruments, stationery and other supplies cost on an average $29.33 cents for each year. Personal expenses, room board and laundry, are $165.60 yearly. The personal expense of men students is $185 and those of women students, having advantage of the college halls, is but $140 each.

In Oregon, there are approximately 769,000 head of sheep grazing upon the National Forests. This represents 43 per cent of the number grazed in state.

In its improvement work, the Forest Service has constructed to date in Washington and Oregon over 4000 miles of trail and the same length of telephone line.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1915, there were opened to entry upon individual applications, 315 forest homesteads, covering an area of about 29,000 acres, and in National Forests of Washington, there were 812 forest homesteads opened to entry covering an area of 3,800 acres.

Results obtained from land classification work on the National Forests demonstrate the fact that practically all farm land has been excluded from the Forests.

According to figures compiled by the government, water powers in the State of Oregon are capable of developing 3,500,000 H. P. and in the State of Washington 5,000,000 H. P. In Oregon there are already developed 156,186 H. P. and in Washington 408,000 H. P.

The Portland Telegram says: "Over a width of 1000 feet the channel on the dredged range of the mouth of the Columbia river is 36 feet at mean low water, an increase of one foot in the last three weeks. This is the deepest it ever has been. This is the result of a survey completed by the United States engineers last Friday."

LESS DANCING, MORE WORK AT UNIVERSITY

Fraternity Houses are Restricted to Two Dances a Year, Except During Holidays; U. Property to Four

No fraternity house, either men's or women's may this year hold more than two dances on its premises or elsewhere under its direction, says a new regulation passed by the faculty of the State University at Eugene. Holidays excepted.

The fraternity that breaks this rule is to lose its next two dances. If it loses the next three dances, a third violation renders participants subject to suspension.

Responsibility for enforcement is put upon the dean of men and the dean of women, who are Dr. John Straub and Miss Ruth Guppy, respectively. The faculty passed the rule. Another faculty rule, new this year, prohibits student contests or exhibitions on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, except between four and six o'clock p. m.

The new regulations are intended to promote study by decreasing distractions. Student life was beginning to get cut up by so many social and athletic activities at night that scholarly pursuits were in danger. Simultaneously with laying a stern hand upon activities, the faculty adopted a system under which the best students may go in for scholastic honors; and professors were asked by the administrations to advance students once more.

Dancing upon University property has also been cut to a minimum for a year, one for each of the four classes, shall be the limit, says the ruling.

The Florence West, Sept. 24, says: "The first cars to cross tidewater on the Siuslaw River, were taken over the false work of the new bridge Cushman last Monday. Trains are now being run across the bridge to carry steel and gravel for the construction of the road from that point south toward Gardiner. Gravel for ballast is being hauled in from Natron on the trains and the officials are undecided whether to haul it all the way to Coos bay or not."

HAROLD AT THE PHONE

What he thought he'd say:
Hello, dear! I love to hear your voice. It's my inspiration.
Won't I see you soon? Tomorrow will be a hundred years.
It's unbearable to be away from you I'll never tire of you.
Your family will like me when they know me better.
My love for you is wonderful. I couldn't live without you.

What he said:
Hello, dear! I love to hear your voice.
Gladys: That'll be all right, but father says I can't talk to you until you turn up with a theater ticket every now and then to pay for the fur you're wearing off the sofa.
Harold: Oh! Er—er—I beg your pardon. I've the wrong line.

J. A. Ward, in charge of the Coos-Curry exhibit at the San Francisco exposition, suggests to the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce that the moving pictures taken in this section should be shown on the fair grounds at the exposition building. He says that many of the counties of the state are already employing his method of advertising their sections of the state and it has been found to be one of the greatest advertising features introduced at the fair. People who would not otherwise take any great interest in the exhibits or displays of fruits and vegetables will flock to the building to see these actual scenes of the country. He argues that in viewing the horticultural and agricultural displays the people are wont to look upon the articles shown as being something extraordinary, but know that what is seen in the motion pictures are actual happenings, perhaps slightly elaborated for the occasion.—Coos Bay News

All Wrong

The Mistake is Made by Many Bandon Citizens

Look for the cause of backache. To be cured you must know the cause. If it's weak kidneys You must set the kidneys to working right. A resident of this vicinity says you how. Mrs. Biseby had Foster-Miller's John McCallister, Route 4, Hope, Oregon, says: "I had pains in the small of my back and sharp twinges when stooping or lifting. My back ached at night and was lame in the morning. I tired easily and was nervous and dizzy spells. The kidney sections contained sediment and were frequent in passage, causing me to get up in the night. I used Foster-Miller's Kidney Pills and they soon cured me."

