When you see the pictures thrown on the screen at the Grand do you realize that the original is a piece of celluloid as large as a postage stamp passed with sixteen others before a powerful light every second. Were it not for an automatic device the film would burn did it halt for an instant so powerful is the light. Formerly the machine was turned by hand but now a small motor does the work.

The Sperry flour company has another chance to hand out flour to patrons since the arrival of the Tillamook. The company is finding itself hard put to care for its steadily increasing flour trade and has recently established another mill at Tacoma. All of its Northwestern mills are running night and day to catch up with the demand.

COMING—NANCE O'NEIL

The American Empress of Stormy Emotion in "Princess Romanoff" Great Fox Feature Production

Fedora, on Which Princess Romanoff is Based, Sardou's Triumph

Few dramas have ever received the world wide fame and approbation extended universally to Sardou's most famous play which has been acted by every great actress who ever played and is regarded as the most exacting emotional role ever written. As pictured for William Fox, starring that eminent exponent of stormy emotion Nance O'Neil, also featured in the Wm. Fox photoplay Kreutzer Sonata, Princess Romanoff, based on Federa, rises to superb dramatic heights impossible to attain within the limitations of even the most modern stages. Certainly no more absorbing or intense screen drama has ever been filmed nor has any greater actress than Nance O'Neil ever appeared in the famous role of the Russian princess.

As great a picture as "A Fool There Was" to be shown at the Grand Theater next Friday Dec. 3rd. Admission 15-5c
