PORT ORFORD REPORT

(From Port Orford Tribune.)

M. G. Lutsey the cheese maker and pride of Curry county, defeated Geo. Lambert, the Power logger, in a wrestling match at Myrtle Point last Saturday night. During the Coos Curry fair at that place last month Lambert defeated Lutsey, but many of Lutsey's friends believed that he was the better man but was playing for a return match, and the result of the last match would indicate such to be the case. At Portland last Friday Eddie O'Connell for the second time defeated Chas. Rentrop in straight falls. After the match Rentrop announced that he believed that he had gone back and that now O'Connell was the better man.

Fred Jamieson, who is driving team at Bandon, came down to Port Orford Sunday to see Mrs. Jamieson and his newly arrived daughter.

Mrs. F. C. Hawkins, of Port Orford underwent an operation at the Mercy hospital at North Bend last week from which she is recovering nicely.

Among those who went from Port Orford last week to visit the fair at San Francisco were Louis Knapp, Jr., John McKenzie and Wm. McPhillamey.

This week the Breakwater will make her last trip into Coos bay bringing a load of steel rails and other equipment for the Willamette Pacific railroad. She will be loaded with coal and sent south to San Francisco to await a sale.

Treed by the dogs in the branches of a tree at the head of Beaver Slough, a big black bear weighing more than 225 pound was shot Tuesday morning by James Ferrey, not far from Coaledo. The animal was immediately skinned and dressed something over 220 pounds. The skin was brought in last evening by Mr. Ferrey who will have it attended to by a taxidermist and made into a rug. In the party were James Ferrey, Andrew Kelly, Stanley Oldland and James Ouldland. They left Coaledo early Tuesday morning and by nine o'clock the bear had been skinned, run down by the dogs and killed.—Coos Bay Times.

Sheriff Johnson On Sunday Closing Law

To the Public: I have received several communications within the past week or two on the Sunday closing law. In answer to the same, I will submit the following:

In the first place this law was passed in 1865. That was fifty years ago and times and conditions have changed materially within that space of time. At the time the bill was passed and made a law, a drug store was nothing more than a prescription counter and filled prescriptions only; a bakery only made bread and pastries; and a meat market sold fresh meats. Since the, drug stores have branched out and sell articles too numerous to mention. Now the law does not specify any one commodity, but simply mentions stores. The same applies to bakeries and also to meat markets and most bakeries and markets carry groceries and still they are licensed to run. How about your ice plants and garages that were unknown fifty years ago? If you close anyone that is not except, we will have to close them all.

To some people fruit and ice-cream is as essential as meat is to others, so why discriminate and deprive one of food that they would rather have, than another. Also, fruit and ice-cream are as perishable as raw meats so why protect some and deprive others of selling their wares?

In my estimation, I think we should have laws that will place us all on an equal basis, and if we are going to close the different pieces of business on Sunday, give everyone an equal show. If cigars and tobacco are under the ban, state so, or any other commodity, but don't make it so broad that the people don't understand the laws. Make it plain enough so that all the people may know.

Yours for law enforcement and a square deal to all.

Alfred Johnson, Jr.,
Sheriff of Coos County, Oregon

Toast. Coffee.

LUNCHEON
Cold Sliced Ham. Stewed Tomatoes.
Biscuits. Iced Chocolate.

DINNER
Tomato Soup.
Baked Stuffed Shoulder of Lamb.
Creamed Potatoes. Corn.
Sliced Apples With Whipped Cream.
Layer Cake. Iced Tea.

Tomato Soup.
COOK a quart can of tomatoes or its equivalent in fresh for twenty minutes, then rub through a fine sieve. Season with salt and pepper and a few drops of onion juice. Cook a quart of milk in the double boiler, adding, when at the boiling point, two tablespoonfuls of flour stirred smooth in a little cold milk. Add two tablespoonfuls of butter.

Now beat the yolks of two or three eggs in a tureen, pour the milk into the tomatoes and this mixture into the tureen over the eggs, beating vigorously so they will not curdle. Sprinkle finely cut parsley over top and serve very hot with croutons or bread sticks.

French Bouillie.
An acceptable soup for hot days is the French bouillie made of thickened milk. Put in a saucepan two tablespoonfuls of wheat flour, a dessert-spoonful of sugar and a teaspoonful of salt. Mix to a smooth paste and add a quart of hot milk. Cook in a double boiler until thickened and serve with crisp croutons and a dash of pepper. The hot milk will be found stimulating, yet delicate, proving just the soup one requires for a hot day.

Loebster Salad.
Boil one large or two medium sized lobsters and pick to pieces when cold. To make the dressing for them, beat the yolks of two raw eggs with a teaspoonful of salt, a pinch of cayenne, a half tablespoonful of powdered sugar and a full teaspoonful of mustard wet with vinegar. Add gradually and at first very slowly one cupful of olive oil. When quite thick whip in the strained juice before adding two tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Just before serving add to the dressing one-quarter cupful of sweet cream whipped to a froth; stir all well together and into the lobster. Line a salad bowl with the crisp heart leaves of lettuce, put in the seasoned meat and cover with a little more whipped cream. If a little more acid is liked use vinegar.

Chicken Veal.
Have veal stripped from the shank, cut in pieces large enough to serve, roll in salted water until very tender, roll in flour and fry the same as chicken. If desired, cooked peas may be heated in the skillet after the meat has been taken out and served as a garnish for the meat.

City limits North to Fourth Street is almost completed, the street is plank- ed, and only a short strip of sidewalk remains to be finished. Several hundred feet of concrete sidewalk has been laid, and the work will be practically done that far by the end of the week. The remainder of the improvement, where the heavy cut is to be made has temporarily been held up by legal proceedings, and little or no work done on it.