PORT ORFORD REPORT.

The mill will be moved from its present site to a location near Denmark where it will be operated for the local market.
The mill was built on the W. R. Hurst place on Elk river several years ago by Mr. Loucks and some lumber was hauled to town and shipped but owing to the distance of the haul, about 7 miles, it was never a paying proposition and for the local market it was also unable to compete with the mill in town.
Associated with Mr. Adolphsen in the mill will be his father, A. Adolphsen, one of the pioneer mill men of Curry county, and with these two experts to run the mill in its new location, it will undoubtedly make money for its owners.
On Tuesday of last week, Miss Ada Bailey, daughter of Mrs. J. S. Kennedy of Gold Beach and Raymond Capps, eldest son of Postmaster and Mrs. J. S. Capps of Denmark were united in marriage at North Bend by Father W. R. Hogan. The young couple left the following day on the steamer Santa Clara for a 3 weeks honeymoon trip to the exposition.
Both the bride and groom have grown from childhood in Curry county and are among our most worthy and highly esteemed young people. For the past two or three years Mrs. Capps has been connected with the E. B. Thrift mercantile store at Langlois, prior to which she taught public school successfully. Mr. Capps has charge of his father's big dairy ranch at Denmark where the young people will make their home. A large circle of friends extend congratulations.
The U. S. bar dredge, Michie, that has been at work since last May removing sand from the Coos Bay bar, left for Portland Monday, and will go into drydock there for repairs. The Michie, it is officially said, has removed 835,000 yards of sand from the bar during this time and a channel about 30 feet deep and 600 feet in width has been secured.—Coos Bay Sun.

School starts next Monday.

The Seaside hotel, which was closed recently will be reopened to the public about October 15th. J. A. Jackson of Coquille, who has been visiting in town for a few weeks will be the new proprietor, having leased the property from Mrs. Masterson.

A farewell party, planned by the Ladies Aid and members of the Methodist church, was given to Mr. and Mrs. Loucks at the N. H. Larson home last evening. The evening was passed very pleasantly, music and refreshments of ice cream and cake being among the good things that were on the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Loucks are leaving in a few days to visit the fair at San Francisco and San Diego and to spend the winter at their old home in Sheridan, Wyo, and their friends gathered to wish them God speed on the trip and to express the hope that they would not forget to return to Port Orford when spring comes.

J. D. Loucks came to Port Orford about five years ago. He established the bank, started the shingle mill, bought land and put cheap lots on the market for the first time in many years, and in other ways assisted in the moral and physical up lift of the town and community. He is chairman of the school board and he and his estimable wife are people whom Port Orford is proud to claim as her citizens, and whose return will be welcomed.

The rain of last Sunday dispelled the last fears of any forest fires for this year and the fire wardens appointed for the summer season have been called in from their stations in the mountains and laid off until next year. While the season has been very dry, yet it is safe to say that what little damage was done in Curry county from fires was outweighed by the good they did.

A letter from H. J. Crippen at one time editor of the Wedderburn Radium and also of the Lakeport Banner states the writer is enjoying good health in San Diego, Cal. Mr. Crippen says that W. H. Meredith and family were to leave the following week to their old home in Poplar Bluff, Mo. and he also speaks of meeting M. G. Pohl, the pioneer Coos and Curry optician quite often, who is now in San Diego. Mr. Crippen closes by sending his regards to his old friends in this section.

Chas. Doyle and his mother-in-law Mrs. A. S. Miller, passed down the coast last Friday by auto returning to Wedderburn from a trip to Roseburg. On their way out they were accompanied by Mrs. Mary Blake, Miss Gladys Miller and Fred Caughell. Mrs. Blake was going to Portland to spend the winter with her son Fred, Miss Gladys was going to Roseburg to attend school and Mr. Caughell was en route for Portland for medical treatment.

Last week Hans Adolphsen closed the deal which makes him the owner of the J. D. Louck saw mill or 8th

THE COUNTRY EDITOR

He might have been a millionaire
And won financial fame,
Or sat in a director's chair,
Had money been his aim;
He chose instead to spend his years
In service poorly paid,
And with the paste pot and the shears
A humble living made.

He chronicled the town's events;
The local goings-on;
His fellow townsmen's hopes and bent
Inspired his lexicon;
He felt the public pulse that beat
Around him, and he tried
To make his little country sheet
A thing of local pride.

Unselfishly, with all his heart,
He strove but to uphold
His town, of which he was a part,
With great ambition filled.
He spoke well of his fellow men;
He praised when praise was due;
He scolded but a kindly pen,
And no reward he drew,
