DEATH OF MRS. MARY BREUER

Mrs. Samuel Breuer died at her home in this city Nov. 5th, aged 56 years.

Mrs. Mary Breuer (nee Elischer) was born at Galinitz, Hungary, Europe, September 14, 1859, came to America in 1882, and at the age of 23 years was married to Samuel Breuer, three months, Mr. and Mrs. Breuer moved back across the water to her old home in Hungary. 1886, they returned to America and settled in Coos County, Oregon, and have since resided in and near Myrtle Point.

Deceased was the mother of nine children—three sons and six daughters two of the latter having preceded the mother to the great beyond; there are also seven grandchildren. And besides these and her husband, Mrs. Breuer leaves one sister, Mrs. Thers Sherman of Myrtle Point, a half-brother, who resides at Philadelphia, and a host of friends in Coos County to mourn her demise.

In her youth the subject of this obituary united with the Lutheran church and in 1902, she united with the church of the Brethren at Myrtle Point. She always lived a true Christian life.

Funeral services were held at 11:00 o'clock in the forenoon of Sunday, November 7, 1915, at the church of the Brethren, Rev. Thos. Barklow having charge of the last sad rites. Interment was made at the Indian Creek cemetery—Myrtle Point Enterprise.

So far the docket for the November term of court is almost bare of criminal cases; and unless somebody breaks loose pretty soon there will be practically nothing in that line to be tried.

Mayor Morrison and the other business men who went down to Bandon Tuesday night to attend the monthly meeting of the Coos County Business Men's Association report a profitable and enjoyable meeting and a splendid banquet.

Tuesday an immense fir tree fell across the Coos Bay wagon road out beyond J. D. Laird's completely blocking the way so that the passengers from Roseburg for this place had to walk five miles to the auto stage on this side of the canyon and got in here too late to catch the train.

One can imagine the disgust of the Coos Bay pirates after exerting themselves strenuously for several hours to get a barrel of whiskey ashore to find when they tapped it that the contents were dill pickles.

A new ruling has been received by Postmaster Linegar which prohibits parcel post being sent under special delivery privileges. Heretofore parcels would be routed overland if the special delivery stamp was attached but on account of the excessive weight the department has deemed it best to prohibit the practice in the future. Now the only route for parcel post is by boat, which at this time is very unsatisfactory.

Coquille merchants have been having mighty hard luck in getting goods since the Breakwater went off the run. They first tried the Ahwanoda and it took her a month to get here; then the Santa Clara and everything was lost; and this week the Kilburn, loaded with everything needed—groceries, dry goods, dealers' holiday stocks of all kinds and printers' supplies by the ton—has been spending the week dancing attendance on two bars.

Miss Lydia Marsters of Gold Beach is here visiting at the home of her brother and sister Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Russell, of Acme Dairy Produce. Miss Lydia may remain with her sister all winter—C. C. Leader.

John Zeppa of Seattle, Washington is here looking after the interest of his farm and visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. T. Blumenrother of New Lake. Mr. Zeppa expects to move his family on the farm in the spring—C. C. Leader.

W. M. Russell, who has been working at the mines quit there last week. Mr. Russell says its getting cold and snow on the mountains up at the mines—C. C. Leader.

THE CAPTIVE

A war drama of most extraordinary force.

A Paramount Feature

The picturization of "The Captive", the famous drama by Cecil E. De Mille and Jeanie MacPherson in which Blanche Sweet appears for the second time as a star under the Lokey management is a war drama of most extraordinary force. Though the plot may be said to develop mainly through the love of a young Turkish noble for a Montenegrin peasant woman, the atmosphere of conflict is sustained throughout. Indeed, the Turkish noble and the peasant girl are brought together only owing to the fact that the noble is a prisoner of war, and is assigned to the girl to do the necessary work on her little farm.

At the opening of the drama pitched battle between the Turkish troops and the Montenegrin peasants is shown most graphically. And the climax of the entire photodrama is reached when a marauding column of Turkish troops captures the girl's village.

