Hawley on "Rural Credits"

Hon. W. C. Hawley who addressed an audience in the Orpheum theater last Tuesday night on the twin subjects, "River and Harbor Improvements" and "The Rural Credit System" disposed of the first topic in a very few words.

The volume of any one day's business has not been so large at any time before since the flurry of 1907. The excitement has not been greater since the sixties. The newly rich have thronged the cafes and saloon restaurants, and the proprietors have experienced the greatest business in their history, equaled only on the festivities of a New Year's eve.

A committee of twelve of which the speaker was one, had been appointed to investigate a proper system of rural credits and report at the opening of Congress.

In legislating for farm loans it was not designed to provide for anything but improvements. The idea was to loan money for long time where a 5 per cent annual payment would accomplish the payment of the principal in about 35 years as well as yield a low rate of interest during that time.

The idea, asserted the speaker, was not new but was in practice and had been in practice for many years in Europe. He instanced Germany which after the close of wars in the past century had found whole sections depopulated and agricultural lands lying in idleness.

To so good an end had this been accomplished that in a land in area no larger than Washington, Oregon, and Idaho, with soil relatively poor supported a population of sixty million and produced ninety percent of its requirements agriculturally.

ability of any blockade to starve out Germany.

Mr. Hawley drew a vivid picture of the valleys of Western Oregon as reclaimed and cultivated and found there in a commerce that would demand good shipping facilities.

Closing the speaker complimented Bandon for its courage in facing disaster and predicted a bright future.

THE TURNING TIDE

It is well said, and unfortunately true, that Wall street is the financial pulse of the nation. We laughed three years ago when the first rumblings of financial affairs were heard.

The volume of any one day's business has not been so large at any time before since the flurry of 1907. The excitement has not been greater since the sixties.

A BANDON GROCER'S PRAYER

The following fervid appeal has been handed in with a request for publication.

Inasmuch as we have to the best of our humble ability, relieved the hungry discomforts of those who have called upon us when they could not feed themselves, may they whom we have thus cared for, have a deep seated and absolutely incurable conviction that grocers at the worst are simply human.

May they realize that the disease known as "financial cramps" is no respecter of persons; that frequent application of kind words and good wishes, while pleasant to the ear, do not in any way relieve the gripping sensation of a run down monetary system and while all flesh is grass, it takes real Uncle Sam's money to buy oil and prunes.

May they whom we have always hastened to feed when hungry and when they could get no more from us because we had barely enough left to satisfy our own hunger, and then go about knocking us, be suddenly and severely attacked with a softening of the heart and a loosening of the purse strings to the end that we, their grocers, may be able to hold up our heads in the presence of our creditors and to this end we most devoutly pray. Amen

OLD ESTABLISHED HOUSE MAKES EXCELLENT MATTRESSES

Since 1826, the firm of Heywood Brothers and Wakefield Company have been famous for the baby carriages, their chairs and their reed and rattan goods.

A few months ago they began to produce mattresses, and already Heywood mattresses are becoming recognized as the utmost in quality at the lowest prices.

True to the policy of the institution, every Heywood Mattress is fully guaranteed. The newspaper announcements state plainly that every Heywood Mattress is sold under a "make good" guarantee.

Many good furniture stores have quickly grasped the opportunity to handle this splendid line of mattresses.

While it is true that the profits on each a quality line are not large, yet the furniture trade knows that it means the making of many friends among its customers to recommend a high grade, guaranteed and widely known mattress.

The farmers market has prospered steadily since it was started and has done a flourishing business. One of the main results of their business operations has been the securing of the trade of many customers who formerly had been accustomed to order their provisions from mail order houses.

Ruminations

U. S. Engineer Burrell prophesies that within twenty years the keeping of horses will be prohibited in large cities and that the traffic of the streets will be handled by motor cars.

The citizens of Coquille are relying on the unique character of the Bandon beach as a scenic feature to attract the state highway and incidentally place that community along the course of the same.

Another feature that has developed lately to give the towns of the upper valley a warmer feeling toward us. The laying off of the Breakwater has given them a chance to surmise what their freight rates would have been had it not been for all water competition.

If the Recorder had that "cussedness" column in operation a niche in it would be filled this week by the act of some hoodlum who scarified the fence which Captin Wren has built in front of his property on the Ocean Drive.

A ramble by foot to Prosper and return by water one day recently disclosed to the Ruminator several ways in which the resources of the coast country are being turned into profit.

The Dollar shingle mill was the first point of interest and the process of sawing up huge logs into shingles, proved very interesting.

Into the hum and shriek of ripping saws in the Prosper mill we went where the big fir logs slide back and forth before the saws and each trip lose a slice becoming that much nearer the refuse pile.

Continuing its journey downward it is loaded onto trucks and goes to increase the size of some of the piles upon the dock which in turn are taken to fill the holds and heep decks of the ocean steamers.

GOLD BEACH GOSSIP

(From the Gold Beach Globe) The Globe has been reliably informed that R. L. Macley has secured a contract for five hundred cords of tan bark of the Frank Tanning Company of San Francisco, to be peeled and delivered next season.

Sod was broken last Friday for the Macley store at Gold Beach. The building site instead of being located near the school house as at first decided upon, and announced in the Globe was nearly chosen between the post office and the drug store.

The Rustler came in last evening with a cargo of flour and gasoline. After discharging its cargo, loaded with 450 cases of salmon and several tons of coal at the Wedderburn dock and came across to this side and took aboard the large boiler recently brought in here by J. R. Peters.

While the people in this vicinity regret very much to see Dr. and Mrs. Dunlap leave the place they are all glad to learn that Doctor and Mrs. Robbins of Port Orford are coming to take the field.

Gold Beach is soon to have another hotel which will be built yet this fall. The lumber for the building has been ordered from Coos Bay and is expected here on the next trip of the Roamer.

A forest fire in the vicinity of Quosaten Butte called out many local men to combat the flame last week. Henry Colvin and Ace Carey went from here but the fire was under control by the time they reached the scene.

Messrs Stafford & Bauer were the successful bidders for the contract for the Ladies Commercial Club hall. The hall will be a building when completed 30 by 70 feet and the foundation will be of solid concrete.

PORT ORFORD REPORT

(From Port Orford Tribune.) W. J. Colebrook was in Port Orford last Thursday on his way to Bandon, from whence he sailed by steamer to San Francisco.

C. H. Walsworth, who owns the Handy Ranch near Gold Beach, passed up the coast yesterday, moving a black sand miner and his machine from Wedderburn to the Gallier ranch near Bandon.

Several steamers, which had been bar bound at Bandon for some time crossed out safely from that port last Wednesday forenoon. The steamers Phoenix and Acme were bound for this place to complete their load with ties.
