A MODERN CLEON.

JOHNSON lives in New York city,
On the ocean I,
Johnson dwells within a palace,
In this forecastle I,
Johnson's worth ten million dollars,
Not a sou have I,
Yes, betwixt us, who's the poorer?
Johnson, sir; not I.

Johnson sups on dainty viands,
Pork and beans have I,
Johnson drinks imported champagne,
Mine a nip of rye,
Johnson owns a princely wardrobe,
One blue suit have I,
Johnson's ailing, I am hearty;
Happier man am I.

Dressed with care and swamped in riches,
Johnson heaves a sigh,
Like the sea breeze whistling round me,
Worries pass me by,
Conscience pricks, the future threatens,
Johnson fears to die—
Here's my hand, Death, come and grip it,
Shipmates, you and I.

Johnson heeds not God or nature,
Their adorer I,
Thrilled with color, filled with music
Of the sea and sky,
Calm and tempest, sun and starlight,
Nature's child am I,
Soul for soul and state for state,
Who would change? Not I.

Memorial Day

Tuesday, May 30th—Memorial day; does it stand out on your calendar as a day which is to be devoted to exercises in memory of those who fought and offered up their lives that our country's unity might be preserved.

Of late years there has been a tendency to grow away, in our observance of the day, from the spirit of reverence which would fittingly promote the day that is set aside in honor of our heroes. We are more and more to observe Memorial Day as a day when we can lay aside our tasks and give ourselves up to various pastimes; too many of us see nothing in the day beyond an opportunity to picnic and enjoy ourselves. Nothing but pleasure, is the rule by which we plan our holidays and the customs of our fathers have become too slow for the younger generation.

Granted that we are living in an age when we go through our daily tasks under forced pressure and every moment of relaxation is a tonic, can we still retain our self respect when we refuse to respect the memory of those who, in a large measure, made possible the pleasures we are given to enjoy.

There is perhaps, however, a semblance of an excuse for our more or less general desecration of Memorial day. Unlike our fathers and grandfathers, we are fifty years removed from the war days which threatened to disrupt our Union. The full significance of the valor of the "Boys in Blue" in those times does not occur to us unless we think, but there is room for a lot of thinking before next Tuesday morning.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S ACHIEVEMENT

Nearly all the nations of Europe have been drawn into the vortex of war. Even several nations, remote from the scene of the original conflict, nations which have not been able to participate actively on the western or the eastern front, or even use their battleships in the conflict, have been drawn in through treaties and agreements or through mistakes of statesmanship.

The greatest statesmen of the world have realized that in these days of world upheaval there has been a danger far greater than the actual loss of life and property that is now shocking all civilized nations.

The danger has been that the entire world, instead of half of it, might become involved; that international law might be wiped out in a day, and that civilization itself might be uprooted, no great nation remaining at peace to voice the protest against war-madness.

In the German note of May 5, announcing the abandonment of the submarine methods against which the United States Government protested, the following paragraph appears:

"If the German Government nevertheless is resolved to go to the utmost limit of concessions, it has been guided not alone by the friendship connecting the two great nations for over one hundred years, but also by the thought of the great doom which threatens the entire civilized world, should the cruel and sanguinary war be extended and prolonged."

All the belligerents, with their passion at white heat, nevertheless have recognized the part that America has played in upholding international law, protecting the rights of neutrals and non-combatants, and confining the limits of the raging conflict.

Since July, 1914, the people of the United States have lived in peace and prosperity, with the war-surconscious knowledge that there has been in the White House a man who while protecting the nation's honor and upholding its dignity, nevertheless retained for the country its peaceful leverage upon war-ridden Europe.

The conduct of President Wilson throughout the European war has won him not merely the respect of Europe, but the commendations of the people of the United States of all shades of political opinion. There has been no rashness nor timidity. The ship of state has been steered by the best traditions of American statesmanship have been upheld by Woodrow Wilson in the most trying time in the world's history.