Mr. House Peters who played the leading male role with Miss Sweet in "The Warrens of Virginia", also heads her supporting company in this production.

THANKSGIVING

Allknowing and Almighty God! Who guides us through the dark unknown, Unheeding our pretending power, To walk that slippery way, alone.

That day tomorrow that we seek, And wish for all it can bestow, It's ending known to Thee alone, Who only knowest where we go.

And so, this one day of the year, We come with gratitude and love For peaceful ways, for pleasant days, For common things, we think not of

Since the early days of November the LaFollette seaman's bill has been in effect and the eyes of all interested in shipping have been turned toward it to note its effect upon American commerce on the high seas. So far the tendency has been to emphasize the points of conflict with the employer's interest and the action of the Dollar company in transferring its ships engaged in Oriental trade from the American to the British registry has been hailed as a prophetic omen of disaster.

But it must not be supposed that an act that has been debated through half score of Congresses and finally passed by both houses and signed by the president, can be wholly without good that may be said in its favor.

Therefore the first years trial of the measure will be a matter of great interest to shippers.

Such shippers as the Dollars claim that they can not compete with Japanese boats and still comply with the provisions of this law which would result in raising the wages of sailors engaged in foreign trade and in changing the regulations of sea life as to make competition with the little Oriental impossible.

The Dollar boats which now will unload their cargoes at British Columbia ports instead of in U. S. ports are manned by Chinese sailors.

The provision especially objected to puts down certain regulations on vessels clearing from American ports.

Friends of the bill contend that it will raise the wages and standards of living for sailors all over the world.

They claim that foreign vessels putting in at American ports will be deterred by their crews and no new crews can be taken on except under the standards as outlined in the bill.

That the word will soon spread among sailors that a stop at an American port will mean increase in wages and improved living conditions and the result will be the improvement of condition of sailors all over the world.

The bill is that the Japanese sailors will come under the same conditions. It is claimed that the Japs have never been known to refuse a chance to bet or himself financially and along with the adoption of European customs will be a readiness to take advantage of this Yankee scheme for their own improvement.

It is readily admitted that if the bill will do what is claimed for it, this will be done in a short time and the working of the bill will be watched with interest.

We heard the opinion that if this condensed fog lasts much longer some one will have to constitute a relief party for Captain Wren when he goes out to gauge the precipitation.

A FEW THINGS TO BE THANKFUL FOR

That while turkeys may be scarce a wild duck or goose makes a pretty fair substitute.

That local ranchers no longer complain that the ground is too dry for plowing.

By Editor Cameron—That his lot has been cast in a community where the material for his unique heart to heart talks is so plentiful.

By the C. B. pirates that they can fill in the details when the list of blessings is mentioned.

By the teamster who hauls ties or poles into Bandon by most any old approach—Well the last report was that he was still hunting in the mud for something to be thankful for and had not yet reported.

By the common council—that they haven't yet been blamed for the wreck of the Santa Clara.

By Marshall Holman—that he does not have to wet down the streets this month.

A cattle buyer by the name of Nobby from Ferndale, Humboldt Co. Cal. is in this vicinity for the purpose of buying cattle. The price offered is $27.00 for yearling steers, $45.00 for two year olds and $50.00 for three year old steers.

We understand that he has purchased quite a number at these figures throughout the country.

Dr. Robbins was called to Pistol River twice last week to see Ed. Lawrence who is suffering from partial stroke of paralysis. The lower portion of his body was paralyzed. The Doctor says it is a serious case but in time thinks he will fully recover.

While the locality has been blessed with an unusual amount of good weather this fall, winter with all its glory is now upon us. A few days ago the near by mountains were whitened with snow for a short time and at this writing the country is enveloped in a brisk southerly wind and a heavy down pour of rain.

The Rustler arrived in the harbor early Sunday morning over a rather shoddy and lumpy bar. The Roamer attempted to cross but bumped on the bar, swinging around and went to sea and "hit the high places" back to the bay. The Rustler is loaded with merchandise for the new store for this side exclusively, and the Roamer is said to have a capacity load of general freight for Gold Beach, most of which is for D. M. Moore.

A quiet wedding occurred at the home of the brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Porterfield, Sunday Nov. 7th when their eldest and accomplished daughter, Miss Lucille was made the bride of Archie Collins. The bride grew to womanhood in this locality and her friends are limited only to her circle of acquaintances. The groom is an industrious young man from Douglas county who has worked for Geo. Dunn the past year and is still holding down his job on the farm, while the newly made bride has taken charge of the culinary end of the Dunn home. The Globe joins the many friends of the young couple in wishing them a long life, brim full of wedded bliss.

The Universal Rattlesnake Jim, who quietly slipped into our sanctum on last press day, with the best intentions to prove himself a good fellow and help get out the belated issue, turned to and folded papers for us and in doing so, got a few papers of old papers mixed up with the current issue which were sent out. Neither the editor nor the foreman noticed the mistake until some of our subscribers were heard from at least two different post offices. Not knowing who all may have received one of these old papers, and as the last issue contained the proceedings of the County Court, the Budget and the Summary of Assessment, giving the valuation of the several school and road districts which every taxpayer should keep on file, we reprint this much of last issue in an effort to square ourselves with our disappointed readers of last week, with a promise that if another character like Jim comes along before our thinkbox gets congested with a conglomeration of three or four dialects, yodling laughing hyena stunts, bagpipe seranades, sacred baritone solos, etc., we will burn up all the old papers in the shop before the press starts.

NO HELP FOR SAIL LIFTER

No sympathy from the district attorney's office was secured by a fisherman named Stinson from Empire, who last evening appeared before Judge Penneck and later Mr. Liljeqvist, asking what could be done with men who had taken from him the forecastle of the Santa Clara which he brought away from the ship. He was told that nothing could be done and sorrowfully he went home says the Coos Bay Times.

Stinson went to Judge Penneck Monday evening as he was leaving for home. He told the judge that it was mighty hard work to cut the fence's bones from the stage and that it was very hard to get it ashore. But evidently the hardest part of the whole business was to keep the 140 stack of bones after some getting it on land. Some suppose friends guarded it. They did the job so well said Stinson, that the sail disappeared. He said it is worth about $150 to $200.

"I got some other things from the wreck. Some bacon, flour and a few sacks of potatoes too." With the beach filled with people anxious to get what they could, Stinson and his wife had a hard job keeping what they got. "She had to sit right there on everything," he told the judge. "And once, while she was sitting there, a man came along and hooked a slab of bacon and started off."

Mrs. Stinson was well prepared for this emergency. She pulled a revolver out of her coat and yelled, "Hey, bring that back." It came in a hurry.

But the fisherman got little aid from the officers and has gone home to devise some plan of getting back the forces of the Santa Clara.

DRY ROT IN BUILDINGS

As a result of investigations recently made by Mr. C. J. Humphrey, Pathologist in the Department of Agriculture, it has been found that dry rot in "mill constructed" buildings in Washington and Oregon is due, in all the cases reported to ignorance and gross negligence on the part of the users of wood as structural material.

It has been found that timber intelligently used under normal conditions will not rot, and furthermore that dry rot is easily preventable. In 99 per cent of the cases reported, the cause was insufficient ventilation in the building or around the timbered joints. A lack of fresh air and heat creates a moist and musty atmosphere conducive to the growth of fungi. It is well known that decay often starts in a damp cellar.

Sometimes lumber becomes infected with dry rot in the yard or shed of the mill and is then ignorantly or negligently sold for building purposes. Dry rot infection is usually caused by improper piling of the lumber. The lumber is not piled so that there is a free circulation of air throughout, or with sufficient slope to permit the rain to run off. In the shed the infection is generally caused by contact with a moist floor.

Mr. Humphrey's study has undoubtedly revealed the fact that dry rot is not only preventable but unnecessary.