HIGH SCHOOL PROGRAM SCORED GREAT SUCCESS

Dutch Kiddies Bring Down House—McNair And Webb Prove Real Comedians

If there ever was a vaudeville act that took in Bandon, it was the "Dutch Kiddies", Blanche Webb and Lola Manciet, who appeared on the High School benefit program given at the Grand theater, Wednesday evening. From the time they danced out before the footlights until they slipped back into the wings, the audience held their breath and smiled their appreciation and, while the girls answered only to one encore, there were repeated calls for more. It is not saying too much to state that the act would make good on any circuit in the country.

In a blackface number, featuring new songs and good jokes, Webb and McNair were a scream. Just enough local hits were introduced to keep the house guessing as to who was next on the list for exposure.

It would be Herculean task for an Al critic to pick the stars in the three playlets that were presented by the different classes of the High School. All were exceptionally good.

"A Bunch of New Songs" by the Boy's Cotelette and the Swedish character recitations and songs, by Chester Teegarden, were two well presented numbers that opened the following program:

Octette: "A Bunch of New Songs," John Moore, Errol McNair, Leslie Pullen, Edward Bell, Ivan Pullen, Dick Crais, Ray Webb, Reed Gallier. Monologue: "The Swedish Nightingale," familiar poems and songs in a new form, by Chester Teegarden.

"Miss Civilization," a one-act comedy by Richard Harding Davis, given by the Junior class: Alice Gardner, daughter of Jas. K. Gardner, president of the L. L. & W. railroad, Miss May Kinley; "Uncle Joseph" Hatch, alias "Gentleman Joe" Edward Bell, "Briek" Moakin, alias "Reddy," the Kid," Errol McNair; Harry Haynes, alias "Grandstand Harry," Ray Webb; Captain Lucas, chief of police, Geo. Chaturin; Mrs. Gardner, Alta Hansen. Scene: The dining room in the country house of James K. Gardner on Long Island. The day after Christmas, near midnight.

"Those Dutch Kiddies"—Lola Manciet and Blanche Webb.

"Truth", a sketch by the Freshman class: Mrs. Worldy, a widow with open eyes, Miss Barbara Barrows; Ruth, her daughter, Miss Alzina Pope, Harry Twadles, a young man with money and a high opinion of himself, Randall Kay; Godfrey Timmer, a young man with neither, Otis Lippe;

Bridget, the head of the house, Miss Osha Kelly; and Truth, a character that shines by its absence.

McNair and Webb; stories, Songs and dances.

"Mrs. Oakley's Telephone," a two-act comedy given by Senior class girls Mrs. Oakley, a bride, Miss Belle Chaturin; Constance, her friend, Delphi Langlois; Mary, the cook, Miss Grace Gibson; Emma, the maid, Miss Ora Jamieson. Scene: In Berkeley, California. Time: Morning and evening of the same day. One minute intermission only between the acts.

Rex Beach

"I have smoked Tuxedo in sub-Arctic Alaska, in Panama and everywhere — would not smoke another kind."

Active, Clean-Cut Young Men

like Rex Beach and the virile, red-blooded youths he writes about, have a hearty man's appetite for tobacco. These men find Tuxedo supremely satisfying. And they can puff away at their beloved pipes all day and far into the night—so mild, gentle and soothing is Tuxedo.

Tuxedo

Three to five years' ageing in wood mellows the ripe Burley leaf for Tuxedo; then the famous original "Tuxedo Process" takes out all the bite and absolutely prevents tongue-soreness and throat irritation. The "Tuxedo Process" has plenty of imitators, but none has ever equalled it.

Try Tuxedo—you take no risk. See the guarantee in the top of the tin. If Tuxedo isn't everything it claims to be, the dealer will give you your money back.

Catarrh being generally influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The promoters have so much faith in the curative powers of Hall's Catarrh Cure that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for testimonials.
